THE FEVER AGAIN.

Momphis of the appearance there, yesterday, of five new cases of yellow fever. This intelligence will revive the fear which sprang up in all hearts last week, but which had measurably subsided, that Memphis, and for that matter all the Mississippi country, and perhaps other sections, will be scourged this summer by the dread destroyer. We can only hope for the best while suggesting that the part of wisdom everywhere is for people to prepare for the worst.

EXECUTIVE CLEMENCY.

Men in public positions are constantly between the devil and the deep sea. A Governor, for instance, pursues a certain policy in a given matter, and is criticised for it. His successor, determined to profit by the supposed errors of his predecessor, adopts the opposite policy and is just as roundly abused. We do not mean to say that Gov. Jarvis has been governed by any such considerations in any of his actions, for he is not the man to go out of his chosen path to avoid criticism, nor yet to seek popular applause at the expense of his conscience. We cannot but mark, however, the reception which is being accorded his efforts to do his duty in one particular direction. The question of the interposition of executive clemency has been much discussed in this State within the past few years. Gov. Vance was charged with being altogether too free in his use of this prerogative, and received more censure on this account than on all others combined. Gov. Jarvis is altogether indisposed to exercise his right in this regard; he has commuted very few sentences and pardoned still fewer convicts. He has been applauded to some extent for this policy, but at last a complaint is set up, that he is too stern in this particular and will listen to no argument on the side of mercy. This complaint comes and in fact shows conclusively that from our contemporary of the States- business must now be done at a good ville Landmark, very likely because it profit. has in its mind's eye a particular case in the volume of business, showing that Hester and two of her children. But this in the condition of affairs is more ful is not the last complaint which will be made against Gov. Jarvis on this account. Presently some other newspaper-perhaps one which up to this time has exclaimed "Hosanna!"-will have its sympathies enlisted in behalf of a particular convict, and when the Governor declines in that case to make an exception to his rule, will turn upon him with censure. This whole matter is a grave one and cannot be touched too gingerly in the absence of full information of the facts. This prerogative with which our Governors are charged (and of which they would doubtless gladly be rid) is of the most delicate and responsible character. Itity of woman. Outraged humanity The lives of their fellow-men are placed in their hands; on the one side are their feelings of humanity, the petitions of their constituents and the prayers and that hedge around the accused, he tears of women; on the other, the law escapes the just punishment of his of the land and the solemn finding of twelve men who are sworn to "true answer make" and who have declared that | technical quibble, not affecting the merthe prisoner is an enemy to society and its of the case in the slightest degree, LETTER FROM BUFFALO LITHIA. worthy of death. In such a case the man with this great responsibility upon his shoulders is entitled to be not trifled this impatience by taking the law in its with. The strict letter of the law may be such that the verdict involving death is unavoidable and yet the circumstances of the case such that the executive may with good cause interfere: again, for him to do so may be justly say that lynch law is "always dangerregarded as unwarrantable interference and an exhibition of womanish weakness. In either event the Governor is entitled to the benefit of the doubt, and when he is known to be honest and true nity." And yet who, can doubt that and anxious only to do right-as in the Judge Aldrich has found the true cause cases of such men as Vance and Jaryis' why people take at times the law in -it should always be considered that their own hands? THE FAILURES THIS YEAR-THE BUSINESS OUTLOOK.

"The mercantile agency of Dun, Barlow & Co., has issued its first semi-annual circular for 1879, giving the number of failures in the United States and Canada for the past quarter and the past half year. We see from our ex-The distressing news comes from changes that according to this circular the "total failures in the United States for the first six months of 1879 aggregate 4,058, the amount of liabilities being $65,779,390. . These figures, compared with the first six months of 1878, show 1,767 fewer failures and a decrease of $85,058,376 in the amount of liabilities. The failures for the three months ending June 30, 1879, were only 1,534, liabilities $22,666,725, being much less than in any single quarter of the past passed. five years. The average of liabilities is also much smaller than heretofore"; in other words the failures for the half year have fallen off almost one-third, and the amount of liabilities precisely onehalf-this as compared with the corresponding period of last year.

Commenting upon the figures which the circular gives the Baltimore Sun draws these wise conclusions:

It is a very wholesome sign when the loss or locking up of money by bad debts is curtailed thus rapidly. The circular, after contrasting 1878 with 1879, remarks that "never before in our experience in the compilation of these statistics has the decrease in mercantile casualties been so marked; in no previous period has the comparison of a fellow, and an address of welcome to losses by bad debts been so favorable as at the present hour." The decrease in the amount of liabilities, or; in other words, in the amount of money locked up by bankruptcies, is virtually a gain of $65,000,000 to the working business capital of the country in the past six months, but the best effect of the figures exhibited will be found in the return of confidence which they contribute to promote. As the circular says: "Numerous failures retard business ventures in a greater ratio than any other single circumstance, while the probability of lessened disasters begets faith in the future, and this feeling of safety contributes almost as much as an incentive to transactions as the hope of The circular also comments upgain." on the increase in the volume of business as indicated by the increase in the exchanges of the banks. This increase is equal to 20 per cent. in the last six months, and shows that the general consciousness of improvement in business is not conjectural, but has a substantial basis in facts. This increase in business, it is claimed, has had a great deal to do with the decrease in failures,

CONCEALED DEADLY WEAPONS.-The Wilmington Star pertinently enquires whose duty it is to arrest a man with a weapon. "On Sunday night last," says the Star, "a negro man was on Front street with a shooter obtruding from his pocket." Our contemporary adds: We have no idea that the law is worth anything. Good, peaceable men will obey the law and be at the mercy of the vicious, violent men, who will be always armed and ready for deviltry and murder. But a negro, with coat off and a shooter stuck in his pants with the handle fully exposed should not be allowed to strut along our thoroughfares as if to defy the law. That's a fact. Let him be disarmed. Unless the law officers are going to take the revolvers from the hip-pockets of the ruffians it will be the worse

Massachusetts experienced a blow, Wednesday, from which she will not soon recover. We do not remember that the telegraph ever brought us a story of such wide-spread destruction of property, accompanied by such loss of life, produced by a similar cause. There are things which are worse than

One of the most melancholy incidents of the storm is the sad fate of the Dundon family, of Charlestown. A party numbering six persons, consisting of Thomas Dundon, engineer, on board of the light ship at Woods Hall, his wife, two sisters, Mary Ann and Susan Dundon, his neice, Lizzie Dundon, and Master Arthur Ream, left Charlestown about 81/2 o'clock in the yacht Myrtle and passed the early portion of the day

below. Seeing the approaching storm, Dundon made sail for the city, and was met by the squall on Bird's Island Flats off east Boston point. Finding it impossible to reach the city, Dundon placed his wife, her two sisters and niece in the yacht's tender. Before the boy and himself could could get on board, the tender was blown away from the vacht and swamped, the vacht meeting

BUFFALO LITHIA SPRINGS, VA., July 15th, 1879.-It may interest some of the readers of THE OBSERVER, who have at some time or other been visitors here, to know that a fire occurred here last night at 12 o'clock, entirely destroying five or six cottages occupied by servants. The occurrence occasioned great excitement among the ladies n the main building, most of whom are here without their husbands or other male protectors. They were perfectly panic-stricken, and despite all remonstrance insisted upon packing up and preparing to flee.

I should think there are over a hundred cottages here, in addition to the three large buildings, in one of the latter of which is the large dining room and in another the ball-room.

There are about one hundred guests here now and many more are expected in August. Those here at present form
