IN A BEAR'S CLUTCHES.

The Ferrible Experience of a Young Woman in the Wilds of Pennsyl-HUNTER'S RANGE, PA., November 27. About a month ago Miss Alice Corey, of New York city, came to visit her un-cle, a German, who owns a small farm in the mountains, six miles northwest of this place. Miss Corey is about 16 years old, and her parents are well to do. Her uncle has a daughter, Clara, also aged about 16 years. Her father having but one son, Clara has for years helped to do the work on the farm, and she has become an expert shot with a rifle, She has a mania for hunting, and

A few days ago Clara invited her cousin to accompany her on a hunting city. It is rumored that he will begin the publication of a daily newspaper here at an early date.

The tobacco factory of W. F. Ireland, at Company Shops, was burned on the night of the 9th inst. together with a cousin to accompany her on a hunting expedition. They started from the with a double-barreled gun and Clara with a rife. After scouring the woods for several hours without much success they visited "Dark Swamp" This is densely wooded, and bears are frequently seen there. The girls reached the edge of the swamp at noon, and started into the thicket. They had gone but a short distance, when Miss Corey, who was walking a few yards behind her cousin, heard a crackling noise in the bushes a short distance back. Looking around, she saw a large black bear coming toward her. Clara, who had frequently encountered these shaggy monsters, called to her frightened cousin to come to her. She then drew her rifle to her shoulder and, taking deliberate aim at the animal, awaited until it came within easy range, and then fired. The bear uttered a howl of pain and fell bleeding. As Clara's rifle was a single-barreled one, she seized the Winston Leader: The railroad fever double-barreled gun from her cousin is reviving in Stokes. Appointments and discharged both barrels at the infuhave been made from the 16th to the 22nd, and Grav. Morehead, Caldwell, outright. But, with the disappearance of the smoke from the gun, the bear was seen writhing, but not dead. The brave young woman then approached cautiously to within reaching distance of the wounded animal, and, taking from a large leather belt encircling her waist a bone-handled deer knife, plunged it to the hilt into the bear's neck. At this moment the dying monster gave a sudden lunge and fastened its claws into the girl's skirts, pulling her down. Her frightened cousin ran about wildly and screamed at the top of her voice; but, as there was no house within two miles, her cries were not heard. She then returned to where Clara was still struggling with the animal. The bear still held the girl in its grasp, but was rapidly growing weaker. The girl was all the time using her knife with good effect. She dealt the dying animal blow after blow until it finally released its hold and rolled over, dead.

Though very much exhausted and considerably scratched by the bear's claws, Clara, with the assistance of her treme illness of a daughter of Prof. W. cousin, was soon able to walk. They are no longer needed, save for the af- and brought the bear in, which, when flicted family, to whom they are fully dressed, weighed 340 pounds. The skin is to be sent to a New York taxidermist to to be stuffed, and it will be kept by the young woman as a souvenir of her terrible struggle and fortunate es-

DR. J. F. HAYWOOD, of New York, voluntarily indorses it.

. - READ WHAT HE SAYS:-TITT: New York, Sept., 19, 1877.

Dear Sir—During this year I visited n ne hundred cases of lung diseases. In the lower wards of the city the cases were of a very severe type. It was there my attention was called to Tutt's Expectorant, and I confess my surprise at its wonderful power. During a practice of twenty years, I have never known a medicine to act as promptly, and with such happy effects. It instantly subdued the most violent fits of coughing, and invariably curel the disease in a few days. I cheerfully indorse it as the best lung medicine I ever used.

A NEWSPAPER PUB. WRITES. Office, Evening News, Augusta, Ga. 6
Dr. TUTT: Dear Sir—My little son, was attacked with pneumonia last winter, which left him with a violent cough, that lasted till within a month since, for the cure of which I am indebted toyour valuable Expectorant. I had tried most every thing recommended, but none did any good until I used your Expectorant, one bottle of which removed the cough entirely. With many thanks, I am yours truly, JOHN M, WEIGLE.

Had terrible NICHT SWEATS. Dr. TUTT: Sir—I have been suffering for nearly two years with a severe cough. When I commenced taking your Expectorant I was reduced to one hundred and sixteen pounds in weight. I had tried almost everything: had terrible night sweats. I have taken half dozen bottles. The night sweats have left me, the cough has disappeared, and I have gained fifteen pounds in flesh. I recommend it to all my friends With great respect, OLIYER RICE.
