"God has not breathed the breath of life into the nostrils of the man, or set of men, who can again thwart and defeat the fairly and legally expressed will of this people—mark that!"—HON.
W. H. ENGLISH, OF INDIANA, IN NEW YORK HERALD.

ME. DORTCH AND THE FLOBIDA

There is one circumstance in connection with the proceedings of Maj. Wilson, president of the Western North Carolina Railroad, and Director Dortch, acting as attorney for the road, in relation to the Florida suits, which deserves to be made public, especially at a time when the latter is being assailed and charged with unworthy motives by men who are unfitto do the menial service of untying his shoe latchets. In a conversation with manner in which the $25,000 was secured from the Dutch bondholders, a representative of this paper asked peintedly what Mr. Dortch received as attorney for the road. The reply was $350; for this Mr. Dortch made one trip to Florida, remaining three or four days; two different trips to New York, spending seven days the first time and eight days the next, and still another trip to Philadelphia, where he remained four days, on each occasion paying his own expenses. When the $25,000 had been secured and deposited with the treasurer of the road, Mr. Dortch was asked for the amount of his fee. He declined to give it, saying he would leave that to the board of directors. The board effered to pay him $400, estimating that this was very little, if any, over the expenses he had incurred, and Mr. Dortch declined to take more than $350. How many lawyers are there in the State who would have worked for this sum, when engaged at home in a lucrative practice? With Mr. Dortch it was a labor of love. Being a director of the Western North Carolina Railroad, appointed by the Governor his traducers are totally unable to comprehend. By his excellent management he secured to the State $25,000-the only money ever obtained from the Littlefield and Swepson steal-and in doing so compromised no interest which either the Eastern or Western Division

EXECUTIONS, PRIVATE AND PUB-

The prospect of a double execution in this city in May-one of the victims for burglary and the other for infanticide-has excited some local discussion on the subject of private and public hangings. It is urged that the public execution of the burglar would exert a desirable influence, in that it would tend to impress upon the multitude the fact that the crime of burglary is punishable by death, something, which, if universally known, is often never thought of by criminals, as is shown by the boldness of their crimes and the neglect of reven the ordinary precautions to cover up their tracks. If public executions should ever be encourage ed it is under these eircumstances, but even here it is very doubtful if the eflic execution without being satisfied that its tendency is decidedly demoralizing. With the colored people, so easily affected by exeitement, this is especially true. The horrors of the scaffold are lost sight of in the glory of dying in the court also rendered an opinion in the case of the appeal of Gus Wynn, for murder, and ordered that he be executed on April 30th. presence of a multitude of eager and deeply interested people, intent upon every movement of the doomed man's body, and the smallest word that drops from his lins. In Great Britain, where the subject of crime and its punishment has received more attention, perhaps, than in almost any other country in the world, executions are conducted within the prison walls, and recently sheriffs have excluded reporters, unless they would agree to give no details beyond stating whether or not the execution had been lawfully conducted. While this is carrying the matter a little too far, perhaps, it must be conceded by all thoughtful persons that the boards of county counts ioners, to whom the manner of executions is left, cannot adopt a wiser course than that which now generally, though by no means universally, prevails throughout the State, of allowing of spectators, only a number sufficient to securely guard the doomed man against any attempts of his own or of outsiders to release him.

Is the city of Wilmington opposed to the sale of the Western North Carolina Railroad? is a question which has frequently been asked. The Produce Exchange of that city held a meeting a few days ago to discuss the matter, and appointed a committee to draft resolutions. THE W. N. C. R. R. MANAGEMENT. Are There Freight Discriminations, and if So, Where!

To the Editor of The Observer: RALEIGH, March 23 .- I notice in your issue of yesterday a letter signed "Cape Fear," copied from the Wilmington Star, in which the writer indulges in some severe criticisms upon the man-agement of the Western North Caro-lina Railroad in regard to freight rates, treated and seems to manifest a great by Maj. Wilson of the right to ship their produce as they will or receive their goods as they may elect."

You state in your editorial comments goods over this road, have the information that will show your readers that there is no just cause for complaint. General merchandise and all first class goods were charged only 14 cents per hundred pounds to Stateslotte or Wilmington, while if the same every other town in and outside the

It is a little peculiar that the correspondent should be so extravagant in his denunciations of Maj. Wilson's management of the road when he (the correspondent) evidently knows but little about what he was writing. If the above exhibit does not satisfy the corespondent, and those who may have believed his statements, that he has grossly misrepresented President Wilson, I think them incapable of appreciating favors when extended.

MONTGOMERY, ALA., March 23.—The Supreme Court of Alabama to-day rendered an opinion in the case involving the Selma, Rome and Dalton Railroad the amount at issue being several millions. The court decided that the first trust deed of 1852 had the first lien on the whole main line of the road in Alabama, but not on the government land grants, and also upon the correspond-ing portion of the rolling stock, the other portion thereof pertaining to the feet would be more salutary than other- road in Georgia. Tobacco for the Army-How it Shall be Furnished.

Washington, March 23.—The House military committee agreed to-day to report the bill of Ellis, of Louisiana, prescribing the mode of purchasing tobacco for the army. It provides that the Secretary of War shall cause all contracts for tobacco for army use to be made in Washington; that proposals for furnishing tobacco be invited in the cities of New York, Baltimore, Richmend, St. Louis, Chicago, Louisville, Petersburg, Lynchburg, Danville and Quincy, and that the proposals be acted on by the officers of the subsistence department under the supervision of the commissary-general.

Marine Matters.

New York, March 23.-A large brig, rigged, supposed to be English, was seen March 14th, 75 miles northwest of the fortugas, lying in the trough of the sea. The brig Medena, British, Lindergreen, Pensacola for London, put into Barbadoes about March 4th, in a leaky condition. YESTERDAY AT WASHINGTON. Townshend's Tariff Bill-An Attempt to Correct an Error and a Lively Discussion Thereon.

WASHINGTON, March 23 .- After the routine morning business was concluded, the bill incorporating a number of persons well known as educators, residing in various States, into a national educational association, to make reports on educational affairs to Congress, was taken up and discussed. It was opposed by Cockrell, Hereford and Ingalls as outside the jurisdiction of Congress, and advocated by Bailey and Hoar as constitutional and in the interest of national education.

Pending debate the morning hour expired, and the Geneva award bill was Garland addressed the Senate. Mr. Garland spoke at length in support of the bill, and was followed by Dawes in opposition thereto. At the conclusion of the latter's speech Kernan obtained the floor but without further debate the Senate went into executive session and when the loors were re-opened adjourned.

House.-Conger said in examining the record this morning he found that the bill relating to the whole question Maj. Wilson, subsequent to the interview already published touching the terview already published touching the committee on revision of the laws, indeal of sympathy towards the people of the committee on ways and the West, because they are "deprived means. He alluded to the danger which arose from the bill not clearly stating in its title its subject matter.

A long, confused and excited debate ensued. Garfield and other Republican members insisted that Townshend, under cover of an indefinite title, had introville when the destination was Char- duced the bill making sweeping changes and reductions in the existing Railroad, appointed by the Governor of the State, he felt a commendable prime in caring for its interest, and has own a devotion to the charge which discrimination here against those two acted upon, instead of to the committee NUTS IN VARIETY, traducers are totally unable to comcasual observer that the discrimination of the House prescribed that it is in favor of those places and against should go, and where he (Townshend) knew that it would not be favorably acted upon. The Honse, in ignorance of the true motive of the bill, which was not read, and in reliance upon Townshends good faith, had agreed to refer it as he suggested. It was now proposed to correct by amendment of the journal the error which it had com-

> An excited personal colloquy took place between Garfield and Townshend the former charging the latter with practising deception on the House, while the latter declared Garfield's charge to be a wilful and deliberate falsehood. Townshend defended his action in having the bill referred to the committee on revision of the laws upon the grounds that the protectionists in the ways and means committee smothered all bills looking to a reduction of tariff, and he wanted this bill to be reported to the House, so that the people's representatives might have a vote

The whole afternoon was consumed in an animated and often excited debate upon the question of the best means of correcting the error made by the House yesterday in allowing reference of a tariff bill to the committee on revision of the laws. Without final action upon this subject the House at 6:10 adjourned.

The Washington Relics. In the Supreme Court of Kings county, N. Y., Friday, judgment was entered by Judge Pratt against Walter S. Church, a lawyer of Albany, for $2,-003.40, with interest for three years, in the suit brought against him by Mrs. Ella B. Washington, the widow of Lewis W. Washington, who was a grand-nephew of President Washington. After her husband's death, Mrs. Washington sold a number of relics of George Washington to the State of New York for $20,000, the negotiations being conducted by Mr. Church. He paid over to her $15,000, but claimed that the remainder was due to him for his services. Mrs. Washington brought a suit to recover the remainder, alleging that Church offered to conduct the sale from patriotic motives. The case was referred to William D. Veeder, who reported that the amount in Church's hands was $4,488.45, and that the defendant was entitled to $2,494.95

The odd superstitions attached to certain precious stones have received fresh encouragement from the singular series of adventures which befell the Princess Olga Galitzin in Paris. She admired a beautiful opal bracelet in a shop of the Palais Royal, her husband (it was during the honeymoon) presented it to her. She put it on then and there. Ten min-ntes after wards she was knocked down by a cab, and though she escaped un-hurt, the clasp of her new bracelet was broken. It was repaired, and the next evening the Princess wore it again at a ball, where she fell badly broke, the or-nament once more and cut her arm deeply. Again the bracelet was re-paired, and the lady, undaunted by the between 12 and 1 o'clock last night, proverbial ill-luck of epals, wore it to which destroyed about a dozen houses the opera. There she lost it, and the Prince breathes now more freely.

He wrestled with the thirty blocks-at least he thought there were thirty of them, he being in splendid condition to "see double"—and in about a hour and a half had the thing solved whis own satisfaction. Then he got ben, paper and ink and attempted to w ite out the solution, as follows: Shove 4 down, push 1 over, carom on the 14, swing the right bower, drag out 6, keep the 10 in the king row, keno on the black, deal again, run the 5 from first base, move 3 to the southwest of 15, white to play and mate in twelve moves, P to K B4, QR to K, move 13, 14, 15 a little northeasterly, R to Kt5ch, then set'em up on the other alley, throw double 6s, roquet the 9, take the 7 on the fly, lead king, then R to R7, rake in the pot, and mo-mov-move -."
