JOHN T. BUTLER,

JARVIS TO THE PEOPLE. THE GOVERNOR DEFENDS HIM SELF AGAINST CHARGES.

His Action in the Legislature Explained-Something of the Record of his Private Life. (T

RALEIGH, N. C., May 28, 1880. To the People of North Carolina:

During the unusually bitter canvass that has been doing on for the nomination for Governor I have tried to act in a becoming manner. I have remained constantly at the capital; have been nowhere during the year and have not attempted to control the action of any man or community. I have been si-lent under the most unprovoked and malignant misrepresentations of my political record and the most unfeeling sneers at the crippled condition of my helpless right armid HT 101 11/1/20)

ders in a newspaper at the head of whose columns stands the name of the chairman of the Democratic State executive committee. In face of such charges so gravely affecting my personal integrity, and so circulated, I am unitarity to remain silent.

Whitford. This check Col. Whitford the check with Messrs. I received it and did not hesistent use it. I deposited the check with Messrs. C. W. Grandy & Sons, in Norfolk, and drew upon it for different amounts in favor of my creditors there with whom I had made the compromise. willing to remain silent.

It is charged and insisted that in the Legislature of 1868-'9 I favored the issue of special tax bonds, and that I was a friend to the legislation that fixed that debt upon the people. The facts are these: At the summer session of 1868 appropriations were made, to va-1868 appropriations were made to various railroads, and among them to the Williamston & Tarboro Road, to the debt of over $2,000 hanging over me Chatham Road and to the Western for money that I had borrowed to pay North Carolina, Road, for none of for my education, which was secured which did I vote except for $300,000 to by a policy on my life. In May, 1861, I the Williamston and Tarboro Road. In October, 1868, these bonds were issued W. F. Martin. I was dangerously and went into the hands of the presidents of the several companies. When the Legislature met in regular session in November, 1868, it was concluded that these bonds were unconstitutional and void. Some of them had been used by the president of the Williamston & Tarboro Railroad, and by the president of the Chatham Road, in making bona fide purchases for those A bill passed the Senate to allow the presidents of these three roads to return to the treasury these void bonds and get others in their place of like amount to those returned, which were thought to be valid. My decided views on this bill, were, 1st. The void bonds ought to be returned. 2d. That the actual bona fide obligation incurred with these bonds for which the State was to when those who had taken them did not have notice. This amount, however, was but small. In this I thought the honor and credit of the State were involved. 3d. That the feature of the bill which authorized the issuing of other bonds over and above what was necessary to redeem those bona fide obligations, ought to be stricken out. The bill was passed under the call of the previous question, and my only chance to move to amend was to vote with the majority, which I did. I was cut off the first day by a motion to adjourn and the second day by a motion to reconsider being made by another member and a friend of the bill. After that nine other separate and distinct bills were before the House, (eight of which passed,) to appropriate spe-cial tax bonds to the railroads, not one of which did I vote for, but opposed as best I could. I believed then and believe now that the Legislature was limited in its power to tax the property of the State to sixty-six and two-third cents on the 1869, I tried to have that feature made a part of the Revenue Bill for the express purpose of defeating the special session of 1869-'70 I was the mover in the House of their repeal and repudia-tion.' And in the convention of 1875 I sought to have it put in the constitution that the people should never be taxed to pay them. I have always been an enemy of the special tax bonds and always expect to be. My hostility to all the special tax legislation was so well known at the time, and not apprehending that a day would ever come when I would be charged with favoring such legislation, the fact that the record was left as it now stands gave me no concern.

THAT I MISSED ROLL CALL. How many times I did miss I do not know; probably quite as many times as charged. There were many special tax bills for local purposes in different counties. I could not vote for any of them and very frequently failed to vote on them at all. In addition to this I often refused to vote on either side of a question before the House as the only means of fighting the villainies of that Legislature, thus in many notable instances defeating them. It is now only after the lapse of more than ten years, during which time I have been almost continuously before the people, that a whisper even has been heard impeaching my fidelity to my constituency. Until now I have been universally commended for my course then. BRIBERY AND CORRUPTION.

So long as the charges against me af-fected only my political record, grave though they were, and so long as my helpless physical condition was sneered at, I was content to remain silent; but now that I am charged with positive bribery and corruption I am forced to the only redress my position as the chief magistrate of your State leaves open to me, that is to say, a plain statement of the facts to you. I am charged with having corruptly received from John F. Pickerel $1,500.

The circumstances under which I received the money were these: In 1865 went into a mercantile partnership with a gentleman who afterwards became my brother-in-law. The business was fairly prosperous, and in 1868 I sold to him my interest, taking his obligation for the purchase for about $5,000 In the summer of 1868 I was in Raleigh. In the fall of that year I was on duty as an elector for my district in the Seyford, who was then living in New York, to go to see Mr. Battzer, of the firm of Baltzer & Taak, bankers of that city, and try to get for me $1,500 on long time, explaining to him my condition and the cause of my needs. The reason I applied to Mr. Baltzer was that in the winter of 1869-70 he was in Raleigh.

ed the tax-payers, while I did, and he preferred my opinion. I told him I did not think the white people of the State would ever pay one dollar of them; that for one, I would not vote to pay a dollar of them nor would I vote for any man that would. The conversation was several times repeated, and the re-sult was that he declined to purchase the bonds, and when he was leaving he said to me he was satisfied from what he had seen that I was correct, that he felt under great obligations to me for having by my advice saved him much money, and was warm and earnest in his expressions as to the service I had done him, assuring me that if ever he could serve me in any way. I had only to let him know how it could be done. It was the warmth and the earnestness of these assurances so recently given me that led me to apply to Mr. Baltzer, when I had need of money. When Col. Whinford received my letter he was as he afterwards told me, in Mr. Pickere's office, and mentioned the fact of having received the letter and its contents, and of his purpose to call on Mr. Baltzer in my behalf. Mr. Pickerel, as Col. Whitford wrote me and has often told me since, said there was no need to take Taking courage from that silence, my enemies have proceeded to attack my personal integrity, finding a conventent vehicle for both success and island whiteford. This check Col. Whitford. This check Col. Whitford.

> $1,400. The balance due is in judgment wounded in the arm and shoulder on the 14th of May, 1864. When the war ended, with my shattered arm in a sling, and with no possessions in the world but one suit of Confederate gray, and with this debt of $2,000 with accumulated interest hanging over me, I went to work as best I could to make an honest living, and have struggled on ever since. Unfortunately for me, I was quickly forced to the front in politics, in consequence of the disfranchisement of so many of the older men in 1868. I never like to do anything in a half-hearted way and the campaigns through which I have gone have cost me no little. As a result of all of this, I am still in debt, a fact that I regret more than any one else can. Painful as it is to me to go into all be benefited, ought to be redeemed, this, I have felt that after the bitter assaults on my character there was no other course left open to me. I have a clear conscience before my God, that I never knowingly wronged my State, or much of the proceeds of my labor to the service of my party and State.

All the facts stated above are within the knowledge of witnesses now living, and I have no fear for the result of any scrutiny, ne matter how searching, or how rigid, and no matter even how Politics in an Illinois Prayer. Senator Logan had his convention opened with prayer by one Mr. Nourse, and this is the prayer:

Almighty and all-wise God, we come to Thee at this critical moment of our national history and ask Thee in Thy wisdom to make us wise, and out of $100 worth of property, and that this must include all taxes. In February desire the success of this party, believing that it will further commercial prosperity; that it will favor morality and will do the things which are right tax bonds as I then so declared. At the in Thine eyes; and therefore we pray that Thou wilt show this convention the men whom Thou hast chosen for the offices that are to be filled. And we pray, O God, that no mistake may be made to-day or during the period of this convention, so that our political opponents may not go into power on our mistakes. We thank Thee that there is so many good men from whom to select. In Thy wisdom, help us to choose the men, and we ask it all in the name of Jesus Christ. Amen.

The Railroad Up Mount Vesuvius.

Mr. Duncan, United States consul at Naples, in a dispatch to the Department of State, reports that the new railroad to the summit of Mount Vesuvius is about complete, and will be opened to the public in a few days. The ascent hitherto toilsome will thus become a pleasant ride of but ten minutes, at a moderate expense. The cost of the road is estimated at $100,000, and an exaggerated idea prevails that it will pay for itself in one year. The number of visi-tors will undoubtedly be largely increased. The invention is attributed to an engineer of Lombardy and also to an American. It is quite different from that in use at Mount Washington, in that in use at mount washington, in this country, or the more celebrated one up the Rhizi, in Switzerland. The car is supported by two wheels, one for-ward of the other, like a bicycle.

A Denver Episode.

John and George Bond, brothers fell in love with Miss Whitney, the daugh-ter of their landlady, at Denver. She cared very little for either, but encouraged both, and they became jealous of one another. George lost his position as clerk in a store, and had time to stay in the house with the girl. John immediately abandoned work, so as to keep even with his rival. They courted Miss Whitney, she testified, about sixteen hours a day. Then she jilted them, and engaged herself to marry Mr. Smith. The brothers promptly combined to whip Mr. Smith half to death, and that was what made the matter public in a police court in a police court.

A fine bust of Thomas Moore, the Irish poet, by the sculptor, D. B. F. Sheehan, was unveiled in Central Park, New York, yesterday afternoon, under the aispices of the Friendly Sons of St. Patrick, of that city, that society having undertaken the work one year ago. The site selected for the monument is on the walk leading from the Fifth avenue and Fifty-ninth street entrance, and running down to and around the lake at Fifty-ninth street. The unveiling ceremonies were very simple, the presentation of the bust to the city being made by Hon. George Shea, in behalf made by Hon. George Shea, in behalf of the Moore memorial committee, and the acception speech by Mayor Cooper, the closing address being delivered by Mr. John Savage, president of the so-ciety of the Friendly Sons of St. Pat-
