Some of our old political hacks go about and make a racket merely to swindle the undertaker It is estimated that Gov. Sprague is going to fire off his mouth, and as there is no telling what it is loaded with, Conkling is uneasy some more.

Judging from the number of franchises that are being granted in San Francisco for new street railroads, if the thing keeps on, that city will have to import some new streets.— I allejo Chronicle. Flinging an old shoe after the bride is a very pretty custom, says an exchange. Yes, there is nothing objectionable in it. But this practice of flinging a heavy boot containing the foot of the girl's father after a would be bridegroom is a despicable fachor. It picable fashion. Burlington hawkeye: "See!" said a reverend gentleman, "here is an illustration. At one time I should have sworn awfully at this fig-but, look now." Raising his hand, he said, gently: "Go away, fly; go away." But the fly only tickled his nose the more. The reverend gentleman, raising his hand with some vehemence, made a grab at the offender, and, being successful, opened it to throw the lusect from him, when in extreme disgust, he exclaimed: "Why, d-d it, it's a wasp!"

The massacre on Thanksgiving Day passed off quietly. There was nothing to mar the serenity of the occasion. The crusade against the unspeaka-bie Turkey went off with a hurrah. The milkman, mate cut-throats, waded into the carnage until the lurid sun sank below the western hills. If the sun wasn't especially lurid here on account of the rain, it was certainly lurid to the people on the other side of the clouds. Each wing of the enemy was overcome, and the breastworks were successfully stormed. —Louisville Courser-Journal

The woman who has invited so many guests that in order to make the table long enough for them she is obliged to have one seat come over the furnace register, may think that if she lays a light rug over the place, the fat man who occupies the seat can't understand what she has done to him, but you bet he will and he'll recollect it, and when the long repast is finished and the part of him that hasn't melted goes out on the piazza to cool off, he will swear a great oath that when Christmas comes he will give that woman's children fourteen horns, a policeman's rattle, a parrot that swears, a drum and a monkey.—Boston Post.

DEMOCRATIC PACIFIERS.

Proposing a Love Feast of Indiana and New York Politicians to Agree on a Ticket. Dispatch to the New York Sun.

WASHINGTON, December 1 .- Mr. Hendricks of Indiana, who is here ostensibly on private business, is anxiously looking after his interests for 1880. He is the would-be great harmonizer. He thinks that the Indiana and New York Democratic politicians ought to settle the question for 1880. In this he is seconded by more than one self-important senatorial and representative Con-gressional politician. Their panacea for the evil brought upon the party by the extra session and other blunders is to have a love feast of Indiana and New York politicians and let them agree upon a ticket that can carry both States.
They say that Tammany is ready and willing to pursue this course. John Kelly and his followers will work harder for a satisfactory ticket in 1880 than they have ever done, if they are only allowed to dictate it so far as New York is concerned. As for Tilden and his friends the parsons who are the first his trief to the first his tri York is concerned. As for Tilden and his friends, the persons who are managing this love feast say that they must not be ignored, of course; but still they ging this love feast say that they must not be ignored, of course; but still they must not be allowed to drive Tammany out of the party. When it is suggested that it may possibly happen that the country Democracy of New York will refuse to have anything to do with Tammany, the reply is that they won't carry their feelings so far as to destroy the last hope for 1880. There does not seem to be any settled purpose on the part of the Democratic leaders of the House and Senate as to the policy of the present session. They are evidently at sea. The only thing they seem to agree on is that they have got the party in a bad fix, and some-thing must be done to get it out.

Senator Gordon has been interviewed on the political situation. He says that he has come here determined to do everything in his power to prevent another sectional debate and exert all his influence to prevent Southern Congressmen from replying to the launts of the Northern politicians in Congress, He regards the Northern people as gener-ous, brave, and true, and he believes that they generally regard the Southerners in the same light. He believes in local self-government, and the feels confident that the Northern people believe in the same thing. He thinks, however, that the present is no time to discuss State rights, because the politicians use such discussions to revive the cians use such discussions to revive the dead and buried issues of secession. A cessation of all sectional debate is, in his opinion, the only thing that will lead to the restoration of harmony between the sections.

The trustees of the Brooklyn (N. Y.) Tabernacle have resolved that "the wanton and persistent persecution of the pastor, T. DeWitt Talmage, de-mands the separation of the Tabernacle from the Presbyterian denomination so long as the wrong shall continue."

The mystery concerning Miss Virginia Rawls, who disappeared from her home in Suffolk last Friday night, was cleared up Monday by the discovery of the body in the Nansemond river. She was twenty years of age, and the sui-cide, it is stated, was the result of a love

The wife of Franklin Chase died suddenly at Westport, Mass., November 20. Preparations for bunial were made, but the lifelike appearance of the remains induced friends to postpone the funeral, and the body has been kept until the present time, no change having appeared since death.

A man was found dead on the roadside near Fremont, Ohio, last May, with a bullet hole in his head, a revolver in his pocket, and a memorandum book in his pocket in which was written: "I am tired of life; bury me here." It was thought, of course, to be a case of suicide. Facts since revealed, however, have led to the arrest of Andrew Koeble and James Welsh, charged with the murder of the man.

CURRENT TOPICS at WASHINGTON

Among the Senators absent the first day were Messrs. Withers, Hill of Georgia, Ransom, Vance, Lamar, Butler, Hampton and Blaine.

burg, and the right-hand man of Gen. Mahone, is in Washington on a brief visit. He says there is no doubt whatever of Gen. Mahone's election to the Two colored members of the Virginia

Legislature, who were in Washington Monday, made calls upon the President and upon Postmaster General Kev. The President impressed upon them the necessity of the Republicans in the Legislature standing firmly together on all

Of course this will be, as everybody says, a political session, and congress-men will devote themselves to making a President. Up to Christmas the indications now are that it will be quiet, but the Republicans are on the alert, eager to spring any question that will help them and hurt the Democrats.

The Bayard men call attention to the fact that several of Mr. Randall's congressional friends, when recently interviewed, expressed the belief that the distinguished Senator from Delaware cannot carry New York, and draw the inference that the Speaker of the House and his friends are against his nomination. In spite of this the Bayard men claim that their favorite New York.

REVENUE OUTRAGES IN GEORGIA.

An Alleged Concerted Plan to Resist the Officers. WASHINGTON, Dec. 2.-The commissioner of internal revenue to-day re-ceived a despatch from Collector Clark, of Atlanta, Ga., stating that an assault by a band of illicit distillers had been made upon his deputies in Towns county. The collector also says that three of his deputies in Rabun county, after seizing several illicit distilleries, were fired upon and all wounded, one of them five times. The deputies returned the fire, and being armed with United States breech-loading rifles, were enabled to drive the illicit distillers off. Collector Clarke expresses the opinion that there is a preconcerted plan on the part of the illicit distillers throughout the entire mountain section to resist revenue officers. The commissioner has directed the collector to employ a sufficient force of armed men to secont sufficient force of armed men to assert and maintain the supremacy of the revenue laws.

The Telephone and the Baby. Liverpool Mercury.

A telephonic story of American life has just been repeated to me, with an assurance of its truth, and as illustrating the future of Mr. Bell's little invention. A proud grandmamma, who has only just been promoted to the honors of that happy relationship, is awakened in the dead of night by the inexorable bell. "Mamma dear," comes to her the frightened voice of her beloved Rev. A. W. Lamar, general agent of the home mission board of the Baptists, baby has the croup. What shall I do has resigned his position to accept the pastorate of the Camden Baptist she will call the family doctor, and be church. ment. She awakens the doctor and tells him the fearful news she has learnt from her daughter. He in turn requests to be put in telaphonic communication with the too anxious mam-ma. Lift the child to the telephone and let me hear it cough," he commands. The sensation of the day in Columbia is the claim of Chief Justice Willard that he was elected for a term of six he declines to leave his house on such small matters. He advises grandmamma also to stay in bed; and all anxiety quieted, the trio settle down happy for the night.
