

NATIONAL DEMOCRATIC TICKET.

FOR PRESIDENT, WINFIELD SCOTT HANCOCK, Of Pennsylvania.

FOR VICE-PRESIDENT, WILLIAM H. ENGLISH, Of Indiana.

STATE DEMOCRATIC TICKET.

FOR GOVERNOR—Thomas J. Jarvis. FOR LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR—James L. Robinson. FOR SECRETARY OF STATE—William L. Saunders.

COUNTY DEMOCRATIC TICKET.

FOR THE SENATE—Amosford Burwell. FOR THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES—A. G. Noel and Edgar H. Walker.

OUR PLATFORM.—The right of free birth, the habeas corpus, the liberty of the press, the freedom of speech, the natural rights of persons, and the rights of property, must be preserved.—HANCOCK.

We think that Daniels' thrilling eloquence is needed at home. We do not object to his speaking in Greensboro to-night. A little envious, perhaps.

It is our honest conviction that WINFIELD SCOTT HANCOCK is a pure and incorruptible man. When Grant asserts to the contrary he utters a wicked, malicious and palpable falsehood.

Gen. Hancock need not trouble himself about Grant. The American people will answer him on the 2nd day of November. In the meantime every Democrat in North Carolina should register.

Just such a complete vindication as Georgia has given Colquitt, North Carolina will give Thomas J. Jarvis on the 2d day of November. Mark the prediction, for its verification is as certain as election day dawns.

Gen. Robert C. Winthrop, of Mass., has written a letter in which he declares that the single consideration of the continued existence of the issue North vs. South determines his vote in favor of Gen. Hancock.

There is no act that it is possible for a man to perform equal in importance and dignity to voting upon election day. Even the risking of your life upon the battle field is inferior in importance to discharging your duty faithfully as a citizen.

The Republican party is the party of economy.—Statesville American. Economy with a vengeance. In the brief period of one legislative year the Republican party in North Carolina squandered nearly two millions of the people's money. And it is the same party to-day, with the same leaders.

Now, on the eve of another Presidential contest, when all the signs point to the election of a man without spot or blemish on his escutcheon, the Republican leaders, driven to desperation, propose to defeat the people's choice by making a huge pool and putting up millions to buy votes.

The editor of an agricultural paper in the State says it would be a tight squeeze to elect Jarvis if the election were to take place "to-morrow." If the aforesaid editor knows as little about farming as he knows about public sentiment in the State, we predict for him a brilliant career in his bovine divertimento.

Our correspondent is emphatically right. Too much cannot be said in praise and commendation of THOS. J. JARVIS. He has made the State an able Governor. He is an honest and plain man. He has made us a plain and honest Governor. He is an incorruptible man. His integrity has never been assailed except by an irresponsible and subsidized press.

The spectacle is now publicly presented to the country of a powerful combination of wealthy men in the great cities, formed for the sole purpose of carrying the pending elections by the free use of money.

For the first time since the organization of the government, corruption is openly proclaimed as the last resource of a condemned party to retain possession of power.

We understand that Mr. Pou, of Johnston county, said on the stump at Smithfield, on Saturday, that he does not support Garfield for the Presidency.—Raleigh Observer.

Doubtless a mistake. A man who does not scruple to grossly traduce the character of an honest man ought to be consistent and vote for Garfield. Pou has wantonly assailed Gov. Jarvis at the expense of his own stultification.

WHO IS THE LIAR?

Grant said to preacher Fowler— "He (Hancock) went south and removed the governor and commissioners that General Sheridan had appointed. I instantly telegraphed him not to appoint to office any man who had been removed, and to give me reasons by mail for removing them.

A corrected revision of the above reads: "When Hancock went South I published an order prohibiting him from appointing anybody to office who had been removed by his predecessor. After he had been down South some time, he made a pretty clean sweep of officers who had been appointed by Sheridan. I then telegraphed to suspend his orders of removal.

The facts are a matter of record and they emphatically contradict Grant. From McPherson's political hand-book—high Republican authority—we learn that Gen. Hancock did not assume command in Louisiana until the 29th of November, 1867, Gen. Sheridan having been relieved from command on the first of September preceding.

The board of levee commissioners in Louisiana was appointed May 8, 1867, and the order appointing them was suspended, as McPherson states, by President Johnson's direction on June 3. On July 27, of the same year the old board of commissioners were reinstated. The removal of J. Madison Wells as Governor, the appointment of Thomas J. Durant, and upon his declining to serve of B. F. Flanders, also occurred during the same interval, and prior to General Hancock's assignment to the department of Louisiana.

All these events occurred while General Sheridan or his immediate successor, General Mower, was in command. It is difficult to reconcile with these undoubted dates General Grant's "secret history" of these intrigues attending the displacement and subsequent reinstatement of the levee commissioners and General Hancock's participation therein.

Either McPherson, preacher Fowler or Grant has lied. In our opinion Grant is the liar.

"CRAZY" HANCOCK.

In his interview with the Methodist preacher Grant said:

After Hancock received that vote in 1864 he had "the bee" in his bonnet and shaped everything to gain Democratic and Southern favor. He was watched and planned and waited till at last he has received the Democratic nomination.

"He is crazy to be President. He is ambitious, vain and weak."

As pertinent to the above, without intending to dignify Grant by refuting a palpable and willful misrepresentation, we print the following letter, marked "confidential," which was written by Gen. Hancock to Blanton Duncan in November 1879. It was made public for the first time a few days before the Grant interview:

[Confidential.] Nov. 1st, 1879.—My Dear Colonel: Your note has been received. I do not occupy the position of a political candidate. I therefore have no views of a political nature to express. I am a soldier in the Federal service, and my usefulness as such and as a commander would be impaired if I should take open grounds in favor of the political views of any party.

If I am ever a candidate of a party for civil office it will be on the record I have made. I SHOULD NEVER MAKE ANY BID FOR SUCH OFFICE. If I were nominated by a party I would be governed by its platform, or would not accept the nomination. Therefore I shall pursue the even tenor of my way undisturbed by the ambitions which pursue some people. I am very truly yours, WINFIELD S. HANCOCK.

Are these the words of a "crazy and ambitious" schemer for the Presidency? They are the words of an honest man who would scorn the Presidency at the expense of honor and principle.

Grant has wantonly and wickedly slandered Gen. Hancock.

Why are the wounds of the war that have been healed torn open to bleed afresh? Why is it? How is it that the Republican party can forgive Mosby, the guerrilla? How is it that they can give high honors to Longstreet who led the army of the Confederates against Hancock at Gettysburg? How is it that Postmaster-General Key, after declaring the election of Hayes infamous, is received into the cabinet and made a judge for life? How is it that every man is forgotten and forgiven provided he is affiliated with the Republican party? If he is willing to give up his manhood, to surrender his principles, to say, "I subscribe to the dictates of the Republican party, and will be its slave," then honors and distinctions may be heaped upon him, but if the people of the South, in the exercise of their natural rights as American citizens, and law-abiding men have, and express an opinion, and will not obey the will of the Republican party, therefore it is that this contention must be kept up and this wide breach made constantly wider. Where does this policy of hate lead to? What is the inevitable result? We ask thinking men—not partisans and politicians and office-holders—the honest yeomanry—to pause and reflect.

It may be that a single vote will decide the presidential election. In the great election in the State of Massachusetts, the Governor was elected by a single vote, in Pennsylvania, it was the election of a Governor that decided a presidential election, and that Governor was elected by only 200 votes. In the recent contest of Maine the parties were so equally divided that a 100 votes decide the contest.

It is reported that Buxton has withdrawn from the canvass, and in his stead has been substituted a galvanized zinc figure, which it is confidently believed will be warmer and more like-like than the original and will create a much better impression. The Republican committee is negotiating with an Italian artist, temporarily engaged in grinding an organ, who promises to give the figure all the grace of pose and ease of manner of a Bonnat sculpture. Such enthusiasm in the Republican party has never been known.

TICKETS.

ROOMS DEM. EX. COMMITTEE, RALEIGH, Oct. 5, 1880.

In answer to many inquiries about the tickets to be used at the next election, we beg leave to notify the Democratic party that this committee have now in press, and will soon issue to the committees of the different counties the following tickets: 1. The State ticket. 2. The electoral ticket. 3. The judicial ticket. 4. And one ticket each for the two amendments to the constitution of the State.

By the Committee: OCT. COKE, Chairman. J. J. LITCHFORD, Secretary.

The South-Atlantic for October is to hand. It is eminently a Southern publication and deserves a liberal Southern encouragement. The present number contains a variety of prose and political articles. Daniel R. Goodloe furnishes an account of the abolition of slavery in the District of Columbia. It is a valuable and timely paper. Paul H. Hayne contributes a short poem; John Henry Jones, "The Song of the Old Mill Wheel," and Mrs. Skipwith Cole some pleasant rural verses. Among the prose papers are, "Short Sketches of the Old Southern Regime," "On the Ashley River," A New College Curriculum," "Leaves from My Grandfather's Journal" and "St. John's (Masonic) Orphan Asylum."

Look at the records of the government, and you will find corruption in every department—corruption in the Pension bureau; corruption in the Indian bureau; corruption in the Freedmen's bureau; corruption in the Interior Department; corruption in the Post-office Department; corruption in the Treasury Department; corruption in the Navy Department; corruption in the White House itself!

The whole land is reeking with corruptions. And the most terrific wrong that was ever perpetrated upon a free people, and a wrong before which all other wrongs fade into insignificance, was the wrong of 1876, by which the voice of the people of the United States was disregarded, by which their elected chief was consigned to obscurity, and there was placed in the chair of Washington a man who was defeated by the will of the people. And who was the chief instrument in that gigantic wrong? Whose name is identified with the crime? Garfield. And he is to be named President of the United States? Are we to be dishonored for all time by such a disgrace?

What shall the verdict be in North Carolina on the 2nd day of November? You must answer this momentous question then by your ballots. The responsibility is yours.

St. Julien is to have still another chance to recover from Maud S. his lost honors of being the fastest trotter in the world. The Prospect Park Fair Ground Association, of New York, has offered him a purse of $2,500 to beat his record of 2:11 1/2 on their track on Friday of next week.

Capt. James A. Lockhart has been nominated for the Senate from Union and Anson. It is an excellent nomination in every respect. Capt. Lockhart numbers conspicuously among the young men of mark in the State.

THE CENSUS LIE NAILED.

WASHINGTON, October 5.—General Walker, superintendent of census, this afternoon sent to the interior department a report upon the alleged frauds in South Carolina. The census officials at the interior department decline to make public its contents until Secretary Schurz's return on Friday, but I am able to state that it utterly disproves the allegations of the naturalization lists of the gains of the syndicates, and have made in a few years fortunes, in comparison with which the gains of Jay Cooke and his associates were small. I am credibly informed of one gentleman, largely interested in the affairs of this city, who, in the year during the past month has cleared over $400,000, and who publicly states that he will contribute $50,000, and if necessary $100,000, of it for Republican success.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7.—Seen on the surface there has been no change in the Ohio situation. The Republicans have four hours, but the Republicans have an uneasy feeling, which can be accounted for only by the influx of prominent Democrats of reputed sagacity from other States and the quiet captives that have been going on here and at Cincinnati between these visiting statesmen, of whom W. H. Barnum is the chief, and the local Democratic managers. The Republicans charge that these mysterious movements mean the opening of a barrel of barbed wire and the profusion of the increased complexity visible upon the countenances of those with whom Barnum has been in close consultation under lock and key. There may be something in this suspicion, and there is no doubt that the Democrats are anxious to send their money, but exactly what Barnum is doing with it will not be known until the returns come in. Nor is it any easier to tell what is the meaning of Don Cameron's hasty call at Mentor, with his associates, at various important points in Ohio, nor of what passed in a locked drawing-room at the Columbus depot last night, when Secretary Sherman and a few chosen friends high up in the political degrees were in secret session. All that can be said at present on this subject is that the business men of either party are settling down to business, and that it is not done how it will not be because either brains or money is lacking.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7.—A special to the Chronicle from all sections in Georgia indicate Colquitt's election by between 40,000 and 50,000 majority. The colored vote was largely for him everywhere. The full State ticket is elected, Benifer, the present treasurer, and an independent candidate, getting a good vote in some places. The Republicans make some gains in the General Assembly, and the majority of the next Legislature is conjectured to be in favor of Senator J. B. Brown's reelection. The election was quiet.

The Atlanta Constitution in summing up the result says: "Even if the reports of Editor Pendleton of Valdosta had been counted for Mr. Norwood, he would still lack the necessary majority."

Up Among the Stars.—The 1879-80 season's "Up Among the Stars" has been tested four "times" in its way, and is generally conceded to be the best of the kind ever published. It is a most interesting and valuable work, and is now being sold by L. R. WRIGHT, 107 N. 2nd St., Raleigh, N. C.

INDIANA AND OHIO.

The Thousands of Dollars Sent There by Republicans—Moneyed Institutions in Wall Street that Have Lived Off Syndicate Operations Made to Contribute Heavily—Inexperts Forwarded.

NEW YORK, October 7.—Mr. W. L. Scott, acting chairman of the National Democratic Committee, said yesterday that he had been informed that the approaching elections in Ohio and Indiana.

"Ohio has long been a Republican State in Presidential years. Our friends there have hopes of carrying it next year. While there are many indications that favor their hopes, we shall not be greatly disappointed if it goes Republican by from three to seven thousand. Indiana is a Democratic State. The people of Indiana, if free to express their wishes, would undoubtedly give a very large Democratic majority. The only possibility of defeating us there lies in Republican corruption and coercion. It is simply a question whether the State can be bought, intimidated, or defrauded. I do not believe it can, and, in spite of all the confidence of our friends that they will carry it, I look for a handsome Democratic victory there on the 12th inst. I know something of the extent and character of the efforts the Republicans are making. During the last few days $170,000 was raised by the Republicans in Boston, $100,000 in Philadelphia, and a very large sum in New York. Fifty thousand dollars was collected here by one person. And the gentlemen who met at the Union League Club in this city a few nights since, considered themselves a committee to raise funds in the interest of the Republican party in Indiana and Ohio, represented not less than from two to three hundred millions of capital. Two packages of $20,000 were shipped from Philadelphia to Indiana with the past week. Between 300 and 400 professional repeaters have been sent from this city, and one lot of 180 from Philadelphia. The principal portion of the latter are government employees and persons employed by the city government in Philadelphia, all of whom are receiving their pay while engaged in their nefarious work. The meeting of the Boys in Blue at Indianapolis is to be used as a cover for assembling desperate characters from all parts of the country, prepared to do desperate work on election day. The importation of negroes from the States, even from comparatively distant points, is carried on openly, and it is no secret that all the power that the United States government can exert in any way through its agents is to be used to save Ohio and Indiana to the Republican party. The gentlemen who are raising these vast sums for the October elections know that they are not for legitimate expenses.

"I can stand in the centre of Wall street and throw a stone that will reach the bankers and banking firms whose profits from government patronage amount to millions. One national bank, with a capital of $500,000, within the past four years suddenly accumulated a surplus equal to several times its capital. These banks and banking firms have monopolized the gains of the syndicates, and have made in a few years fortunes, in comparison with which the gains of Jay Cooke and his associates were small. I am credibly informed of one gentleman, largely interested in the affairs of this city, who, in the year during the past month has cleared over $400,000, and who publicly states that he will contribute $50,000, and if necessary $100,000, of it for Republican success."

THE ROMAN CATHOLIC CHURCH. St. Louis, Oct. 7.—Bishop O'Connor, of Omaha, Hennessey, of Dubuque, Hogan, of St. Joseph and Kansas, Regan of St. Louis, and Archbishop Kenrick of St. Louis, held a meeting yesterday at the residence of the archbishop to make arrangements for filling the vacancy at Nashville, Tenn., caused by the appointment of Bishop Fechan, of the diocese, to the arch-bishopric of Chicago. Names of three priests were selected and will be forwarded to Rome, where the Pope will select one of them for appointment to the Nashville vacancy. Several other matters were discussed, among them the proposition to divide the diocese of Iowa, but no definite conclusion was reached.

Dan Dougherty. Is it to be told me that Hancock, the glorious soldier whose blood flowed upon the battle field, who stood by the constitution in the hour of our emergency, is to be beaten? Never. Never; no never, so help me God. Bishop Kenrick, then, men of Indiana, in this hour of the extremest need of your country, cast up your votes to elect Mr. Landers, (Cries—"We'll do it!") to make him your Governor, and on the day that the vote is cast let him be proclaimed your Governor, one long, triumphant "God be praised!"

Trying to Indict Election Supervisors. NEW YORK, Oct. 7.—Police Justice Patterson (Rep.) at the Tombs to-day declined to grant a warrant for the arrest of the Federal supervisor of election for taking and retaining possession on the 1st day of August of naturalization papers of 1878. A complaint of the larceny of the papers was made by alderman Kirk (Tammany), and the justice's declaration was on the ground of want of jurisdiction, alderman Kirk being directed to apply to a Federal court.

Dismal Fires. GREENOCK, Pa., October 7.—A fire last night in the worsted mills here caused damages to the amount of $50,000. Nine hundred persons are thrown out of employment. CHICAGO, Oct. 7.—Camp & Walker's extensive steam mill, located near the suspension bridge at Minneapolis, Minnesota, was destroyed by fire last evening. Loss, $75,000; insurance, $7,500.

The Episcopal Convention. NEW YORK, Oct. 7.—Bishop Doane, of Albany, Rev. Dr. Brown, of Cleveland, and Rev. Dr. A. T. Porter, of South Carolina, officiated in the services at the opening of the second day's session of the Protestant Episcopal general convention to-day. The following assistant secretaries were appointed: Rev. Dr. Henry Austin, of Western New York; Rev. S. P. Scheffely, of Kentucky, and Rev. Dr. Palerthorp Hay, of Pennsylvania.

Yellow Fever. WASHINGTON, Oct. 7.—R. J. Pevey, health officer at Key West, Fla., telegraphs the national board of health, to-day, as follows: "A suspicious case died, yesterday, sick eight days. Another death this morning, reported yellow fever, following a continued debauch. No new case." The national board is informed that there were fifteen deaths from yellow fever in Havana for the week, ending September 25th.

Death of an Honest Man. ALEXANDRIA, Va., October 7.—Capt. James M. Stewart, postmaster of United States House of Representatives, died here to-day after a lingering illness, aged 54 years. He served in the Mexican war as lieutenant and in the Confederate army as captain. Was elected postmaster of the House of Representatives in 1876 and re-elected in 1878. He had held many offices of trust.

THE POWERS EXPLOPED. LONDON, Oct. 7.—A Vienna dispatch says: "The British and Russian cabinets have already given their opinion of the Turkish note; that it is altogether unfit to form a basis of further negotiations. While commencing this opinion the British cabinet has urged immediate resumption of combined action on a large scale, namely to make a naval demonstration near Constantinople without abandoning the demonstration of Duleigno."

NEW YORK, Oct. 7.—A dispatch from St. Petersburg, Oct. 7, says: "The Russian cabinet has given its opinion on the Hungarian note, and has decided to send a special envoy to St. Petersburg."

Up Among the Stars.—The 1879-80 season's "Up Among the Stars" has been tested four "times" in its way, and is generally conceded to be the best of the kind ever published. It is a most interesting and valuable work, and is now being sold by L. R. WRIGHT, 107 N. 2nd St., Raleigh, N. C.

A FORMIDABLE ALLIANCE

Between the Physical Force Party, Land League and Fenians in Ireland, Under the Leadership of Parnell. NEW YORK, Oct. 7.—A cable dispatch from Dublin says: Mr. Parnell has formed an alliance between the Physical Force Party, the Land League and the Nationalists, or Fenians. It must be clear, however, that the organization working side by side for a common object. The agitation is no longer merely a land movement. It is becoming more far reaching and it would be difficult to conjecture the results. Fenians hope for open rebellion; the Land League firmly expect to gain home rule, and it would be idle to deny that in case of a general strike against rent, which becomes more possible every day, the movement will be well nigh irresistible, for the entire army of England could not evict the people, and if they could, landlords would be still deprived of rent and would also be obliged to pay the cost of enforcing the law. What with land leagues on one side, to keep the people inflamed, and secret societies on the other, to intimidate and occasionally assassinate, such a state of affairs has been witnessed no Irish rebel has ever before contemplated. No Englishman at present realizes the direction which affairs are taking. It is beginning to be realized in the North where the idea gains ground that the Southern agitation threatens to become a separate movement.
