EXTENDING THE LINE. The trouble between Conkling and Garfield is not nor will be confined to New York...

Judge Robertson feels sanguine of the defeat of Conkling and Platt.

"Gath" says that Conkling is worth from $200,000 to $400,000; Platt $200,000.

The Register is advocating the claims of Mobile as a winter resort for invalids.

Maj. John W. Daniel, of Va., delivered his lecture on the "Iron Horse" at Richmond Monday night.

Conkling's man Platt's initials are T. C. Thomas Conkling Platt would fit in pretty well.

The funeral of Thomas A. Scott was simple—no show, no display about it, in accordance with his own request.

Fence or no fence is a subject now meeting with the attention of Georgia agricultural societies.

Clarkson W. Potter is mentioned as one of the Democratic candidates for U. S. Senator in the election to take place next Tuesday.

The census authorities place the centre of population of the United States in Kenton county, Kentucky, a mile from the south bank of the Ohio river.

Dr. Geo. B. Loring, who succeeds LeDuc as commissioner of agriculture, is a Massachusetts man. He promises well in the start; but they all do that.

A Commandery of Knights Templar from Boston and one from Providence, R. I., are on a visit to Richmond, and Richmond is giving them a royal time.

Of the Republican papers in the country, only three, and one independent, New York Herald, sustain Conkling, and the Herald seems to have dropped him.

The measure of Senator Lamar's ambition ought to be full. He has received invitations from nine colleges in four States to deliver commencement addresses.

Archbishop Croke who has taken such an active interest in the cause of the peasantry is now the most popular man in Ireland. Everywhere he appears he is greeted with ovations.

Grain is now being shipped from the west to Europe by way of the Mississippi and New Orleans, for less than it can be sent from the west to the Atlantic seaboard by rail.

The Chamber of Deputies in Mexico has passed an amendment to the constitution making only native Mexicans eligible to either house of Congress.

It is now said that Gov. Cornell is in the race for Conkling's seat in the U. S. Senate. That would be rough on Conkling for he made Cornell governor.

The New York Herald's silence on Conkling for the past few days is ominous; not that the Herald is a leader of public opinion, but it is a remarkably close observer of passing events, and trims its sails to the wind.

Cyrus W. Field, who has just returned from a cruise around the world, says the streets of New York are filthier than any he has seen in his travels, and he visited some of the dirtiest cities in Europe, Asia and Africa.

Geo. Clark, of Patrick county, Va., is good on the keep. He has some tallow from a deer which he killed forty-two years ago, and a pocket comb which he has carried since he was a boy, though now over sixty years old. He ought to run a savings bank.

Leadville, Colorado, three years ago a mining camp, is simply now a prosperous and flourishing city. As an evidence of its progress "high school" has just been completed at a cost of $40,000, and equals in its appointments any school building in Philadelphia or Baltimore. These western people move fast and live fast.

Here's the way the Goldsboro Star, the colored people's organ, figures it up: In this State we have 98,500 colored to 33,500 white Republican voters, but in the division of the offices of appointment 10 1/2 out of every 20 are held by white men." The editor of the Star forgets that white Republicans have championed the cause of the colored men to control the vote and the spoils that vote would give. Giving office to the colored men never entered into their calculations.

SUNDAY CONFERENCE. To the American public it don't make much difference how Roscoe Conkling & Co. spend their Sundays, and if they choose to hold their convocations on that day at the house of Vice President Arthur that's their business; but we submit that it is hardly consistent in the leaders of the party which claims to be the great moral party of the country. In its platforms it invariably throws in a few planks to identify it with the highest sentiment of the age, and holds itself up as the representative of all that is pure and good in morals and in politics. Of course we know that this is only a pretense, to deceive that class of people who are easily humbugged and get their votes, for there is not nor cannot be much morality in a party which has incubated and sent into existence as many villains as that party has within the past two decades.

Though not piously inclined himself Vice President Arthur ought, in common decency, to show more respect to the Sabbath than to make it a political caucus day at his house. We fear Conkling is demoralizing him.

Shocking Steamboat Catastrophe-- Fatal Loss of Life.

LONDON, Ont., May 25.—This evening at 6 o'clock the steamer Victoria, with over six hundred excursionists on board was returning from Spring Bank and when near Cove railway bridge, one mile below the city, the boat suddenly collapsed like an egg shell and became a total wreck, level with the water's edge. All the passengers were instantly plunged into the stream, more than one half of the boat under the debris. The first news of the disaster which reached the city was brought by the survivors, who straggled through the streets wet and weary. The news fell like a thunder-bolt on the people, and a horrible panic met their view. Fifty or sixty bodies had already been recovered and were lying on the bank. Those arriving from the city from every direction crowded around, anxious to see if any relatives were on board. About one thousand families were represented on the excursion and the wail of anguish that arose at the sight of the victims was heartrending. Fathers, mothers, brothers and sisters rushed to the water's edge, endeavoring to identify the stricken, and endeavoring to identify the recovered from under the wreck, almost every minute some victims being brought to the surface and conveyed to the bank.

The steamer Princess Louise was early brought to the spot and the victims placed on the upper deck. Fires were lighted on the bank overlooking the river; petroleum torches were brought and search was continued until night. About 150 corpses have been secured. Among the dead are J. Robertson, a business man of the bank of British North America; J. C. Merdeth, clerk of the dividend court; Wm. McBride, assessor and secretary of the Western Fair Association; Mrs. Wm. Ashbury, of the agency of the Commercial Millman, of the Central Commercial Mill, of the present moment. The landing at the foot of Dundas street is now crowded with people, all waiting in breathless expectation for the arrival of the steamer Princess Louise with bodies. The total loss will aggregate 175. Mr. Matthews, night editor of the Advertiser, lost his wife and two children. Smart, of the Free Press, lost his wife, two children and sister-in-law, and one boy. Dr. Oronhyaketa, lost a boy aged 10. Among the missing are Miss Bailey; Alice Deadman, of New Brighton; Miss Griffith, of Bucks street, and Alfred Trimble, probably lost. All is in the deepest confusion. The newspaper staffs all else are sadly demoralized, all having friends involved in the calamity. The whole city seems almost demoralized to-night.

The accident was certainly due to gross carelessness. The boat was overcrowded to a disgraceful extent. Manager Geo. Parish was expostulated with by several at Spring bank and urged not to let the boat go out in that overcrowded condition, but he is reported to have replied "It's right, I know my business, or something of that sort."

Sam'l Stewart, a stove merchant, one of those who protested left the boat at Spring bank with his family. Several hundred more remained there unable to go past the narrow channel. The distance of four miles to-night, no conveyance of any kind being available. The telephone was in constant use between the water works and this city by friendly inquiries.

This disaster will at an end to the pleasure boat business, as hereafter people will not venture. The river, which has been the subject of many jokes and puns on account of its supposed shallowness, is in reality in many places 20 or 30 feet deep.

LATER.—The work of recovering bodies at the scene of yesterday's disaster is still going on actively. Up to this time 170 have been found and most of them were brought to the city. All the undertakers' shops are besieged with coffins and the undertakers are a large number of bodies remain on the grounds at Sulphur Springs but awaiting claimants.

Tennessee State Comptroller Enjoins Bribery Charge Against Member of the Legislature.

NAASHVILLE, May 25.—A bill was served on the comptroller yesterday by the sheriff of this county, enjoining the funding board from carrying out the requirements of the par and 3 per cent. funding act. The bill alleges that mineral and home railroad bonds, and bonds issued for war interest and other purposes were illegally issued; that the funding act was procured by bribery; that members of the Legislature were speculating in Tennessee bonds when the act passed, and that one member received $10,000 for his services in procuring the act. The bill further charges that the act is unconstitutional, because it appropriates a revenue for 99 years while the constitution prohibits appropriations for longer than two years; also, because it confers judicial powers on executive officers to pass upon the legality of the bonds; that by the coupon feature the school fund is diverted from its legitimate purpose; that it provides for funding bonds held by certain bondholders, but excepts bonds held by charitable and educational institutions; that the act fails to recite in its caption or otherwise the title or substance of the law repealed, revived or amended; that it repeals a section of the act of March, 1878, prohibiting the redemption of currency by treasury warrants, gold and silver, United States bank notes and old issue of the Bank of Tennessee for taxes, by making coupons receivable for taxes. The bill further alleges that the act is ambiguous and seeks to constitute of the act by the court. The bill of injunction was presented to Judge Williams Winchester and a fiat granted on the 20th of May. Comptroller Nolan, one of the members of the funding board, has filed a bill of injunction against the act, and the injunction until the return of State Treasurer Polk and Secretary of State Nunn.

AMONG OUR STATE EXCHANGES.

The Centennial Graded School at Raleigh has 708 pupils. Complaints of the sanitary condition of Raleigh are loud and long. Mr. John Spelman will revive the State Journal as an anti-prohibition organ.

The first through freight train on the Elizabeth City and Norfolk Railroad arrived in Norfolk on Saturday. The new Catholic church at Laurinburg was dedicated last Sunday with imposing ceremonies. Eliza Bullock, mother of the dead infant found some time ago near Wake Forest, has been arrested.

The Patriot announces the death, last Sunday morning, of Mr. Joshua Lindley, of Guilford county, the pioneer nurseryman of the South. He was in his 78th year, and through his long life was a good citizen and a good man.

The Governor has re-appointed the following notaries public, who have renewed their commissions under the new law, which requires them to be re-elected every two years: Omega H. Foster, Raleigh; W. L. Smith, Jr., Wilmington; O. D. Davis, Salisbury; Geo. H. Roberts, Newbern.

Deliberate Suicide. Major George W. Murphy, a well-known real-estate dealer of Pittsburg, walked into a river, alone on Friday evening, and informed the proprietor that he had taken eight or nine grains of morphia, and that he desired him to witness his will. He was taken to a hospital and died on Saturday evening. The deceased was a soldier in the late war, and was at one time cashier of the Pittsburg Savings Bank. After he took the poison he telegraphed to his wife, announcing his own death. He told those about him that the suicidal act was not prompted by business or domestic troubles. His life was insured for a considerable sum.

The Cotton Seed Oil Business. A conference of the cotton seed oil manufacturers of the South was held in Cincinnati during the week, and various matters connected with the business discussed. The transactions in this business now reach over $10,000,000, and the capital invested in it is over $50,000,000. The business is growing rapidly, and is assuming importance as another of the industries of the South. The cotton seed from the gin houses were formerly used as manure or left to rot in piles. Within the last ten years, however, their value as oil producers has led to the building of over fifty oil mills in the Southern States.

Chapel Hill Commencement. To the Editor of The Observer. We are looking forward to the approaching commencement at the University (June 1st and 2d) with much pleasure, and predict that it will be a higher order affair than the last. The University Railroad is not yet finished, we will doubtless have a much larger crowd than we have ever before had, as there have been made up, up to the present time, more engagements for the grand order of the visitors. It will be his privilege to hear that able divine and pulpit orator, Dr. William P. Harrison, of Washington City, who preaches the annual sermon. Dr. Harrison has a national reputation, and all we need say of him is, that he will certainly be here.

The address before the two literary societies will be delivered by our own peerless Senator, M. W. Ransom. The graduating class consists of thirty members. Among them are several fine speakers. The gentlemen that have been chosen to speak are: Messrs. W. J. Adams, Albertson, Avery, Joyner, Leach, Murphy, Pell, Rouse, Stewart, Thomas, L. W. Walker and Winborne. A large portion of the students will give a magnificent ball in honor of the graduating class. If there be a reader of your excellent paper who loves to mingle in the "giddy mazes" of the dance, let him come. I repeat it, let him come!

I beg you to insist that she come, and many warm and constant hearts will greet her coming. A STUDENT. Chapel Hill, N. C., May 24, 1881.

A Ross State Bond Issue. WASHINGTON, May 25.—Treasury officials believe that if revenues continue at the present average the entire series of 5 per cent. amounting to about 70,000,000, not converted into 3 1/2 per cent. bonds, will be in hand if not entirely converted, before the opening of the next Congress. If this prediction proves true, there will be no bonds other than recently converted 3 1/2 per cent. to be cared for until 1891.

North Carolina Indians to be Removed. WASHINGTON, May 25.—Arrangements have been made at the Indian office to effect the removal of about 70 of the North Carolina Cherokee Indians to the Indian Territory. This, it is thought at the interior department, is the first step toward the removal of the entire tribe, numbering about two thousand, to that territory.

WASHINGTON, May 25.—The internal revenue collector clerk at Atlanta telegraphs to-day on reporting the seizure of ten illicit distilleries: Three in Ibergham, four in Rabun, one in White Sulphur Springs, and one in Cherokee county. About thirteen thousand gallons of mash and beer were destroyed.
