A fraudulent jeweler, giving his name as Nelson, walked off from Durham recently with a half dozen or more watches belonging to citizens of that town. His first act on entering the gates was to attend a young men's prayer meeting, where he was very conspicuous.

cabinet as to the expediency of vefoing the judicial expenses bill, which went to the President vesterday, and the army appropriation bill, which will be presented and allowed and allowe to the President yesterday, and the army appropriation bill, which will be presented to him to-increw. Although we know that one of the two most prominent members of the cabinet strenuous ly advocates and the other of the two The new Bank of Wachovia has just urgently opposes a veto of the army bill and the judicial bill, we prefer not to indicate which is which lest we should give some ingenious person a clue to the source of our information. Readers may rely on our assurance that the fact is precisely as we state it—that is fo say, that there is a vigorous dissension in the cabinet on the question of fur-ther vetoes. We do not conjecture that this is the case; we know it. It is proper to state that this contention, is not serious enough to portend a cabinet crisis and possible resignations. From the same sources which enable us to affirm so positively that there is a sharp disagreement in the cabinet on the question of further vetoes we learn that when the President shall have made up his mind the overruled section of the cabinet will submit. It is nevertheless has been quite ill for some time past, is now able to ride out.

The Sentinel says the Winston town opinion in the cabinet cannot be deemed surprising to observers who have noted the different attitudes of the Re-publicans of the House and the Republicans of the Senate on the army appropriation bill, which the former accept-ed and voted for and the latter violentoppose. We have authentic means of knowing that this difference is reflected in the cabinet, and we accordingy accept with much reserve the opinion of the "stalwarts" that the President will at least veto the judicial expenses bill. We will not hazard predictions, but we know for a certainty that if there should be any further vetoes the President will overrule and snub some of the ablest of his official advisers. We have no doubt that a veto of the army bill or of the judicial bill would be a political blunder. There is noth-ing for a veto of either of these bills to rest upon, except an overstrained quib-ble as to their possible effect. The sole Republican objection to the army appropriation hill is that it forbids the payment of money to squads of Federal soldiers for keeping peace at the polls. Such a use of any portion of the army is purely hypothetical and imaginary. The President has most emphatically disclaimed any intention to interfere with the elections by military force. With what consistency can he veto a bill because it withholds the payment of money for purposes which he has of-ficially declared that he does not entertain? But there is a more weighty argument against a veto of the army bill. It is merely a bill for regulating the army expenses for the fiscal year which begins on the first of July, 1879. whose expenses are thus provided fercept to fill insignificant vacancies caused by the death of a few members of Congress. The prohibitions of the bill important and widely scattered vacan-cles, it would be as idle and fatile for South Carolina's Cotton Mills.

A letter to the New York Times from Greenville, S. C., gives cheering report, from the cotton mills in that State. Despite the general depression answerable argument, applies with equal force to the judicial expenses bill. Burglaries at Hillsborn.

Another Love Halineliation.

New York, June 17. Social circles are somewhat exercised over a "scandal in high life" which involves a beaulars, who went through all the rooms of the house, ransacking bureau drawers, etc. A female member of the family finally awoke and, seeing or hearing the burglars, gave the alarm, when the intruders fled. The Sunday night previous the residence of Mr. Geo. P. Faucett three miles west of Hillsboro, was entered and robbed of $70. The recent hangings at Hillsboro do not seem to have produced a very salutary effect. tion he found numerous letters from the conchman addressed to his way-ward child, During the interview about the matter, the young lady's mother fainted. Despite the parental diligence the twain planned the elopement, which was interrupted by the appearance of the father while they were on their way to the minister's. The coachman has been discharged, and the young lady transferred to her father's country residence. A young physician, to whom the girl was engaged to be married, has been so affected by the knowledge of the facts that he is nearly crazed, and has, by the advice of friends, started on a voyage around the world. For obvious reasons the names are suppressed.
