The liquor retailers again appeared before the board petitioning a further suspension of the operation of the ordinance adopted on the 19th of July, raising the license tax to $500 a year.

Messra W. H. Bailey and R. L. Osborne represented the petitioners. It was suggested on behalf of the petitioners that the immediate operation of the ordinance would work prejudically against those dealers who had taken out licenses for short terms, the effect being to tax them at the rate of $500, while others who had obtained them for a longer time ahead would be enjoying the same of the foreign to tax the same of the ordinance would be enjoying the same of the following:

Alderman Scott called for the ayes and noes on the question, and the vote was taken as follows: Ayes—Brem, Schenck, Edwards, Maxwell. Struck Blind and Dumb. "I can't see, sir," said a colored train hand to Capt. Robinson, of the Carolina Central freight train, at one of the stations down the road yesterday morning, in response to a question why he didn't come forward and help unload the freight. He was conducted to the platform and told to ride there until he reached the next station, and perhaps the fresh air would relieve him. When the next station was reached, it was found that the man could neither see nor speak. He was brought to the city and at last accounts had recovered neither of his senses. No one had heard him complain of sickness before his sudden attack, yesterday morning, and the mystery has not yet been explained.

"Pranks" To-night.

Of the company which is to appear at the opera house to-night, the Rich-mond State says: George Denham's "Pranks," which was played last night "Pranks," which was played last night at the theatre, is a medley of genuine fun, such as we have rarely seen on the stage, and it was carried through with excellent spirit by the great Denham himself and those Richmond favorites, Blanche and Ella Chapman, who after their long absence were enthusiastically greeted by their old time friends and admirers. Both were greatly improved, but neither looks a day older, and although Blanche is rather more womanly, and we may as well say too, motherly, and we may as well say too, motherly, yet Ella is as "childlike and bland" as ever, and just as full of life. The other parts in the little comedy were all well played, and "Pranks" is really a very meritorious and delightful bit of "first-class foolishness."

A third party movement, such as Mr. Hill hints at would be ground to powder between the upper and nether millstone, and meet with Norwood inovement in Georgia.
