WEDNESDAY, JULY 25, 1890.

MRS. WETMORE'S SUICIDE.

How an English Lord Trifled with the Affections of an American Widow.

PARIS, July 24.—The Wetmore-Englsey affair continues, to engross public attention, and although it is the general theme of conversation here, it is curious to say that with a single exception, that of the "Observer" in the morning, all mentions of it that thus far have been kept out of the newspapers. All sorts of rumors are current in connection with this fact, which, for the honor of the profession, I shall avoid noticing. I prefer to set down the following, which the French press is always known to practice on such delicate occasions. Having been introduced to the lady Albert Clinton lately at the house of a mutual friend, I have profited by my slight acquaintance to obtain some information regarding the melancholy affair. Her ladyship received me courteously, and expressed her willingness to tell me all she knew of the circumstances. She herself seemed overcome with grief, and after a few minutes she began to speak about her deceased friend. After a few general remarks about the rumors which were in circulation, I told her what I had stated in my telegram of Thursday evening and which she pronounced to be in the main correct. "May I ask," I said, "if you are in possession of Lord Anglesey's letters to Mrs. Wetmore?"

A SUIT WITH A ROMANCE.

A Woman Keeping a Secret for Fifty Years—Millions of Dollars Involved.

Baltimore Sun.

There is now pending in the courts of Ohio a suit involving several millions of dollars in real estate, and which, besides bringing some of the most prominent men in the country, including President Hayes, Chief Justice Waite, and others, forward as contestants, has an intensely romantic history connected with it, in which a Maryland family constitute the chief characters. The story goes that some time in the year 1812, Capt. Ford, of the United States Army, was married to one Lovey Baskirt, a widow, formerly Miss Lovey Ward, of Somerset county, Maryland. Shortly after his marriage Capt. Ford is said to have left Baltimore in command of a privateer, which was captured by the British. Capt. Ford was taken captive and placed in Dartmoor prison, where he remained for some time, but finally escaped by tunneling his way out. He went to Sweden, and after the close of the war returned to his home in the city of Baltimore. On his return he found his wife living in good style in a house which there was an addition to his household in the person of a lovely little girl, whom the neighbors said was the captain's daughter. He was, however, somewhat suspicious, and when some of their most intimate acquaintances, it is alleged, declared was an illegitimate child. The captain and his wife, however, claimed the child as their own offspring. Capt. Ford did not long remain inactive, but soon after his return he sailed for Africa, landing his living cargoes in this country at Charleston, Savannah, and sometimes in Cuba. Returning home again his wife is said to have become jealous of him. Captain Ford then left the house again and went West, where he located a number of land warrants, among which was one at the mouth of the Maumee river, then (1817) Wisconsin, on the site of the city of Toledo. It is over the ownership of this property that the suits are pending. Capt. Ford, after an absence of three years, came to Baltimore once more, but finding his wife determined not to have anything to do with him, he left, going to Mexico, where he entered the navy of that country and served until 1822, when he died intestate. His only kinspeople, so far as known, were his wife, Lovey, his mother and sisters, living in one of the New England States, and his only child, the little girl, whose name was Emeline.

DEMOCRATIC HEADQUARTERS.

A Large House on F Street Secured and Work Begun.

Washington Post.

The Democratic congressional committee have secured the house 1405 F street for permanent headquarters during the campaign. The rooms to be occupied are the first, second and third floors, and afford ample accommodations. The first floor will be used as a reception room. The second will be occupied by the chairman, secretary and executive committee, while the third will be occupied by clerks. The committee have furnished the rooms with Democratic simplicity, and took possession on Saturday. The committee will also have use of Willard's hall for folding and directing documents. They propose to suspend a wire banner across the street, in front of their rooms, bearing the names and portraits of the candidates. The banner will be 20x30 feet. The committee are informed from all parts of the country that more Democratic clubs are being formed than in any previous campaign. They are especially numerous in the New England States and Pennsylvania. A Hancock veteran club has been organized in nearly every county in Pennsylvania. A large number of Republicans have announced their determination to support Hancock, while colored Hancock clubs are rapidly forming throughout the South. The committee has appointed a sub-committee on documents and communications, consisting of A. S. Iewitt, of the national committee, Senator Pinkney Hyde, of Maryland, B. M. Becker, of Pennsylvania, and D. M. Walker, District of Columbia. They have also constituted a finance committee, consisting of the national committee man from each State, with whom have been associated members of the congressional committee. The various committees are actively at work in the several departments. Some members of the committee will be constantly in the city, and Gen. Walker, the secretary, will alternate between here and New York. The committee have received favorable reports from Ohio, especially since the recent State convention at Cleveland. Hon. Milton J. Southard, who has just returned from Ohio, reports great enthusiasm and active work all over the State. In the Western Reserve, which is Garfield's stamping ground. No reports of the formation of clubs have been received without the accompanying intelligence that Republicans are enrolled as members. The Hancock veterans club has headquarters at Westminster hotel, and has representatives on its committee from nearly all the States.

STOMACH BITTERS

Why will you die? Death, or what is worse, is the inevitable result of continued suspension of the menstrual flow. It is a condition which should not be trifled with. Immediate relief is the only safeguard against constitutional ruin. In all cases of suppression, suspension or other irregularity of the "courses," Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is the only sure remedy. It acts by giving tone to the nervous system, invigorating the blood, and determining directly to the organs of menstruation. It is a legitimate prescription, and the most intelligent physicians use it. Prepared by J. C. Hostetter, Philadelphia, Pa. Sold by T. C. Smith and L. R. Wriston & Co., 157 N. 2nd St., Philadelphia, Pa. Sold by T. C. Smith and L. R. Wriston & Co., 157 N. 2nd St., Philadelphia, Pa. Sold by T. C. Smith and L. R. Wriston & Co., 157 N. 2nd St., Philadelphia, Pa.

and Hunter, of New York. The service was impressively read by Dr. Bacon and the choir chanted the funeral requiem. The few persons present, all of whom knew the deceased, were moved to tears. The coffin was then placed in the hearse, and was driven away to the St. Lazarus railway station, where the lady, Mrs. Albert Clinton and another lady. True to the last, they accompanied the remains to St. Germain du Lay, where they were interred in the Strangers' Cemetery. The expenses of the funeral were mostly borne by Mrs. Albert Clinton.

In 1833 or 1834 persons from the West came here and commenced a search for the heirs of Capt. Ford. To these persons it was alleged that Mrs. Baskirt, or Ford, represented that Emeline was the legitimate and only child of Capt. Ford, and selling her dowry interest in the Toledo land to them, she caused Emeline to convey the fee, receiving for it a small sum of money. There was, however, a sister named Elizabeth Ward, who, it is claimed, begged Mrs. Baskirt to undeceive Emeline and to deliver her child she really was, so that a fraud upon the purchasers of the property might be prevented. Meanwhile another party, observing the growing importance of Toledo, inquired as to the title to Ford's property, then vacant and unenclosed. After investigating some extent Capt. Ford's life, it is said, he learned that Emeline had the title to the property, and sent word to his agents here to see whether the title was clear. These agents found the marriage record of Capt. Ford and Lovey Baskirt in old St. Paul's parish records. After a great deal of fighting in the Ohio courts between the owners of the two titles, the case was finally decided in favor of the Baltimore party, depositions being returned to the court alleging that Elizabeth Ward had sworn that Emeline was the legitimate daughter of Capt. Ford and his wife Lovey.

Who is Mrs. Winslow?

As this question is frequently asked, we will simply say that she is a lady who for upwards of thirty years, has unflinchingly devoted her time and talents as a domestic physician and nurse, principally among children, she has especially studied the constitution and wants of this numerous class, and, as a result of her efforts, and practical knowledge, obtained in a lifetime spent as nurse and physician, she has compounded a soothing syrup, for children's teething. It operates like magic, giving rest and health, and is moreover, sure to regulate the bowels. In consequence of this article, Mrs. Winslow's name has become well-known as a benefactor of her race; children certainly do not know their mothers better than to this case in this city. Vast quantities of the Soothing Syrup are daily sold and used here. We think Mrs. Winslow's name is better known to the mothers of children here than to any other name in the city. We think Mrs. Winslow's name is better known to the mothers of children here than to any other name in the city. We think Mrs. Winslow's name is better known to the mothers of children here than to any other name in the city.

Hostetter's

STOMACH BITTERS

Why will you die? Death, or what is worse, is the inevitable result of continued suspension of the menstrual flow. It is a condition which should not be trifled with. Immediate relief is the only safeguard against constitutional ruin. In all cases of suppression, suspension or other irregularity of the "courses," Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is the only sure remedy. It acts by giving tone to the nervous system, invigorating the blood, and determining directly to the organs of menstruation. It is a legitimate prescription, and the most intelligent physicians use it. Prepared by J. C. Hostetter, Philadelphia, Pa. Sold by T. C. Smith and L. R. Wriston & Co., 157 N. 2nd St., Philadelphia, Pa. Sold by T. C. Smith and L. R. Wriston & Co., 157 N. 2nd St., Philadelphia, Pa. Sold by T. C. Smith and L. R. and Hunter, of New York. The service was impressively read by Dr. Bacon and the choir chanted the funeral requiem. The few persons present, all of whom knew the deceased, were moved to tears. The coffin was then placed in the hearse, and was driven away to the St. Lazarus railway station, where the lady, Mrs. Albert Clinton and another lady. True to the last, they accompanied the remains to St. Germain du Lay, where they were interred in the Strangers' Cemetery. The expenses of the funeral were mostly borne by Mrs. Albert Clinton.

In 1833 or 1834 persons from the West came here and commenced a search for the heirs of Capt. Ford. To these persons it was alleged that Mrs. Baskirt, or Ford, represented that Emeline was the legitimate and only child of Capt. Ford, and selling her dowry interest in the Toledo land to them, she caused Emeline to convey the fee, receiving for it a small sum of money. There was, however, a sister named Elizabeth Ward, who, it is claimed, begged Mrs. Baskirt to undeceive Emeline and to deliver her child she really was, so that a fraud upon the purchasers of the property might be prevented. Meanwhile another party, observing the growing importance of Toledo, inquired as to the title to Ford's property, then vacant and unenclosed. After investigating some extent Capt. Ford's life, it is said, he learned that Emeline had the title to the property, and sent word to his agents here to see whether the title was clear. These agents found the marriage record of Capt. Ford and Lovey Baskirt in old St. Paul's parish records. After a great deal of fighting in the Ohio courts between the owners of the two titles, the case was finally decided in favor of the Baltimore party, depositions being returned to the court alleging that Elizabeth Ward had sworn that Emeline was the legitimate daughter of Capt. Ford and his wife Lovey.
