"The Bleached Shirt."

AIR: "A Wet Sheet and a Flowing Sea."

BY WM. M. PEGRAM. Rise in your might, ye Democrats
Ye stalwarts, brave and true,
Nor falter in the glorious work
Your honor 'tis to do;
And hold the standard high aloft,
Nor let it trail in dirt,
Which bears a name that spiked the guns,
And bleached the bloody shirt!

No need have we to offer proof Of that unsullied name, The country, North, South, East and West, Glows with its honored fame;
For perjury and jobs and bribes
It cannot be impeached—
One charge it owns—it spiked the guns
The bloody shirt it bleached!

The ruby ensign now no more
Republicans can wave,
Who, to attain ignoble ends,
Would rob the soldier's grave;
Instead of war's dread emblem now
The flag of peace we'll flirt,
Since Hancock's name has spiked the guns
And bleached the bloody shirt!

No more we'll hear of "solid South,"
Or. "rebel brigadiers"—
They're "solid" for "(ne Country," and
Of loyal men are peers;
The treasured goal for which they strove
At last, thank God, is reached,
For Hancock now has spiked the guns,
The bloody shirt has bleached!

They are selling Hancock and English flour in Wilmington.

Raleigh Observer: An officer of the government; who is now engaged in sounding the bottom of one of the tor, Alfred B. Carlin, a bachelor, recovered, far from the shore, an immense bed of phosphate rock. He has sent Prof. Kerr a specimen of it, with a request that it be analyzed at once. It was forwarded to Chapel Hill. The officer will not say in which of the sounds he found it. He has also written the Governor in regard to the matter. It will be known in a few days whether it is real phosphate.

Raleigh News: It will be remembered that Rev. Dr. Charles F. Deems, last fall, devoted a sum of money to the University of North Carolina, to be loaned needy students to enable them to finish their education. On his return from Europe and Asia he sent $200 more. It is his grateful acknowledgement of the Divine Providence which has brought him safely home. It is exceedingly pleasant to see our distinguished friend, who so long resided among us, thus remembering the institution in which he was once a professor, and helping the poor young men of the State.

General Grant's Future. DENVER, COL., July 23.—The question "What are we to do with Grant?" seems in a fair way to be settled, if the rumors which are begining to take shape here in connection with his present visit to the West may be accepted. A gentleman, whose means of obtaining information on the point are good, tells me that the general has a way of the state that the general has under serious advisement a proposition from the San Pedro Mining Company, which is operating in New Mexico. He states that the real purpose of the recent visit to New Mexico was that of examining the property of the company. It is a fact that he stopped but a day or two, and then passed on to the mining district, like a business man with a place of destination before him. My informant tells me that the company has made General Grant a proposition to connect himself with it at a salary not to be less than $25,000 per annum, to in a manner take general direction of the affairs of the company, but principally to give it prestige. The present presi-dent of the company is Mr. George William Ballou, of Boston. The prop-erty forms part of the Canyon del Aqua Mexican grant. It was worked extensively by the Mexicans from 1840 until the American occupation, and a city of 4,000 people was built there. It is stated that one nugget worth $7,000 was found. It is certain that the placers are very rich, but the Americans have found their working unprofitable on account of scarcity of water. If General Grant goes in he will advise the laying of water pipes from the Samlia Mountains, some eighty miles distant, While visiting the mines he manifested great interest in them, asking numerous questions and closely scutinizing them. He washed out an ore pan himself, which yield several colors and a nugget the size of a pin's head. In case the proposition is accepted General Grant will spend his time between New York and New Mexico. If he does not accept it seems probable that he will form some connection with the minning interests of Colorado. He is now in Leadville, where Governor Routt is chaper-

Paris, the gay, the delightful, the si-ren of cities, is as dull as a beauty in the morning after a mad rout. All interest has departed from her with the prorogation of the legislative bodies and the flight of the beau monde to the country and seaside. The journals have never been so devoid of attraction, and the city itself reflects the blankness of these mirrors of Parisian life. When, however, nothing else is talked about, people talk about Sarah Bernhardt. Monday she returns from Brussels. She will take a week's repose at her villa at Ste. Adresse, near Havre, before making active preparations for her trip to America. The company for the American tour is almost completed. It consists of twenty persons and is selected with a view to casting the eight pieces of her repertoire as powerfully as possible. The costumes for "Hernani," "Adrienne Lecouvreur" and "Phedre" are all being made here. Rerhearsals commence in a fortnight at the Varieties, which M. Bertrand has gallantly placed at Sarah's disposal. The rehearsals will extend over four weeks and will be pretty severe, as it is proposed to avoid rehearsals altogether in Amer-

Many of the tragedienne's art treasares are being packed for shipment, to be used in America as a Bernhardt Gallery, which will be open to inspection in the large cities during her tour.

Among her penates shipped to New
York will be the famous skeleton of her bed-room. It has a peculiar history. It is the skeleton of a young station of ficer, who committed suicide on account of disappointment in love. This anatomical souvenir was presented by the dead man's friend, Dr. Pozzo, to Sarah, who has a religious regard for it. How the skeleton will bear the handling of the American baggage smasher is a around there, and some measuring eight | question which has not as yet been discussed by experts in the lady's presence. According to Dr. Kenealy, Orton's counsel, over $100,-000 was contributed by Mr. Carlin to enable the claimant to establish his heirship. Nothing was known of Alfred Carlin's antecedents among the few with whom he associated, but he was generally supposed to be without relatives. London, July 26.—Accounts of the cause of the recent death of Mrs. Annie Wetmore, an American lady in Paris are conflicting. A Paris dispatch says Mrs. Wetmore was 30 years old, and of great personal beauty. She made the acquaintance of an Englishman of title, who pressed her to obtain a divorce in order to marry him. She agreed to do so, and obtained the divorce, but just as she received information that a decree in her favor had been granted, she learned that the English lord was about to marry another woman. A stormy interview took place between them, at which the lord offered her a pecuniary indemnity. This final outrage rendered her disappointment unbearable and she then poisoned herself.
