

THE SITUATION AT WASHINGTON.

Our telegraphic columns tell the reader all we know of the movements at Washington. The President, as anticipated, sent in, yesterday, his veto of the bill which makes appropriation for the fees of United States marshals, with the restrictive clauses already noted. The consideration of the resolution which had been reported from the committee on ways and means was thereupon objected to and went over, and Congress did not adjourn yesterday afternoon, as had been predicted by some one would. What will be done today we cannot undertake to say. The Democrats have gained a material part of everything that they have contended for except in this matter of the marshals. If they adjourn now the President will in all probability re-convene them; they will then again pass the bill in its present shape and he will again veto it; they will then adjourn another time and he may or may not re-convene them another time. This is guessing far ahead, and guessing amongst too many doubts. All that the country can do is to watch and wait. Congress may to-day pass the vetoed bill pure and simple, stripped of its obnoxious features. It may do anything else. To-day will at least bring forth a plan of action—a thing regarding which we are all in doubt as yet.

SOUTHERN LABOR.

We had proposed to refer before this time to the letter of Representative Whitthorne, of Tennessee, to Chairman Goode, of the House committee on education and labor respecting the negro exodus. This letter was published more than a week ago, and furnishes useful information. The writer says that for the eight years ending with 1871, the South produced 27,142,285 bales of cotton. The loss to Southern farmers alone by the war he gives at $771,740,905. And yet the South recovered from that loss so that during the eight years ending with 1878 it produced 33,226,531 bales of cotton, and in 1878 there were but 7,557,579 acres of cotton cultivated, in 1878 there were more than 12,000,000 acres. Mr. Whitthorne also gives estimates which show that farm laborers at the South are paid $10 per capita of population, while those at the North and West receive only $7 per capita of population of 9,000,000. The Southern States pay their laborers $97,907,174, while in a population of 15,000,000 the Northern and Western States pay such laborers only $114,892,264. Mr. Whitthorne wonders that there should be discontent among the blacks when such an array of statistics can be made, showing the prosperity of the South. He naturally supposes that when production has been so remarkably abundant, and employment has been ample for every laborer, the country has a right to expect the inhabitants will be prosperous and happy.

A CRITICISM WHICH HAS NOTHING TO REST UPON.

Through carelessness—nothing more on the part of the Raleigh News, THE OBSERVER has been twice misrepresented within the past two weeks. The latest instance is one in which the News copied from the Charlotte Democrat a certain article which it credited in its columns to THE CHARLOTTE OBSERVER. This article has been copied from the Raleigh News into several of the papers of the State, and the credit for it given to this paper. Last it turns up in the Salisbury News credited to THE CHARLOTTE OBSERVER and accompanied there by a column of criticism, made up largely of such words as "absurd," "shallow," "tricky," "incapacity," &c. Since the article has attracted all this attention, we say once for all that it never appeared in these columns, the Raleigh News to the contrary notwithstanding. We are perfectly willing and able to carry all that we should, but we protest against being saddled with more than belongs to us; and we respectfully suggest to the Salisbury News that hereafter when it takes its Able Pen in hand to criticize an article in THE OBSERVER, it might save itself from being made ridiculous if it would first find out if the article ever appeared in THE OBSERVER, and find out, too, from some other source than the Raleigh News.

THE ENTENTE CORDIALE.

Senator Ben. Hill and Alex. Stephens have not spoken for five years until a few days ago. Lately, however, a go-between has been vibrating between the two, telling each of compliments paid by the other to his speeches. This so pleased both that the other day when Hill was in the House he went up to Stephens and wrung his hand and Stephens wrung Hill's hand and both were happy. Following this event, according to the Washington correspondent of the Augusta Chronicle, through whom this good news comes, Mr. Hill went right off and had his hair cut and his face clean-shaven, and Mr. Stephens doubled back on a clean shirt and changed his old liver pad for a new one, (though the correspondent omits this statement concerning Mr. Stephens), and then last Tuesday Mr. Hill went to Mr. Stephens's room and spent the evening with him and between the sherry and the champagne they no doubt made a night of it. Mr. Stephens having ceased long ago, as Gen. Dick Taylor expressed it, "to be a rock of offence to the Radicals in Congress," it is pleasant to note that he is getting on friendly terms with members of the Democratic party. This is the special significance of this event last week.

On Every Breath.

Each breeze that blows from the east seems to bring to our ears the preliminary fizz of a Filden boom.

CONCEALED DEADLY WEAPONS.

The law of the last General Assembly making the carrying of concealed deadly weapons a misdemeanor, goes into effect to-day, and in order that the public may fully understand its provisions we print it below as follows:

AN ACT TO MAKE THE CARRYING OF CONCEALED WEAPONS A MISDEMEANOR.

The General Assembly of North Carolina do enact, That it shall be unlawful for any person in this State, except when upon his own premises, to carry concealed any pistol, bowie-knife, razor, dirk, dagger, sling-shot, loaded cane, brass, iron or metallic knuckles, or other deadly weapon of like kind. Sec. 2. That any person offending against section one of this act shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof, shall be fined or imprisoned in the discretion of the court. Sec. 3. The following persons shall be exempt from the provisions of section one of this act: Officers and soldiers of the United States, while in the discharge of their official duties; officers and soldiers of the militia of this State, when called into actual service; officers of the State or of any county, city or town of this State charged with the execution of the laws of this State, while in the discharge of their official duties. Sec. 4. Any person being off his own premises and having upon his person any deadly weapon described in section one, such possession shall be prima facie evidence of the concealment thereof. Sec. 5. This act shall go into effect on the first day of July, Anno Domini 1879. Special attention is invited to the fourth section of the act as above which section renders the law one of singular stringency. Law officers must remember that their duties under this act commence this morning. It is a foolish and useless law, as experience will abundantly demonstrate, but that fact will not excuse any good citizen from observing it nor render the duties of officers any the less imperative. Now let the officers proceed to disarm the sovereigns.

PAIRING OFF.

A contemporary remarks that "the practice of pairing off in Congress was never introduced in that body till the year 1840. At the time it evoked an earnest protest from John Quincy Adams in the House and from Thomas A. Benton in the Senate. It has since become quite common, entirely too common for the country's good. No member should absent himself from his seat without a valid reason. If two members belonging to two different parties are justifiable in pairing off for a week or a month, why are they not justifiable in pairing off for the entire term? Both are elected to discharge certain duties, and this pairing arrangement is not the way to do it. Already there have been so many pairs in Congress that the Democrats have not a quorum in the House when the other party refuses to vote. On the roll-call, a few days since, fifty or sixty members were announced as paired. Perhaps their constituents may make a note of this." At all events perhaps they should. This absenteeism, whether by pair or otherwise, should be frowned down. If all the Democratic members of the Senate and House who are now absent without valid excuse were at their posts, the bill which the President vetoed yesterday could be passed over his head by a two-thirds vote. As it is the result is quite otherwise.

MR. HURD'S SPEECH.

By all accounts, the speech delivered in the House last Friday, by Mr. Hurd, of Ohio, in reply to Mr. Garfield, of the same State, was a masterly effort. The newspaper correspondents have written of it in most complimentary style. The Washington correspondent of the Richmond Dispatch says of it: "Mr. Hurd was assigned the duty of replying to his colleague's speech; and no one in Congress was better qualified for the task, because, in addition to being a splendid speaker, he is a constitutional lawyer by inheritance as well as study, for he edited the works of his father, who was a great constitutional lawyer. With a readiness that was remarkable, he quoted without hesitation the very authority and extracts requisite to controvert the heresies of Mr. Garfield, and convinced even the galleries that he was master of subjects over which Mr. Garfield had only been accounted a skim. A contest between a tyro in theology and Mr. Jeter baptism, in fact, would not be more unequal, and yet upon many questions Mr. Garfield is able to meet any man in America." Col. Steele adds to a brief personal note, dated the 28th, to the editor of THE OBSERVER, the remark, as a postscript: "Hurd made a glorious speech yesterday." Doubtless he is one of the most profound minds in the House. He rarely ever speaks but when he does it is to some purpose. His speech, when printed, will be read with interest all over the country. It was withheld for revision and has not yet appeared in the Record.

Death of Giles Leitch, Esq.

We regret to learn that Giles Leitch, Esq., a prominent and well-known citizen of this city, died on Thursday last, in New York, where he had gone to place himself under the treatment of a physician. The remains have been temporarily placed in a vault in that city, but will be ultimately removed to the family burying ground in Robeson county. Mr. Leitch was a lawyer of prominence, had served in the Legislature, and was considered as a gentleman of very decided ability.

New Machinery Put in Operation—A Soldier's Suicide.

ATLANTA, June 30.—The new machinery for spinning cotton mills was put in operation to-day. President H. I. Kimball, assisted by Gov. Colquitt and Mayor Calhoun, turned on the steam in the presence of an immense crowd. Lieut. McCulley, of company E, thirtieth infantry, committed suicide by shooting himself in the head. The cause is unknown.

VETOES UPON VETOES.

ANOTHER OF MR. HAYES'S BATTLE MESSAGES.

He Sends in Two Messages and Sees One—Failure to Pass the Bill Over—Veto—Adjournment Not Yet in Sight.

WASHINGTON, June 30.—The President has approved the bill making appropriations for the judicial expenses, but vetoed the bill making appropriations to pay the fees of United States marshals and their general deputies. The President says the bill contains restrictions similar to those in that heretofore vetoed, and concludes his message as follows: "In order to secure its enactment the same measure is again presented for my approval, coupled in the bill before me with appropriations for the support of marshals and their deputies during the next year. The object manifestly is to place before the executive this alternative: either to allow the necessary functions of the public service to be crippled or suspended, or for the appropriation required to keep them in operation, or to approve legislation, which, in an official communication to Congress, he has declared would be in violation of his constitutional duty. Thus, in this bill the principle is clearly defined that by virtue of a provision of the constitution which requires that all bills for raising revenue shall originate in the House of Representatives, a bare majority of that House has the right to make appropriations for the support of the government unless the executive consents to approve any legislation which may be attached to appropriation bills. I respectfully refer to the communications on this subject which have been sent to Congress during the present session for a statement of the grounds of my conclusions, and desire here merely to repeat that in my judgment to establish the principle of this bill is to inaugurate a radical, dangerous and unconstitutional change in the character of our institutions." The Senate bill relating to the licensing vessels not repealed wholly by sale or internal motive power of their own, was taken up and the House amendments considered. At 1:40 the Senate went into executive session, and Mr. Lincoln, P. O. opened, the President's message, calling attention to the failure of Congress to make the appropriation for marshals' fees was read and referred to the appropriation committee.

While moralists differ as to the beneficial effects on the community, as to the advantages gained from a lottery in preference to a direct tax, there are many large sums that are so frequently given by the Louisiana State Lottery are benefited. The lottery has been the means of procuring for some of our readers who are willing to venture two dollars by remitting it to M. A. Biddle, P. O. Box 922, New Orleans, on the 1st of July, when the 11th monthly drawing occurs. What are the Prospects? This is the absorbing point that is of chief interest in every business transaction. By the combination system of operating in stocks, Messrs. Lawrence & Co., Bankers, N. Y., utilize the orders of thousands of investors in various stocks, into one immense amount, and operate them as a mighty whole, and thus secure to their clients the advantages of the largest capitalists and best skill. Profits are distributed pro rata among shareholders every month. In this large game are secured in short periods, and capital from $10 or $15 to $50,000 can be used with equal proportionate success. $20 will make $100 in 30 days. $100 will pay up $500 profit, or 10 per cent on the stock, and so on, according to the market. A citizen of Troy, made $215.75 on an investment of $50. Many customers are doing better. The new circular has "two no. 100" success, and full details of the game, and any one can operate profitably. Stocks and bonds wanted. Government bonds supplied. Essence Attainable by the Rheumatic.

Yes, although they may despair of relief, it is attainable by rheumatic sufferers. Dr. J. B. Riddle's Female Regulator, which cures off, by means of increased activity of the kidneys—important channels for blood and urine—the uric acid which the pathologists the most eminent attribute the painful symptoms—a theory completely borne out by urinary analysis. The name of this and its counterpart, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters as a tonic of unexampled efficacy and perfect purity, and possessed of properties that constitute it an invaluable remedy for dyspepsia, constipation, liver complaint, urinary and uterine weakness, rheumatic complaints and malarial fever. Delicate females and infirm old persons are invigorated and soothed by it, and the physical prostration which usually follows a severe illness is in a great degree remedied and convalescence accelerated through its use. It occupies a leading position among medicinal staples. Thousands Use It. Why Hesitate. It is adapted especially to those cases where the womb is disordered, and will cure any irregularity of the "monthly courses," from cold, trouble during or like causes, by restoring the discharge in every instance. So in chronic cases the medicine is prompt and decisive, and saves the constitution from countless evils and premature decay. Ask your druggist for a circular. Jun28 1w

South Carolina's Colored Cadet.

Johnson C. Whitaker, of South Carolina, the present colored cadet of the Military Academy, got along very well last year as a third class cadet. A year ago he was found deficient and required to go over the third class course again. In mathematics he stands now No. 52 among sixty-four members, in French No. 43, and in drawing he stands at the foot of the class. He is very light, with rather handsome curly hair and a high forehead, and is difficult to pick him out among his white classmates. He has a room to himself, and is thrown entirely on his own private resources for fellowship and entertainment.

A. T. Stewart's Body Not Found.

NEW YORK, June 28.—Superintendent Walling says to-day that he knows the body of A. T. Stewart has not been found. He says he knows how the stories about finding the body were started, and knows positively they are not true. BRIEF FOREIGN ITEMS. Thornley & Co., cotton spinners, owning mills at Hyde, Godley and Stockport, England, have suspended. The immediate cause of the stoppage is the death of the senior partner.

A Passion-Head Assault.

Negroes from the vicinity of Moore's Lagoon, just below the city, report that a large panther is lurking about that section. A day or two since it walked into a farm yard where a negro who had just received his gun was standing. As soon as the negro saw the animal he dropped his provisions and ran. The panther picked up the meat and trotted off into the woods. Several colored people say they have seen the panther. The question naturally arises, "where did it come from?"

The Saviour of the Little Ones.

There would not be so many little graves in cemeteries and churches, if parents used the means within their reach to save the sickly offspring, whose span of feeble life is in their keeping. The baby balm, or baby's best friend, which soothes the sensitive nerves, soothes teething, the rapidly changing tissues, incessant nousment, often in a moment brings the nervous system, and bodily worn out; mother and children may gain a new and better friend in the persistent use of Scott's Emulsion of Pure Cod Liver Oil with the Hypophosphites of Lime and Soda. It is softer, as nice as milk, and both will learn to love it just as well. Don't fail to try it for any form of debility, and for all forms of infantile wasting, such as Marasmus, Rickets or any scrofulous taint. Its restorative powers are wonderful. Price, 1s. 2w. Yes, I am Proud of the Name—Woman's Best Friend.

To relieve the aching heart of women and bring joy where sorrow dwells, a supreme medicine before which the smiles of kings dwindle into utter insignificance. To do this is the peculiar province of Dr. J. B. Riddle's Female Regulator, which, from the numberless cures it has accomplished, is appropriately called Woman's Best Friend, and a distressing complaint known as the "whites," and the various irregularities of the womb, to which woman is subjected, bear like a heavy burden, a single bottle so far wonderful compound.
