Congress. Of course our friend Steele can't expect a renomination, as his friends insisted at the convention in Wadesboro that Mr. Ashe should not hold the place for a third term, and further, as we are "kinder" opposed to "third terms." We are told by the people of the western part of the district that they are entitled to name the man from their section; and we are somewhat inclined to think that they have what inclined to think that they have a right to expect the candidate to be chosen from among them. We would like to select the man from Anson. We have a man here who would be a power in the House—a man would do himself and his people honor—Bennett, But then we are willing to take our turn, We have had the man from our sertion since the "unpleasantness," and sertion since the "unpleasantness," and since the cow if they are happy enough to possess one, which is very rarely the case. FAMINE'S STRIDES.

Report of a Member of the Herald Rellef Committee—Scenes of Abject Misery and Sickening Squalor— "Feed Them Till Summer."

By Cable to the New York Herald. To the Donors of the Herald Relief Fund:

I have made my first visit to the suf-fering counties of Ireland, and hasten to make my report of what I have seen and done. It is easy to understand the causes of the present poverty. The people have had three bad crops in succession; things have been growing worse and worse until the almost utter failure of the crops last year brought them to the verge of starvation. They have nothing to plant—a want which the British government will supply by the loan of seed potatoes on very easy terms. They having nothing to eat, a want which you have yourself so gener-ously helped to supply by gifts which I am sure you will supplement by other gifts when you know what is the real state of the case. In order to understand for myself the condition of affairs I spent a few days under the leadership of Colonel King-Harman, covering about thirty square miles on the first day and over forty on the second.

tlements on the west bank of the Shannon, in the counties of Roscommon and Sligo. For about ten hours each day I rode and walked, entering altogether about a hundred wretched hovels, which this afflicted people delusively call their homes, and where from morning till night they encounter the dread monotony of want and misery. While fully prepared to meet more or less distress everywhere, knowing through former visits something of the in any degree prepare me, for the scenes people did not know of my coming, and could not prepare for any dramatic dis-play of wretchedness and want.

Unawares I searched every corner of scores of houses for any means of subsistence, and came back at night with an aching heart. I had seen what it would do you all good to see. Even after hearing it I am sure you will increase your gifts, generous as they have been, until this great chasm of distress can be bridged over. When I tell you that I have seen men utterly break | every customer. down when I slipped a paltry shilling into their hands, and women clutch a loaf of bread as though they were afraid that some one would suddenly appear to take it from them, you can faintly imagine what I have experienced in the last few days. The friend who accompanied me observed that I felt a large lump in my throat all the time. I could find no fitting language in which to express my sorrow and my sympathy. of an old woman who sat on the mud-dy threshold of her hut as we went by, lifting up her hands as if in supplica-tion, and crying "Nothing has passed my lips for twenty-four hours." I nev-

before I could get away from that haunting, haggard face. Nor shall I soon forget the sight which I saw in another hut. The mother of seven children was holding the youngest, a girl of a few months, in frantic embrace, moaning as she rocked to and fro. She looked up with startled gaze as we entered the door, which we could only do by bending, and gave a low cry as though in very terror. After a few minutes she was reassured, for she thought me an agent of the landlord sent to evict her. Then she told me she had nothing to eat for many days except a poor dole of Indian meal which a relief committee gave her, and for which she was thankful enough. She added that being half starved herself it was impossible to supply milk for her babe. She would be compelled to see it die by inches in her arms. But for the meal which the her arms. But for the meal which the relief committee supplied, the family would have literally had nothing to eat. But I cannot recite all the individual instances. It is time we were thinking of some suitable person in this congressional district to place in nomination for Congress. Of course our friend Steele and standard on the edge of a bog which > great stress of suffering with a pluck and courage which are truly admirable. It is my hope and prayer that the American people will not feel that enough has been already done.

Pinched as the Irish are to-day their condition is one of happiness in comparison with that in which they will find themselves in the course of a few weeks. From the early part of April until the first crop is reaped-that will til the end of the famine. Hundreds, thousands, tens of thousands are keeping soul and body together by your bounty and generosity. For the sake of charity make one more effort. Winston's Growth.

Winston Sentine.

Eight years ago, in February, the first pound of tobacco was sold in Winston, under the management of Maj. T. J. Brown, who was first to undertake the venture. The sale-room was an interest pound again what lengthwise, but crosswise, covering themselves as best they can. The rest pile up a small bundle of straw in the corner and sleep on it. Pressed by hunger, they have eaten all their store of potatoes. The only food in the whole house is a few pounds of Indian meal, which they mix with water, and make into a stirabout. This is all they have and all they will have until the autumn. What wonder, then, that they should be disheartened and discouraged? I have asked again and again what lengthwise, but crosswise, covering have asked again and again what old frame stable, on the Miller lot, just part of their wretchedness is due to intemperance.
