THE GENUINE

DR. C. McLANE'S

Celebrated American

WORM SPECIFIC

OR

VERMIFUGE.

SYMPTOMS OF WORMS.

THE countenance is pale and lead-colored, with occasional flushes, or a circumscribed spot on one or both cheeks; the eyes become dull; the pupils dilate; an azure semicircle runs along the lower eyelid; the nose is irritated, swells, and sometimes bleeds; a swelling of the upper lip; occasional headache, with humming or throbbing of the ears; an unusual secretion of saliva; slimy or furred tongue; breath very foul, particularly in the morning; appetite variable, sometimes voracious, with a gnawing sensation of the stomach, at others, entirely gone; fleeting pains in the stomach; occasional nausea and vomiting; violent pains throughout the abdomen; bowels irregular, at times costive; stools slimy, not infrequently tinged with blood; belly swollen and hard; urine turbid; respiration occasionally difficult, and accompanied by hicough; cough sometimes dry and convulsive; uneasy and disturbed sleep, with grinding of the teeth; temper variable, but generally irritable, &c.

Whenever the above symptoms are found to exist,

DR. C. McLANE'S VERMIFUGE will certainly effect a cure.

IT DOES NOT CONTAIN MERCURY in any form; it is an innocent preparation, not capable of doing the slightest injury to the most tender infant.

The genuine DR. C. McLANE'S VERMIFUGE bears the signatures of C. McLANE and FLEMING BROS. on the wrapper.

DR. C. McLANE'S

LIVER PILLS

are not recommended as a remedy "for all the ills that flesh is heir to," but in affections of the liver, and in all Bilious Complaints, Dyspepsia and Sick Headache, or diseases of that character, they stand without a rival.

AGUE AND FEVER.

No better cathartic can be used preparatory to, or after taking Quinine. As a simple purgative they are unequalled.

BEWARE OF IMITATIONS.

The genuine are never sugar coated. Each box has a red wax seal on the lid, with the impression DR. C. McLANE'S LIVER PILLS.

Each wrapper bears the signatures of C. McLANE and FLEMING BROS.

Insist upon having the genuine DR. C. McLANE'S LIVER PILLS, prepared by Fleming Bros., of Pittsburgh, Pa., the market being full of imitations of the same McLANE, spelled differently but name pronunciation.

STONESTONE LANDMARK.

A New York paper says: "Burke's Peerage" states that the present Baron Fairfax, of Cameron, in the peerage of Scotland, is a native-born American citizen, who has always resided in America.

According to the above authority, his lordship is a medical practitioner somewhere down in North Carolina. The genuineness of the title is beyond dispute, nor should he be accounted any the less a nobleman because he refrains from flaunting it in the face of an enlightened Democracy.

The gentleman here referred to is Dr. Albert Fairfax, late a citizen of Fairfax county, Va., now the satisfied physician at the Ore Knob Copper Mine, Ashe county, N. C. He is a middle-aged gentleman of education and polished manner. As the paper above quoted says, "the genuineness of his title is beyond dispute," and he is near the last of his line. He was born and raised, and always lived, in America, but is none the less a nobleman.

Women's Day in the West.

The women of the North and West made a concerted attack on the Senate Wednesday in favor of women's rights and women's suffrage. There was scarcely a Western or Northern Senator who did not present at least one of these petitions, and a number presented four or five. Mr. Conley was entrusted with six. It was noticeable that the Southern Senators had none to present, and this looked as if Southern women are not much stirred up on the subject of female suffrage.

Baby Years.

Ah, how every little cheers, In the careless baby years! Troubles come and troubles go Like a whirl of sunny snow. Every irine gives delight, Ever new and ever bright. Yet how slight a thing can grieve Till it sympathy receive: Then the sad and sad again, As though pain had never been.

Sad that age should ever destroy Such sweet innocence and joy, Such pure faith and confidence Free from hard experience. All their dainty winning ways, At their labors, and their days, Soon must change and they must act In the waiting world of fact. Be the world that they shall see Kinder than was mine to me!

Married by a Lady in a Car. Rochester (N. Y.) Union.

This morning a novel ceremony took place at the Central depot that was very interesting to those who witnessed it. The St. Louis express from the East, which should arrive here at 5.15 a. m., was two hours late, and the officers at the depot noticed an old gentleman present who seemed in rather an excited condition. It was subsequently learned that he was waiting for no less a person than his expected bride, Miss Mary O'Conor. It was their intention to arrive at the depot and proceed to the house of the Rev. Mr. Gardiner, on Jones street, who was to unite them in marriage, when the happy couple were to leave for Spencerport, where the husband, who stated his name as E. W. Locke, had a pressing engagement in the morning. The dilatoriness of the train somewhat disarranged these plans, and instead of the couple going to Mrs. Gardiner's house the reverend lady was brought to the cars. On the arrival of the train the minister and bridegroom, together with several spectators, boarded the car where the bride was. The situation was explained to her, and she consented to have the ceremony performed then and there. One end of the car was cleared and the ceremony took place. At the conclusion of the ceremony the happy couple were congratulated and escorted to the Falls train, which conveyed them to Spencerport.

Building a Presbytery.

The Brooklyn Presbytery have refused the request of Rev. Dr. Van Dyke for an investigation to determine whether Dr. Talmage's allegation that he was morally rotten was true or false. Dr. Van Dyke's son, Rev. H. J. Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup.

Rev. Sylvanus Cobb thus writes in the Boston Christian Freeman--"We would by no means recommend any kind of medicine which we did not know to be good--particularly for infants. But of Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup we speak with knowledge; in our own family it has proved a blessing indeed, by giving an infant troubled with colic, or some other ailment, a peaceful rest at night. Most parents can appreciate these blessings. Here is an article which works to perfection, and which is a guarantee for sleep which it affords the infant is perfectly natural, and the little cherub awakes as "bright as a button." And during the process of teething, which is so invariable, we have frequently heard mothers say they would not be without it from the birth of the child till it had finished with the teething stage, on any consideration whatever. Sold by all druggists, at six cents a bottle. dec11 17

Mothers! Mothers! Mothers!!!

Louisiana's Vote on Her Constitution.

A dispatch from New Orleans, dated January 1st, states that the board of canvassers that day completed the official count of the vote for the new constitution. It was adopted by a majority of 59,148. The old ordinance was adopted by 19,471 voters. The test question of the integrity of the franchise of the Louisiana State Lottery Co. was therefore, handsomely endorsed by the citizens of New Orleans, after an experience of the past twelve years of strict honesty and exact fairness. The particulars of its next (the 17th) drawing may be had by addressing M. A. Dauphin, New Orleans, La., or some person at No. 310 Broadway, New York City, N. Y.

CHOICE OF PRESIDENTIAL ELECTORS.

What the Republican Legislature of New York Proposes to Do.

Editorial in New York Herald.

In these days of unscrupulous politics the bill introduced into the Assembly by Mr. Potter, of Saratoga, for changing the mode of choosing presidential electors in this State cannot be passed over as insignificant. To be sure Mr. Potter is a young member, and there is no doubt that he had the right of the Republican leaders at Albany. But in a measure put out as a feeler to test public opinion this is a natural mode of proceeding. If the bill is received with disfavor nobody can be held responsible except the majority and proposer. But if, in the progress of the session, it should become evident that such a bill would not raise a storm, the responsible party leaders may change their attitude toward it. If passed at all it will be toward the close of the session, when the stock of public sentiment may have become blunted by time and familiarity.

The change proposed by Mr. Potter is the least objectionable in form of any which would affect the present purposes. The Legislature has constitutional power to appoint the presidential electors itself; but this would be too startling an innovation. It is necessary to keep up the form of a choice by the people. The proposed method is really no better than the present if all the States were to adopt it, and so make its operation impartial. Mr. Potter's bill proposes that each Congressional district choose one presidential elector and that the two electors at large be voted for by the people of the whole State. The effect would be to give a Republican elector to every Republican district, a Democratic elector to every Democratic district, the two senatorial electors going with the majority at large be voted for by the people of the whole State. The new bill the Democrats might carry the State and still have only 11 electors; whereas, under the present law, if they should carry the State they would have the whole 35. But the Democrats might as well have none of the New York electors as only 11 of them. They have no reasonable hope of electing the President without all the votes of this State. They need 47 in addition to the 128 of the solid South. New York with New Jersey and Connecticut would give them 50; New York with Indiana would also give them 50; and these four doubtful States are the only ones which have any chance at all. But if New York elects by districts the Democrats, even if they carry the State, will have only 11 of its electoral votes, and these added to the 30 of the other three doubtful States would make only 41 Northern electoral votes, whereas they cannot possibly succeed with less than 47. The Republicans, therefore, would apparently make a sure thing of the presidential election by dividing New York into districts for the choice of electors.

This is a great temptation. Whether the Republicans yield to it will perhaps depend on the estimate they may put on their chances as the session approaches its close. It is convinced that they can carry the State by the changing the long-established method they will have no motive to disturb it. But if in April the State shall seem doubtful Mr. Potter's bill may be taken up and passed. Mr. O'Connor says "it cannot be carried by the political party ever had such an opportunity and failed to employ it." We think, however, that the Republicans will not attempt to pass Mr. Potter's bill unless they should lose confidence in their ability to carry the State in the ordinary way.

Hot-Blooded New England.

New York Sun.

It was not in New Orleans, or Memphis, or Little Rock, or Louisville, but in tranquil, steady-going Hartford, the city of insurance palaces and stumped churches, that a more or less grievous husband, on Saturday, blazed away with his little revolver at the family doctor. The family doctor promptly pulled out another revolver and blazed away in his turn at the more or less aggrieved husband. Then the prosecuting attorney talked things over with the combatants, after their wounds had been patched up and their anger cooled down, and decided that there was no necessity for troubling the courts with the affair. The southern newspapers will enjoy reprinting this incident of life in hot-blooded, lawless New England.
