The Impossible.

Man cannot draw water from an empty well.

Or trace the stories that gossip tell.

Man never can stop the billows' roar.

Nor chain the winds till they blow no more.

Man cannot overtake a fleeting lie.

Change his wheat to a field of rye.

Or call back years that have long gone by.

Man never can bribe old Father Time.

Gain the height that cannot climb.

Or trust the hand that hath done a crime.

Man cannot a cruel word recall.

Fester a thought, be it great or small.

Or honey extract from a drop of gall.

Man never can backward turn the tide.

Or count the stars that are scattered wide.

Or find in a fool a trusty guide.

Man cannot reap fruit from worthless seed.

Rely for strength on a broken reed.

Or gain a name he hath caused to bleed.

Man never can hope true peace to win.

Pleasures without and joy within.

Living a thoughtless life of sin.

OBSERVATIONS.

It is remarkable how angelic the children are as Christmas approaches.

Song of the street pavior with a discarded stub

between his lips: "I'm called little butt-uck."

A polite man listens to things that he knows all about when told by a person who knows nothing about them.

Homer was a beggar. Spencer died in want.

Cervantes died of hunger. Dryden lived in poverty.

Joaquin Miller is doing well.—N. O. Picayune.

We tell you, dear young lady, don't believe him.

It will take a number of years before you can get your Christmas gift to fit don't listen to him.

His hair and whiskers were chalked when he put on those Sunday boots.

A paper in Memphis relates a case of a beautiful

young lady, the daughter of wealthy parents, supping with her mother. This is as it should be.

We thought all along that the young lady would eventually recover from the coachman man's and aspire to the nobility.

"Fears to me you've got a pretty stiff fire, Mr. Frandy," said a spinning youth, the other night, as he sat in front of the fire place by a uxorious

young girl who had no earthly use for him. "Yes,"

she said, as she wickedly looked at the floor behind him, "it's about as hot and as hot as it can be between you to get up a respectable shadow."

Why an advance in land should enhance the price of butter is about as difficult a problem as is the true inwardness of the connection between the price of milk and a water famine.—Boston Traveler.

Did you ever notice that the man who grows the loafest about paying $7 for a $4 smoking cup at the church fair is the man who most complacently

and willingly pays twenty cents for a cigar, which may be worth of tobacco in 10?—Burlington

Herald.

STATE NEWS.

The Oak City Hotel, of Raleigh, has been closed.

The father of ex-Senator Merrimon

is still living, at the age of 78 years.

Raleigh is to have three high-toned

weddings before the first of January.

Judge Gilmer has just finished his first circuit and returned to his home in Greensboro.

The insurance companies have satisfactorily adjusted the losses by the late

fire in Winston.

The sheriff of Rowan Tuesday settled

the taxes due by his county to the treasury. The total amount paid in was $7,030.00.

A gin killed Mr. W. Scott Tucker, of Wake. Tore his arm to shreds, and the shock to his nervous system was so great that he died.

Dr. E. F. Ashe will return to his home

in Wadesboro shortly, greatly improved

in health. He has been in New York

under medical treatment.

The remains of Dr. J. F. King, late of Wilmington, who died recently in New York city, were brought home and interred Wednesday evening.

The Warren News says that Dr. Foote

was presented a few days since, by Mrs

Gen. Gaines, of Washington City, with an elegant gold watch and chain.

Winston Sentinel: Trade is better in Winston now than we have known it for a long time. The town is daily crowded with people and wagons. We notice a large increase in the trade from Virginia.

Wadesboro Herald: Up to the time

of going to press, the jury in the case of the State vs. Ellis Rhyme, at the killing of Perry Hildreth had not returned a verdict. They have been out over twelve hours.

Winston Sentinel: A few weeks ago

the wife of Mr. Jacob Donathan, of Brownville, Yadkin county, gave birth to three boys, weighing 6-12 lbs. each.

Mr. D. has named them Jos. Delson,

Rich. Pearson and Mac. Robbins.

Hale's Weekly: The receipts of the staple have been fairly large, being 2-

140 bales, against 2,151 for the same week in 1878. The total receipts thus far this season are 30,337 bales; for last year to the same date they were 26,182

bales; the increase is therefore 3,155

bales.

Greensboro Patriot: Alfred Ledbet-

ter, of Wilkes, came to Greensboro last week to hunt up his long lost family.

He left Guilford seventeen years ago,
