The cantaloupe and the grape crops in the city are very promising. Probably as many as thirty or forty young people will go up to the David-son place to-day on the picnic. The flag had to be taken down. The very shadow of it frightened the Refrom a practicing physician. This order was passed at a late meeting of the board of aldermen, and does not appear to be generally known.

Capt. D. R. Murchison, the prospective president of the Carolina Central Railway company, went up the road yester-day in a special car. He is to be elected, it is said, at the meeting which is to be held at Weldon on the 14th of July.

Mr. W. W. Grier yesterday received a telegram from Matthews' Station stating that a small dwelling house owned by him at that place, and occupied by a man named Allen, was destroyed by fire during the storm. There were no further particulars.

How They Received the News.

When the jailor carried to George Golloway and Frances Hood the news commutation of their respective death sentences, he was surprised at the manner in which it was received. Contrary to what might have been expected under the circumstances, the man expressed delight by clapping his hands and blessing God for a deliverance from the jaws of death, while the woman did not manifest by word or action the slightest emotion. She did not speak while the officer was in her presence and has been equally reserved since then. The two will be carried to the penitentiary to-night, to spend there the remainder of their days.

More Ratifications.

The artillery was sent over to Salisbury to assist in the ratification meeting there. Statesville had hers Saturday night. A correspondent says it was decidedly enthusiastic, and adds: "Bon fires were lighted. The cornet band was out. The citizens turned out in force and old Statesville gave Hancock and English a grand send off. Speeches were made by Hon. R. F. Armfield, Hon. W. M. Robbins, Col. W. H. H. Cowles, Capt. P. C. Caflton, Theo. F. Kluttz, Esq., Gen. M. P. Taylor, of Wilmington, and Mr. Savage, of New Jersey. Old Iredell is going to come up to the full stature of a man and will roll the full stature of a man and will roll up a big majority for Hancock and English in our next election. A flag will be holsted in the public square

King's Mountain Centennial Notes.

The local committee in charge of the matter want bids for privileges on the grounds during the centennial celebration. Their advertisement appears elsewhere and shows what privileges will one, which is kept open every evening, be sold. There are some excellent free to all who wish to avail themselves chances for enterprising business men. At the next meeting of the executiv committee another point will be ag-tated, beside that of reducing the number of days for the celebration. Members of the committee, who have become acquainted with the locations and distances will urge that the point of debarkation from the cars be some point nearer the battlefield than King's privileges which are thus offered, but

The Wilmington Light Infantry will in all probability go to King's Mountain in October. This company has 70 active members and is represented to be in a most flourishing condition.

Incendiarism in Hock Hill-Two Attempts, One Successful. The incendiaries are again loose in Rock Hill, a town which has already suffered more in this respect than any place of its size in South Carolina. Thursday night the barn of Dr. Robertson was fired and burned to the ground. The stock were all gotten out of the burning building, but the remainder of its contents was burned. Saturday morning about 2 o'clock, two young men discovered a light under the warehouse of J. R. London, adjoining the depot, and on investigation found that it came from a bottle filled with kerosene which apparently had just begun to burn. They succeeded in smothering the flames, and with others started in pursuit of the incendiaries, consealing the bottle under steps near by. When they returned shortly afterwards the bottle had been removed, indicating beyond a doubt that the incendiaries themselves were watching the movements of their pursuers. The people are considerably alarmed, and the town authorities have put on an extra police force. The incendiaries are again loose in

The Old Case of the Lost Bonds.

At the last annual meeting of the stockholders of the Atlantic & North Carolina Railroad Company, a committee consisting of Messrs. R. Y. McAden, T. L. Vail and A. W. Jamison was appointed to investigate the matter connected with the loss of the Iredell county bonds and the suits against Elam Morrison, former treasurer, and report at the approaching meeting. The committee held a meeting in the city yesterday in the First Nationaal Bank and prepared their report. The circumstances in connection with this case are known to the public; the general impression is that the mystery connected with it will never be solved. The nature of the committee's report has not been revealed.

The Question of the Lease of the A. & N. C. Railroad.

Col. Jno. L. Morehead, chairman of the committee to which was referred Democratic party, especially in regard the question of the lease of the Atlantic and North Carolina Railroad, returned yesterday, from the meeting of the stockholders. It is learned that his committee held a meeting subsequent to that of the stockholders, and appointed the 14th of July as the time and the Morehead City Hotel as the place for the re-assembling of the committee for it. But there is nothing like start-to hear any propositions that may be ing in time for a long race. If the newsmade to secure the control of the property. It was understood at the meeting that there might be more than two propositions, including one from Best & Co. The Wilmington & Weldon Railroad has already made its proposition. Bids are open to the world.

The Storm and Its Effects.

The storm which threatened to burst upon the city about 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon and passed to the south of Another one of Vennor's storms yesus, was confined to the space between here and Rock Hill, with the centre about Pineville. The wind was very violent in that region, prostrating trees, fences and some houses. In the village of Pineville, a partially completed frame house, belonging to Mr. Templeton, of that place, was blown down and the timbers badly injured. A tree near the house of a man named Morrison was uprooted and fell on the building, partially crushing in the roof, but not injuring in any way the occupants. So It is said that several intelligent col- far as has been heard up to this time, ored men in the city will vote the Han- no one was injured, but the damage in cock and English ticket-have deter- some parts of the track of the hurricane is considerable. The rainfall was also very heavy.

Another storm struck the city last night about 8 o'clock, and raged with considerable fury for about fifteen minutes. The rainfall was very heavy, and was accompanied by hail, and the air The cemetery keepers are not allowed | was filled with electricity, but the wind to inter a body without a certificate was much less violent, and so far as could be ascertained last night, no special damage was done.

Our information is that nearly all sections of the country have been visited by storms. The telegraph lines are down in almost every direction; hence the absenc of associated press reports this morning, those that were received coming from Washington by way of Cincinnat

Destructive Fire-Loss of Thoroughbred Stock.

At 3 o'clock yesterday morning, Mr. Ed. Rigler, who was sleeping on Mr. Dal. M. Rigler's place, just beyond the city limits, on the southern continuation of Tryon street, was aroused by a bright light in his room, and awoke to find the barn in flames. He ran at once towards the building in the hope of liberating the stock, but it was too late. He could not approach near enough to open the doors, although several expedients were resorted to to accomplish this. The flames were confined to the upper part of the building, and in less than five minutes after be reached the spot, it fell in. "Merry Wade," a noted blooded mare, mother of the famous "Wade Hampton," and "Mecklenburg," with her colt five months old was burned, besides a beautiful two-year-old colt out of "May" by "Wade Hampton." The horses made no noise and must have been suffocated before Mr. Rigler reached the stable. They were all fine animals, and could scarcely have been bought from the owner. Besides these a cow and hog were also burned, and a quantity of wheat and oats cut from twenty-five acres of land. Mr. Rigler is satisfied that the fire was the work of an incendiary. No one on the premises had been in the stable since seven o'clock in the evening, and there is no question that the fire began in a portion of the build-ing in which was a lot of dry hay and clover. Furthermore, Mr. Ed. Rigler was aroused earlier in the night by the barking of a fierce dog, and had gone out in the stable yard to investigate the cause, but failing to see any one, returned and again went to sleep.

The barn was one of the best in the county, having cost originally about $1,500. It was insured for $800. Mr. Rigler estimates his losslover and above insurance at $2,500 or $3,000.

A Public Library. It seems not to be generally under-stood that there is in this city a free public library and reading room. The Young Men's Christian Association has of its advantages. The room is pleasant, handsomely furnished, and conveniently located on the second floor of the Merchants' and Farmers' National Bank building. There are at present about two hundred and fifty volumes in the library and eight papers and four magazines are kept on file. A number have already availed themselves of the to accomplish the purpose of its estaba year ago, but in many respects more a year ago, but in many respects more interesting. To this reception every one is expected to carry or send one or more books, or a set; or to contribute a year's subscription to some newspaper or magazine. It is to be hoped that the citizens of Charlotte will give this attempt to establish a good public library and reading room a hearty support. It is a cause which addresses itself to every man and woman in Charlotte.

every man and woman in Charlotte. This is about the only public place in the city offering to the young men superior and more innocent attractions than the saloons and gambling halls. This being true, as it undoubtedly is, surely the citizens of Charlotte will see that the association is enabled to carry out its plan of providing a pleasant re-sort for young men. Numbers of our citizens have good books at home which they could very well afford to place in this librar; others could buy a book or set of books for the same purpose—not merely those of a religious character, but books for general reading—say for instance, the works of Scott, Dickens or Washington Irving, the essays of Macauley, Carlisle and others, any of the noted works of science, history, travel, poetry or approved fiction, or any of the leading newspapers or magazines. These would add much to the value of They are the men—to bear our standard to victory in the coming struggle. But if the "ins" are too strong to be "ousted" and secure their nomination, I will do all I can for the success of the party ticket, which I consider the first duty of a party man.

Respectfully,

the library and reading room and be of real service to our many young men who have no suitable place to spend their leisure moments. That there may be no uneasiness about the custody of the books, it may be well to add that the Young Men's Christian Association has passed the days of infancy, and has now become one of the permanent institutions of the city, increasing every year in strength and efficiency.

THE COUNTY CAMPAIGN.

A Few Thoughts in Connection Therewith and Some Remarks on Retation.

To the Editor of The Observer: The campaign this year in this county will be an exciting and interesting one, and of no small importance to the seems that our present worthy and efsome of their fellow-citizens to step with little work and "big pay," will be enabled to disobey the Divine injunction, which says: "In the sweat of thy face shalt thou eat bread." This seems to be the case in regard to the sheriff's article in a Charlotte paper.) Is it not is always for the office with the "big pay?" I am in favor of changing oflicers, national, State and county, for the reason that those who fill offices for a number of years have it in their power to acquire more influence over their ellow-citizens than I think is necessary for the good health of political parties. As an illustration, take the officers of this county who have been in office for the last eight to twelve years. It is not too much to presume that some one of them know every man in the county, who is worth knowing, and has more or less influence over him. Now, suppose they combine to retain their offices and exert their knowledge, power and influence to control primary meetings, de'egates and conventions, what power will be able to successfully oppose? and if they are able to secure their own nominations so long as they want the offices, why cannot they in the same way dictate who shall be their successors, or who shall be candidates for legislative honors, etc? I say rotate the officers. Another reason why I advocate relation is that I have a strong feeling of sympathy for the Confederate soldier. He can draw no pension, only what he earns, and I do think when we have those among us who have endured untold hardships, risked their lives, and numbers of them lost limbs in battling for a cause that was dear to us all, that they are entitled to our sympathy and assistance when in want, and especially when it will cost us nothing but our votes. I do not advocate the election to office of the Confederate soldier simply because he has been a soldier, but when he is poor in this world's goods and possesses all the necessary qualifications to fill the office, I do think he should have the preference. There is strong fellow-feeling of sympathy existing among the ex-soldiers that no human power can crush out, yet that feeling does not amount to fanaticism: it does not dethrone reason. They have no desire to place an old comrade in an office that he is unworthy of or incompetent to fill, but only those of intelligence and strict integrity of character, which entitles them to the esteem and full confidence of their fellow-men. Again I say "rotate the officers."

Let me call the attention of your readers to this fact, that since the organization of the present political parties in 1868, the Democratic party has been invariably victorious when the ex-soldier had a place on the ticket (though an humble one) and whenever he has been left off entirely, we have been badly defeated. Though we placed our standards in the hands of our strongest and best men, it seemed impossible for them to arouse that enthusiasm that is essential to victory. The old soldiers do not want to monopolize the offices, but claim that they have a right to representation on our tickets. One of the most important things to be considered in selecting our candidates for the present year is to select men of strict integrity, men who possess a high sense of honor and who en-joy the full confidence of the public. We cannot afford to go into the campaign on the defensive, for we will have to work hard to elect our ticket, let who will be nominated, Mecklenburg has never had a dishonest, mean, unprincipled officer since I can remember, and her good name has been the pride of her people for generations. Yet some of our good people are opposed to rotation for fear that we will be worsted in the change; that we had better let well enough alone, and so on. I think such expressions are a reflection on the thirty-four hundred Democratic voters of this county and do her people a gross injustice, amounting almost to slander, insinuating that the glorious old county of Mecklenburg cannot find in her bounds more than a half dozen men capable of filling her offices. Away with such nonsense.

While I fully realize the fact that her good name and credit depend in a great measure upon her officials, and while I advocate the rotation of the offices and expect to urge the system of short terms in office, yet I am no extremist or radical, for some of our people have aspired to official honors that I cannot endorse, for the reason that I had conclusive evidence that they sought the office with an eye single to their own pocket. The honor and good name of the county was not to be taken into consideration. If we are to rotate with such material, I am opposed to a change, and before I will vote ard in such hands, I will vote to keep our present incumbents in office as long as they live, and when they die, will vote to abolish their offices, for our present officers are gentlemen of the highest official integrity, and I do not hesitate to say that they deserve the sincere thanks of every good citizen in this county for the able, faithful, impartial and indulgent manner in which they have discharged their duties. But they have received a more substantial compensation than the thanks of a grateful people. In my opinion they have dis-charged those duties and received the compensation long enough; they ought to step down and out; but if they still refuse we will make an effort to place our standard in the hands of gentlemen who are not running themselves to death, wearing all the button holes out of our old coats when they meet us, and who will not resort to doubtful measures to secure the nomination; who will only accept the nomi-nation when tendered to them voluntarily and fairly by their fellow-citizens. They are the men to bear our standard to victory in the coming struggle. But if the "ins" are too strong to be "ousted" and secure their nomination, I will do all I can for the success of the Democratic Club Appointments. In obedience to a resolution of the Democratic club of Charlotte, I hereby announce the following committees:

COM. ON WAYS AND MEANS. Ward No. 1, R. M. Miller and T. L. Vail; Ward No. 2, Dr. J. M. Miller and W. W. Ward; Ward No. 3, W. J. Yates and Jno. E. Brown; Ward No. 4, Frank Coxe and Latta Johnston.

one, and of no small importance to the Democratic party, especially in regard to our county officers, all of whom have to be elected this year, except the clerk of the Superior Court. Judging from several articles that have appeared in the Charlotte papers, in the way of communications, announcements and advertisements, it seems that the race is about to begin before we are ready for it. But there is nothing like starting in time for a long race. If the newspaper articles are a correct criterian, it, seems that our present worthy and effective and of the superior county officers, all of whom have the would by no means recommend any kind of medicine which we did not know to be good—particularly for infants.
