THE RAILBOAD CONNECTION BE-TWEEN CHARLOTTE AND DAN-VILLE ASSURED.

It has been an open secret in Charlotte for some weeks that efforts were being made to perfect arrangements between the representatives of the Virginia Midland Railroad company, which is operated in the interest of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad company, and the management of the Atlantic. Tennessee & Ohio, Railroad company by which the connecting link between Charlotte and Danville should be immediately built. With this object in of be, and the same are hereby repealview, and upon the invitation of Mr. ed. Jno. W. Garrett, president of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad company, and Mr. J. S. Barbour, receiver of the Virginia Midland Railroad company, Col. Wm. R. Myers, president of the Atlantic, Tennessee & Ohio Railroad company last week, visited Washington City, for the purpose of a general con-

Upon the assurances of these gentlemen, representing as they did the interests of their respective companies, and Col. Myers, representing the interest of the stockholders in his road, an agreement was entered into, subject to the ratification of the stockholders of the Atlantic, Tennessee & Ohio Railroad, looking to a speedy completion of the proposed road between Charlotte and Danville. It is a part of the contract that President Garrett, at the proper time, will furnish all the money necessary to liquidate the judgment debt and all other floating obligations then due road company.

The debts now due by the Atlantic, $177,000. Of this sum $65,000 are what is known as the gold bonds, and $92,000 is a judgment (the Child's debt) now held by the sinking fund of the North Carolina Railroad company, and the remaining $10,000 is understood to be the amount of floating debt now due by the company. The road is not in a condition to entertain any proposition, lease, sale, or co-operation with any other company after the manner contemplat-Baltimore & Ohio Railroad company, are making all their propositions in view of this fact.

This ghanistan would be separated into its is an open question and will not probably be decided until the surveys now being made are completed, and the people along the several routes proposed have been given time to be consulted, but it is understood that all other considerations being equal the "longest pole will knock down the persimmons."

THE BILL TO REPEAL THE VIR-GINIA MIDLAND PRIVILEGES.

We alluded a few days ago to the bill ceptive title of a bill to protect the State's interest in the North Carolina Railroad, and we publish the bill below. It is a mild looking document, but under the guise of protecting the State's interests proposes

First, To repeal the general railroad road law, known generally as the corpo-

Second, To repeal the charter of the Dan River and Coal Fields Railroad

Third, To repeal the charter of the Stateville Air Line Railroad "from the war was fought. He remained eightysouthern boundary of Cleaveland county via Statesville to the north east corner of Surry county, on the Virginia ed and taking the convalescent officers over the field to point out and establish line," and thus making it forever impossible to build a railroad across the Blue Ridge at Fancy Gap, for us to tap the line of railroad now making down the Shenandoah Valley.

Fourth, To repeal the charter of the Plaster Banks and Salt Works Railroad, which seeks a northern outlet in the same direction, and Fifth, To repeal the charter of the Winston & Mooresville Railroad, which, of itself, is expected to develop North Rowan, Davie, Yadkin and Forsyth counties, and enable Winston to com-

Lastly, To legalize a perpetual and grinding monopoly in favor of the Richmond & Danville Railroad Company, and at the same time make it impossible for the people of upper Iredell. Davie, Wilkes, Yadkin, Surry, Stokes and Northwestern Rockingham, to ever have the benefit of such railroads, as the fine character of the country to be developed would justifiv. but as a job it contains more devilment | made the same petition, as have very to the square inch than anything our | many literary men, college professors, eyes have feasted on for some time. It &c. was understood to have been originated by a memorial from the board of directors of the North Carolina Railroad. and is clearly in the interest of the Richmond & Danville Railroad. While we oppose the measure with all the vehemence of our nature, we do not desire to be considered as opposed to the Richmond & Danville Railroad in any particular. In proposing the measure, the management of this road, for it andoubtedly originated there, Cot. Buford appeared before the board of directors of the North Carolina Railroad Company, as well as before the committee on internal improvements, in its advocacy. We recognize his right to do so has chosen him to be its executive head, but we reserve the right to defeat him, and his company, in the interest of the rights of the people of the section of State through which these new railroads are to pass, if they are ever built, and the fledgling now sleeps the innocent sleep of death. It was introduced in the Senate, referred to the committee on internal improvements, reported back to the Senate, without prejudice, W. H. ENGLISH, OF INDIANA, IN NEW placed on the calendar, and then quietly smothered.

> To have passed the bill would have been to do political violence to a large section of North Carolina, which must have surely reacted upon its advocates for years to come. Here it is:

A BILL TO BE ENTITLED AN ACT TO PROTECT THE STATE'S INTEREST IN THE NORTH CAROLINA RAILROAD AND FOR OTHER PURPOSES:

The General Assembly of North Carolina do Enact:

SEC. I. That chapter 202 laws of 1868 and '69, ratified the 10th day of April, A. D. 1869 and all acts amendatory thereof, and chapter 18, laws of 1871 and 1872 ratified the 21st day of December, 1871, and all acts amendatory there-

SEC. II. That no company organized or that may be hereafter organized, under or by virtue of the provisions of chapter 138, laws of 1871 and 1872, shall construct or operate a railway either for itself or in connection with any other railway so as thereby to make a continuous line of railway between the Western North Carolina Railroad and the Virginia State line east of the Blue Ridge, in this State.

SEC. III. All laws or clauses of laws in conflict with the provisions of this act are hereby repealed. SEC. IV. This act shall be in force from and after its ratification.

Bachelder, furnish some quite interesting information on the subject. It appears that Mr. Bachelder went to the front early in 1862, more than a year before the battle of Gettysburg, to be in position to collect data four days on the battle-field of Gettysburg, making plans, visiting the woundtheir positions and movements. During this period, booksful of notes from these actors were secured within a few weeks of the battle. With the information and sketches thus secured, he visited the army of the Potomac, spending the winter of 1863-'64, in consultation with the officers of every regiment and battery, and carefully noting their conversations and explanations. After the end of the war, Mr. Bachelder invited the many officers whose acquaitance he had made, to visit Gettysburg with him for historical purposes, and over one thousand accepted, including forty-nine generals commanding. Adjourned. SENATE.—On motion of Wallace a communication from the Secretary of State, in response to a Senate resolution calling for information concerning the action under the special cliams treaty of 1819, was referred to the committee on foreign relations, with instructions to make such recommendation to the Senate as seems proper under the circumstances.

Allison and Teller gave notice of proposed amendments to the bill ratifying the Ute agreements, which was ordered

Coke stated that he had intended to ask consideration of the Ute bill this morning, but as the amendments and nounced by the Senator from Iowa (Allison) were very important and should be carefully considered, he would not ask a vote on the bill to-day, but moved that it be taken up to allow the Sena-tor from Colorado (Teller) to speak up-on it. This motion was opposed by Cockrell, who desired consideration of the calendar; and by McPherson, who moved to take up the joint resolution reported by the committee on naval affairs, directing the appointment of a board of survey to inquire into the advisability of completing double turreted iron clads.

After discussion the Senate decided o proceed with the calendar. The bill introduced to provide for the international exhibition in New York city in 1883, was discussed. Thurman said he would be glad to see such an exhibition, but thought this bill likely to break down of its own weight, owing to the great number of persons provided for in the incorporation. Said the war premiums were expressly excluded by the Geneva tribunal. They were not insisted upon by our government, and not a penny was ever awarded to us for

He was followed by Blaine in opposition to the amendment. After a running debate the bill was laid aside, owing to Mr. Thurman being attacked by a rush of blood to the head. which compelled him to retire from the Senate chamber,

This court holds that the right to sue which the State gave to its creditors by the provision of the revised statutes, was not in legal effect a judicial remedy for the enforcement of their contracts with it. It was merely a consent to be sued for the purpose of having an adju-dication. When that adjudication was had there was no person in the courts to enforce it. The State might refuse to pay, and the courts could not compel it to do so. The remedy which is protected by the contract clause of the Federal constitution is something more than the privilege of having the claim adjudicated. It must include the power to enforce the results of such adjudication. Only such remedies as are required to enforce a contract are protected by the Federal constitution. The right to sue which State gave to its creditors was practically of no value to them as the means of enforcing their contracts. It gave them no real remedy and consequently the withdrawal of that right did not impair the obligations of their contracts within the meaning of the prohibitory clause of the Federal constitution. Chief Justice Waite delivered the opinion.

Mrs. Winslew's Soothing Syrup.

Rev. Sylvanus Cobb thus writes in the Boston Christian Freeman:—We would by no means re-commend any kind of medicine which we did not know to be good—particularly for infants. But of Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup we can speak from knowledge; in our own family it has proved a blessing indeed, by giving an infant troubled with colle pulls, quiet sleep, and its parents unknown rest at night. Most parents can appreciate these blessings. Here is an article which works to perblessings. Here is an article which works to perfection, and which is harmless; for the sleep which it affords the infant is perfectly natural, and the little cherub awakes as "bright as a button." And during the process of teething, its value is incalculable. We have frequently heard mothers say they would not be without it from the birth of the child till it had finished with the teething slege, on any consideration whatever.
