Extract of a letter from Hon. Alexander H. Stevens, "I occasionally use when my condition requires it, Dr. Simmons' Liver Regulator, with good effect. It is mild, and suits me better than recent active remedies."

CONSTIPATION.

TESTIMONY OF THE CHIEF JUSTICE OF GEORGIA—I have used Simmons' Liver Regulator for constination of my bowels, caused by a temporary derangement of the liver, for the last three or four years, and always when used according to the directions, with decided benefit. I think it is a good medicine for the derangement of the liver—at least such has been my personal experience in the use of it. HIRAM WARNER, Chief Justice of Georgia.

DISCUSSING GARFIELD.

tion-Democratic Prospects, &c.

Discussion of the Chicago Nomina-Washington, June 9.—There was a great difference in the appearance of the Capitol to-day from what it was yesterday. The noise and confusion about the corridors had ceased, and there was no bulletin boards to attract crowds and blockade the passage ways. there was no bulletin boards to attract crowds and blockade the passage ways. The Senate toiled wearily over the sundry civil bill, and the House jogged along as usual. The galleries of the House were unusually crowded for this season of the year, and everybody seemed to be looking for Garfield's seat. But it was unmarked. Republicans continue to express the greatest satisfaction over Garfield's nomination, but it is easy to detect the lack of enthusiasm with which they talk. Secretly many of them admit that the Chicago ticket is a weak one, and for that reason there is greater necessity to bolster up the nomination. A prominent Republican said to-day that the quiet that has prevailed here ever since the nomination was announced was indicative of the feeling of the Republicans. The department clerks all favored either Grant or Blaine, and they have not been able to work themselyes up to the standard pitch of enthusiasm. The Democrats are certainly very much encouraged. Their only fear now is that the weakness of the Chicago ticket has made Democrats so sanguine of success that they are apt to be less cautious than they would have been had the Republicans put up a stronger ticket. There is a growing sentiment that the nominee at Cincinnati should be an Eastern man, and Senator Bayard's name is more frequently mentioned than any other. It is generally beard's name is more frequently mentioned than any other. It is generally believed in Democratic circles that with Bayard against Garfield there would be no doubt of carrying two or three Eastern States, while at the same time California, Oregon, Nevada and Indiana are all uncertain for Garfield. Ohio Democrats say that after the Credit Democrats say that after the Credit Mobiler disclosures Garfield's majority in his Congressional district dropped off over nine thousand. Non-partisan observers all say that with a little care at Cincinnati and the nomination of anybody but Tilden the Democrats are certain of success this fall.

WORKING UNDER THE HUDSON.

Connect New Jersey and New York. New York, June 8.—At the foot of Fifteenth street, Jersey City, a low wooden building has been erected, which has the appearance of an overgrown shanty rather than the beginning of an important and difficult work! This buillding contains the office of the Hudson Tunnel Railroad Company and also the engines, electric generators, and air-compressor. In the centre of the building a shaft thirty feet in diam-eter has been sunk to the depth of sixty feet. Its lower portion is used as a receiving tank for the mud removed from the tunnel. About midway down the shaft has been floored over. Jutting out from the river side of this shaft is what appears to be a large iron boiler. This is the "air lock," an airtight chamber made of one-half-inch rolled iron, and six feet in diameter and fifteen feet in length, through which everything passes in entering or leaving the tunnel. By its use persons passing in are gradually accustomed to the change in air pressure, about six a little above the top of the tunnel proper, the excavation was extended at a gradual decline until the required depth was reached—about sixty feet below high water. The exterior structure, or shell of the tunnel, consists of a cylinder of one-half-inch boiler-plate iron, with a lining of brick anchored to

General Garfield will preside at the Scranton Eistedford, having accepted an invitation some time ago. He is of Welsh extraction, his grandfather committure of sand and other substances. The excavation is begun at the top, and carried forward in sections. The plates of which the iron casing is composed are placed in position as fast as sufficient space is excavated. These plates are two and one-half feet in width by three and six feet in length. They are bolted together by means of angle iron secured to their edges. The ance from year to year. His youngest | brick-work is laid as rapidly as a circle of sections is completed. The silt is thrown back into a pool, into which is running a stream of water forced in from a pump in the shaft by the pressure of the condensed air in the tunnel, James Fisk, the father of James | This water, carrying about one half of

The office is connected with the tunnel by telephone, and the electric light is used both in and out of the tunnel, work being carried on throughout the twenty-four hours. An average of about four feet of the tunnel is finished

The top of the tunnel will have an average distance of about twenty-five feet below the river-bed. This makes necessary a considerable grade, as the river at some points reaches the depth of sixty feet. and can prepare exactly the place for each sheet. The entrance to the tunnel on the New Jersey side will be at a point about three-quarters of a mile from the river. The terminus in New York has not been settled, but the tunnel will enter the city at the foot of Leroy street. An underground depot will be used, and nowhere will the track be less than fifteen feet below the surface. The approaches on either side will be twentysix feet in width and twenty-four feet in height, with a double track; but under the river there will be two tunnels, side by side, each eighteen feet in height and sixteen feet in width, and each con-taining a single track. Work is now in progress in only one of these tunnels, but everything is in readiness to begin the adjoining one in a few days, when operations can be begun on the New York side also. With approved facilities it is expected that each section will be advanced at a rate of five feet per be advanced at a rate of five feet per ton Crop. Norfolk, VA., June 9.—The Cotton Exchange makes report of the condi-tion of the cotton crops. It is compiled from seventy-five reports from twenty-eight counties in North Carolina and Virginia. The seventy-five reports show an increase of 10 per cent. in acreage as compared with last year—31 show more favorable, 38 less favorable, and 5 the same weather as last year; 46 show good stands, 31 poor stands, and 8 fair stands; 75 show a crop average of eight days earlier than last year; 57 show the condition of the crop on May 31 as good, 11 show the condition as poor, and 7 show the condition as the same as last year. Labor is reported as good and efficient. The replies show a general increase in the use of fertilizers and from twenty-four replies an average of 25 per cent. increase is reported. The weather during May was very dry, and late planting has been reported, but the recent rains have excited a beneficial effect upon the crop in this section,
