Hiscock, of New York, member of the conference committe on appropria-tions, criticised the bill, which is chiefly remarkable in that in which it was deficient. It appropriates for internal revenue $30,000 in excess of the amount appropriated in the bill, and the appropriation for public printing was $700,000 less than should have been allowed. The Attorney-General had submitted an estimate of $100,000 to pay the special deputy marshals, which had not been allowed by the committee. THE PRESIDENT-ELECT'S CAR.

The ear in which Gen. Garfield came from Menter, belonged to General Man-ager E. H. Waldron, of the Lake Erie & Western Bailroad. It had recently been fitted up in excellent style. It is thus described: ,The inside is finished in regular Pullman style, patent platforms, couplings, wheels and all com-plete. The interior is elegantly furnished. At each end there is a drawing-room of comfortable dimensions, surrounded with plate-glass windows. The decora-tions of these drawing-rooms are done in Eastlake style, rendered more odd by many Japanese designs. Next to the drawing-room, in what might be called the front car, is a private sleeping apartment, used by the Presidentelect. Adjoining this apartment are toilet rooms, dressing chambers, wardrobes, and every necessary for the convenience and comfort. Next to this is a sitting room, supplied with berths for the accommodation of guests. The culinary department, though it is crowded in a small space, represents everything necessary for perfection in that most useful art. The car was refitted throughout with a new body Brussels carpet of Egyptian pattern, the whole making a snug and comfortable fit, done under the supervision of Robert Alexander. Cretonne lambrequins, with old gold and sage trimmings and bronze ball fringe, suspended on ebony rods with gilt rings and brackets, adorn each window of the sleeping apartment. Scattered throughout the car are Singapore and Kuruchee rugs of the finest quality in great profusion. The furniture throughout is as elegant as is found in

A LEGISLATURE BURNED OUT,

Destruction of the Minnesota State House, Libraries, &c.

St. PAUL, MINN., March 2.—Last night while both houses of the Legislature were in session the alarm of fire was sounded, which startled members from their seats, and rushing from the chambers they were confronted with falling fire brand from the dome of the capital, which was already ablaze. The Hook and Ladder company, with headquarters near by, hurried to the scene and with the aid of these ladders the members all escaped, some of them slightly singed. The building burned rapidly to the ground, entailing a loss to the State of over $100,000 for the structure and the loss of the historical and Supreme Court library, a much greater loss because they cannot be restored. The records were all saved, however, as they were in the vaults. One of the vaults contains over two million of State trust bonds which were saved. The Legislature has but two days to sit and the market hall is being fitted up for their accommodation. No insurance.

mr. G. Claysue, arst corner of the French Opera Company's orchestra, is certainly a gentleman whose good fortune many persons will envy. The history of the streumstances attending the streke of luck by which he became the possessor, suddenty, of fifteen thousand dollars, illustrates the fact that one is guided to the read to fortune sometimes by anothe apparently very instruite and fact that one is guided to the read to fortune sometimes by events apparently very insignificant.

Last Friday, Mr. Clayette was strolling along Rowal street, in the vicinity of Conti, when he chanced to ebserve a gentleman enter the office of Juan Jose Libano, No. 85 Royal, and inspect some of the tickets for the monthly drawing of the Leuisana Lottery Company. Mr. Clayette stopped and watched the proceedings, debating in his mind whether he, too, should try his luck. He saw the gentleman lay down a dollar and purchase half of a ticket. The number, of course, he could half of a ticket. The number, of course, he could not see, but he had remarked the place in the window from which the ticket had been taken, he walked in and purchased the remaining half of the ticket upon which his attention had been fixed. It was the number 98,5×6. But Wednesday came, and Mr. Clayette glanging came, the list of He held half of that ticket, and consequently mistake. "Seventy-five singusand francs for one dollar!" It was too much. They could not believe it.

Nevertheless, it was true, delightfully true, so far as Mr. Clayette was concerned. The writer met him on Thursday morning as he came out of the Louisiana Letters Company's office, on St. Charles sizeet, with a check on the Louisiana National Bank for $15.000.

Suffice it to say, it was Isaac Kern who had preceded Mr. Clayette in Libans's office, on Royal street, and purchased half of ticket No. 93,586.

He, tee, is now richer by $15,000.

"You are from France, I believe," remarked the reporter to Mr. Clayette.

"Yes," he replied in French, "this is my first yest to America. I came from Paris with Mr. de Beauplan's Opera Company."

"Is this your first speculation in lottery tickets?"

"No, indeed," said Mr. Clayette, "Thaye before Bought tickets in the Paris Lottery, but never won anything; and was beginning to think that I hever would be so forumate as to obtain a prize in a lottery." "You will not forget New Orleans when you go away?"

"Certainly not," he responded with a smile; "I have a beautiful souvenir of this city," pointing to
