

NATIONAL DEMOCRATIC TICKET.

FOR PRESIDENT, WINFIELD SCOTT HANCOCK, Of Pennsylvania.

FOR VICE-PRESIDENT, WILLIAM H. ENGLISH, Of Indiana.

DEMOCRATIC STATE TICKET.

FOR GOVERNOR, THOMAS J. JARVIS, Of North Carolina.

THE VIRGINIA DEMOCRACY.

As has already been stated in these columns there are two Hancock and English tickets in Virginia, the first, nominated at the regular Democratic convention, held in Richmond on the 18th of May, and the last by the Readjuster's convention, held in the same city on the 7th of July.

THE REPUBLICAN PLATFORM.

When the "heads," as the Republicans are styled by Col. Myers, got together at Raleigh on the 7th, it became necessary to put forth a platform.

No. 2 attacks railroad corporations without limit, and demands legislation to forbid other people from coming to North Carolina to build railroads with their own money.

No. 3 attacks with anxiety the condition of the Western North Carolina railroad. As this institution has been a sort of moral, political and financial incubator on the Democratic party for twenty-five years, we are willing that the Republicans shall come in and share a portion of the burden, if in no more substantial way than a cheap plank in a cheap platform, at a cheap convention.

No. 4 declares that the Republican party has always been a friend to public education. This is a sort of a political tub to the whale, for it is notorious that while the Republican party was in power in the State they stole the school fund to get money to pay the way of Buzzard Bay Ashley back to the land of cod-fish.

No. 5 recognizes the laborer and mechanic, which is all right, because the horny handed sons of toil, the Messrs. Ralph P. Burton, and Rufus Barringer, couldn't run on any other ticket.

No. 6 deplores the action of the constitutional convention of 1875, about the time they didn't capture Edward Ransom, and thus securing a majority.

No. 7 abuses the present system of county governments, and especially the appointment of magistrates by the legislature notwithstanding the fact that this system was in vogue in the State for forty years, and notoriously gave a better administration of the laws, than when the magistrates were elected by the people.

No. 8 denounces the Democratic party as an oligarchy, and rants around generally, simply, we suppose, because they had to "cuss" somebody, and because the Democrats could stand it better than any one else.

On the whole it is a parody upon political platforms, and we can not afford to publish more than a synopsis of it because space is too valuable.

COTTON MANUFACTURING SOUTH.

The New York Times discusses the manufacture of cotton in the South in an article which is worthy of careful notice, because representing a northern view of this important subject.

A full ticket of electors for Hancock and English is therefore to be put in the field, though the regular organization of the Democracy has already an electoral ticket before the people.

The Democratic party of Virginia, if such a thing were possible, and without attempting to decide as to the merits of either faction, cannot afford to imperil the success of the Democracy in the nation.

It appears to us this way now. But whether this is true or not there ought to be, and there must be one ticket in Virginia which supports the nominees of the Cincinnati convention.

There must be harmony and conciliation. We will await developments with some interest.

The story of the judgment of Solomon may be aptly studied in this connection. The true mother was she who preferred to surrender her child to another rather than have it cut in two.

For the special benefit of the Republicans of the sixth district, who are to meet in Charlotte next Thursday to nominate a candidate for Congress, we present below the vote of the district by counties in 1876:

Table with 5 columns: County, Votes, T's maj., H's maj. Rows include Anson, Cabarrus, Catawba, Gaston, Lincoln, etc.

It is suggested that Gen. Barringer should prove an alibi, showing that he was not in the court house in Charlotte when he "is alleged" to have made his remarkable speech.

No Republican has yet offered any apology for or explanation of the recent remarkable utterances of their candidate, Gen. Rufus Barringer.

The Raleigh Observer hears that Judge Baxton will resign his judgeship. He should do so by all means; he can't afford to take any other course, if he intends to make any canvas.

We are authorized to announce that Col. Kennan, Democratic candidate for Attorney-General, will speak with Gov. Jarvis at Shelby, Saturday, and at Ruthersford, Monday.
