The Pretty Polly. BY AN INDIVIDUAL WHO WAS "STRUCK" WITH THE "PRETTY POLLY" RIDDLE.

[From the Atlanta Dispatch.] By all the ties that bind the South, To her Northern sturdy brother, Pray tell me now if Mrs. Polly...

You dare refuse? Oh, naughty Polly, Why did you come to mar my pleasure? Oh, won't you tip-toe out of this?

FINNALLY, a tramp is centless; aramatically, he is quite otherwise. It costs $500 in Maryland to fatally wound a woman.

It is useless to deny the advantages of a college education. Mr. Conkling, having opposed the army bill, should not be allowed the assistance of the army in suppressing Mr. Lamar.

Mr. Logan has not become embroiled in any difficulty. He thinks it safer to confine himself to well considered assaults upon his native tongue.

Nature abhors monotony. G. Hussey argued that he could stand any amount of repetition with him only a question of wages.

Two Pictures. Look Upon This, Then Upon That—Senators Conkling and Lamar.

No man in America has a sweeter, gentler, more womanish nature than Lamar. He is a dreamer, poet, his life has been passed among books.

And who is Mr. Conkling? The country knows him chiefly through the description of Mr. Blaine. But it is not so familiar with him as his colleagues.

Of course the Republican press will take another view of it. Yet there is a Republican editor who has sense enough to carry him to Washington and back, who does not know that Conkling is what we have represented him.

Nothing Venture, Nothing Win. While months differ as to the beneficial effects on the community, as to the advantages gained by a lottery in preference to a direct tax, there can be no doubt that the happy recipients of the Louisiana State Lottery are benefited.
