

HOLIDAY.

As it has been the custom of THE OBSERVER to give its compositor's holiday on the 4th of July, there will be no paper issued from this office till Wednesday morning.

THE EXCITING NEWS OF YESTERDAY.

In our issue of to-day we give very full particulars of the attempted assassination of President Garfield. In every city in the South meetings were held expressing condemnation of the act, and tendering the sympathy of the people to the President and his sorrowing household.

ATTEMPTED ASSASSINATION OF THE PRESIDENT.

The country was shocked yesterday by the announcement of the attempted assassination of President Garfield, full particulars of which will be found in our telegraphic columns. We have no space for lengthy comment, but wish to express our hearty condemnation of the atrocious act and our earnest hope for the President's recovery.

According to Mayor Eckel, of Greensboro, the following is the showing for that town on the criminal record: The whole number of convictions before his court from July 1, 1880, to July 1, 1881, are as follows: Assault and battery, 35; nuisance, 72; gambling, 3; assault with deadly weapons, 9; keepers of houses of ill-fame, 3; disorderly conduct, 23; breach of the peace, 5; selling liquor without license, 16; fast driving, 2; firing pop crackers, 2.

The Battle Guard remarks that this is a good showing for a place of that size, and defies any town in the State, of equal population, outside of Northampton county, to make a better one.

Col. Valentine Baker, who some years ago was expelled from the British army for insulting a young lady on a railway train, and joined the Turkish army, where he signalized himself by deeds of bravery, has been re-instated, and his conduct "unbecoming a gentleman and an officer," seems to be forgotten.

The debt question is the big thing under discussion in Virginia. Lots of fellows over there that you couldn't collect $2.50 out of to save your life, who will mount the high horse and swear that the Old Dominion's honor shall be maintained, while on the other hand, Billy Mahone's gang, thousands of whom couldn't muster two shirts, swear the paying of the debt would ruin them.

John Burnside, the richest man in Louisiana, died at White Sulphur Springs, Va., Friday. He had eleven sugar plantations, worth $5,000,000, and a bachelor, without known heirs. It is thought his property will fall to a young man named Nelson McSlea.

Rev. John Jasper knocked the bottom out of the theory that the earth revolves, by proving, to his own satisfaction, that the "sun do move," and now comes one Mr. O'Kane, in the Philadelphia Times, to prove that the earth is flat.

Mr. Henry Seales, a well and favorably known young gentleman, formerly of Greensboro, but for some years a resident of Atlanta, Ga., was married in Atlanta on the 29th ult. to Miss Zui Berry, of that city. They are now in Greensboro.

The New York Herald, taking a recreation in the Conkling business, is instructing the British government how to dispose of the Irish question, by adopting the confederation plan of government.

Conkling can find time from his arduous labors at Albany to devote some attention to Mrs. Kate Sprague. He called on her last Sunday at the Westminster Hotel, in New York. He didn't send up his card, but got a boy to pilot him up to her "parlor."

The wife of Don Boucault, the actor and author, has secured a divorce in the New York courts, which allows her $500 counsel fee and $3,000 a year alimony. Don was too fond of other girls.

If they had cremated A. T. Stewart's bones they would have saved a good deal of money spent in hunting them up. But, then, maybe the enterprising grave bursters might have gone for the ashes.

Grant has sold his farm near St. Louis to Jay Gould for $75,000. For a poor man Grant seems to be getting along pretty well, which shows the advantage of having flush friends.

The law which Mayor King, of Philadelphia, has exempted to prevent the firing of pistols, crackers, &c., on the 4th, was passed in 1721, and slept since until King raked it out.

An organization is on foot to encourage immigration into Tennessee. The people of the State are taking great interest in the movement.

Among the New Jersey products is a new kind of mosquito, which is appearing by millions. We thought Jersey was well supplied with that article.

THE PRESIDENT ASSASSINATED.

HOW THE NEWS WAS RECEIVED IN CHARLOTTE.

Public Meeting of the Citizens and Resolutions of Condolence Adopted With Marked Unanimity.

Yesterday morning about 10 o'clock the news was flashed over the wires that President Garfield had been shot at the Baltimore & Potomac Railroad depot, just as he was about to take the limited express passenger train, for a trip to New England. Our information came in the shape of a special telegram from the agent of the Associated Press, at Washington City, and our bulletin board gave the first news of the attempted assassination, to the people of Charlotte.

It fell like a bolt from a cloudless sky, and our citizens manifested the keenest interest in learning the very latest information conveyed in our dispatches. Early in the day knots of people congregated on the sidewalks to compare notes and discuss the probable effects of Mr. Garfield's death. A deep sympathy pervaded all classes without regard to party lines.

Towards evening this feeling of sympathy culminated in a public meeting which took place at the court house about 5 o'clock p. m. This meeting, which we would like to describe more particularly, did our space admit, was presided over by Mayor F. S. DeWolfe to the chair, and requesting W. B. Griffith to act as secretary. The chairman briefly stated the objects of the meeting, and on motion of Gen. J. A. Young, a committee of five was appointed to draft resolutions expressive of the sense of the meeting. The chair appointed the following: Gen. J. A. Young, J. H. Wilson, Dr. J. H. McAden, W. R. Myers and A. B. Davidson.

Before this committee returned the proprietor of THE OBSERVER came in to the meeting with a copy of an "extra" containing the latest dispatches from Washington, and on motion the secretary was directed to read the contents of the paper in hearing of the meeting, after which W. H. Bailey, Col. H. C. Jones and Col. J. P. Thomas, in the order named, were called out and addressed the assembly.

The chairman of the committee on resolutions having returned meanwhile reported the following which were adopted unanimously by a rising vote: Whereas, We, the citizens of Charlotte, N. C., having been informed by the intelligence which flashed over the wires to-day, that a wicked attempt had been made to assassinate James A. Garfield, President of the United States;

Resolved, That the attempt made upon the life of the chief magistrate of our country is an assault upon the institutions of the country as well as upon the people of the several States, and should receive the severest rebuke and condemnation at the hands of a law-abiding and law-respecting citizenship.

Resolved, That we tender to the President our earnest sympathies in the injury thus wantonly and wickedly inflicted upon him, and our hopes that he may soon recover therefrom and be enabled, under the hand of Providence, to resume and discharge the functions of the high office to which the voice of his countrymen has called him.

After the adoption of these resolutions W. J. Yates moved that a synopsis of the proceedings of the meeting be telegraphed to the Secretary of State, and that a copy of the proceedings in full be transmitted by mail. Adopted.

Immediately after adjournment of the meeting the mayor sent the following dispatch: CHARLOTTE, N. C., July 2nd, 1881.

Hon. James G. Blaine, Secretary of State, Washington City, D. C.

A largely attended meeting of the citizens of this city was held at the court house this evening, to express the feelings of the community upon the attempted assassination of President Garfield. Resolutions expressive of the deepest sympathy for the President and family and earnest hopes for his recovery were unanimously adopted, as also resolutions of abhorrence for the deed committed. Copy of proceedings and resolutions forwarded to you and the President by mail.

F. S. DEWOLFE, Mayor.

W. B. GRIFFITH, Chairman.

Special to the Daily Charlotte Observer:

WASHINGTON, July 2.—President Garfield was shot this morning at the Baltimore & Potomac depot while on his way to New England. He received one ball in the arm and one between the hip and kidneys. Five physicians are in attendance and have probed for the ball in the hip without success. He is dangerously wounded, but may recover.

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 2.—The shooting was done by a slender man about 5 feet 7 inches in height. He refuses to give his name, but it is said by persons who profess to know him that his name is Guitau, and that he is an ex-convict to Marsailles. The man was arrested immediately and carried to police headquarters, and subsequently removed to jail. The shooting occurred in the ladies' room of the depot immediately after the President had entered, walking arm in arm with Secretary Blaine, on their way to the limited express train, which was about ready to leave. Secretary Blaine on hearing the pistol shots, two in number, rushed in the direction from which they came, with a view of arresting the assassin. Before reaching the man he noticed the President fall, and returned to him, and lifted him up. Both shots took effect, the first in the right arm and the second just about the right hip and near the kidneys. The physicians probed for the balls unsuccessfully.

Two companies of regulars were ordered from the barracks and have been posted around the executive mansion. Great excitement prevails in Washington, and the streets are thronged with anxious inquirers, eager to learn the condition of the President. The shooting occurred in the presence of 50 or 60 ladies. The President has been made as comfortable as possible and all persons have been excluded from the grounds.

The President is conscious and does not complain of great suffering. It is impossible to say as yet what the result will be, but the surgeons are of the opinion that the wounds are not necessarily fatal.

The following dispatch has been sent to the President's wife:

Mrs. Garfield, Elberon, Long Branch, New Jersey.

The President wishes me to say to you from him that he has been seriously hurt. How seriously he cannot yet say. He is himself and hopes you will come to him soon. He sends love to you. A. F. ROCKWELL.

LATER.—At 11:30 this morning the President's condition has improved and his pulse, which was as low as 53, has risen to 63. As soon as it reaches 70 the physicians will probe for the ball and then be able to tell the nature of the wound.

The man who did the shooting is Chas. Guitau, attorney at law, at Chicago. He is a foreigner by birth, and has been a very persistent applicant for a consulate, which was refused by the President. He has haunted the executive mansion for two or three weeks, and his not getting what he wanted it is believed resulted in temporary aberration of the mind.

The following has been forwarded by cable from the Department of State: WASHINGTON, July 2nd, 1881.

James Russell Lowell, Minister, Etc., London.

The President of the United States was shot this morning by an assassin named Charles Guitau, the weapon was a large sized revolver. The President had just reached the Baltimore & Potomac station, at about twenty minutes till nine o'clock, intending, with a portion of his cabinet, to leave on the limited express from New York. I rode in the carriage with him from the executive mansion and was walking by his side when he was shot. The assassin was immediately arrested, and the President was conveyed to a private room in the station building and a surgeon was at once summoned. He has now, at twenty minutes past ten, been removed to the executive mansion. The surgeons, on consultation, regard his wounds as very serious, though not necessarily fatal. His vigorous health gives strong hopes of his recovery. He has not lost consciousness for a moment. Inform our ministers in Europe. JAMES G. BLAINE, Secretary of State.

The following official bulletin, with regard to the condition of the President, has just been issued:

EXECUTIVE MANSION, 12:30 p. m.

The reaction from the shock of the injury has been very gradual. He is suffering some pain, but it is thought best not to disturb him by making any exploration for the ball until after consultation at 3 p. m. (Signed) D. W. BLISS.

The following physicians are in consultation at the executive mansion: Drs. Bliss, Ford, Huntington, Woodard, U. S. A., Townsend, Lincoln, Reynolds, Norris, Purvis, Patterson, Surgeon-General Barnes and Surgeon-General Wales.

Bulletins of the President's condition will be telegraphed every half-hour.

The district jail, a large brown stone structure, situated at the eastern extremity of the city, was visited by the associated press reporter shortly after 11 o'clock, for the purpose of obtaining an interview with Charles Guitau, the assassin of President Garfield. The officers refused admittance to the building, stating as a reason that they were acting under instructions from Attorney-General McVeagh, which were that no one be allowed to see the prisoner. Information had reached them that a movement to mob the jail was contemplated and a large guard of regular troops and metropolitan police was momentarily expected to repel any attack that might be made.

Charles Guitau is about 30 years of age and is supposed to be of French descent. He is about five feet, five inches in height; sandy complexion is slight, weighing not more than 125 pounds. He wears a moustache and light chin whiskers, and his sunken cheeks and eyes far apart which give him a "looney" appearance. The officer in question gave it as his opinion that Guitau is a Chicago communist, and that he has noticed it to be peculiarly of nearly all murderers that their eyes are set far apart. "Guitau," he said, "proved no exception to the rule." It is stated that two or three weeks ago Guitau went to the jail for the purpose of visiting it, but was refused admittance on the ground that it was not "visitors' day." He at that time mentioned his name as Guitau, and said that he came from Chicago. When brought to the jail he was admitted by an officer who had previously refused to admit him. A mutual recognition took place, Guitau saying, "You are the man who wouldn't let me go through the jail some time ago."

The only other remark he made before being placed in jail was that "Gen. Sherman would arrive at the jail soon."

This officer was in charge of the old city jail at the time of the assassination of President Lincoln.

The following letter was taken from the prisoner's pocket at the police headquarters: To the White House; July 2, 1881.

The President's tragic death was a sad necessity, but it will unite the Republican party and save the Republic. Life is a flimsy dream and it matters little when one goes. A human life is of small value. During the war thousands of brave boys went down without a tear. I presume the President was a Christian and that he will be happier in Paradise than here. I will be no worse for Mrs. Garfield, dear soul, to part with her husband this way than by natural death. He is liable to go at any time any way. I had no ill will towards the President. His death was a political necessity. I am a lawyer, a theologian and a politician. I am a Stalwart of the Stalwarts. I am with Gen. Grant and the rest of our men in New York during the canvass. I have some papers for the press which I shall leave with Byron Andrews and his co-journalists at 1420 New York avenue, where all the reporters can see them. I am going to the jail. CHAS. GUITAU.

The papers referred to have not yet been given out for publication. Byron Andrews, who is the Washington correspondent of the Chicago Inter-Ocean, says that while a package of papers in the hands of the police, accompanied by a note addressed to himself (Andrews), he has no personal acquaintance with Guitau, and never heard of his existence until this morning. From what has been gathered from the police Andrews believes that Guitau's home is in Freeport, Ills. The following letter was found on the street shortly after Guitau's arrest, the envelope unsealed and addressed to Gen. Sherman, or his first assistant, in charge of the War Department: To General Sherman.

I have just shot the President. I shot him several times, as I wished him to go as easily as possible. His death was a political necessity. I am a lawyer, theologian and politician. I am a Stalwart of the Stalwarts. I was with Gen. Grant and the rest of our men in New York during the canvass. I am going to the jail. Please order out your troops and take possession of the jail at once. Very respectfully, CHARLES GUITAU.

On receiving the above Gen. Sherman gave it the following endorsement: HEADQUARTERS OF THE ARMY, Washington, 11:35 a. m., July 2d, '81.

This letter was handed me by the minutemen by Maj. William T. Wing, United States engineers commissioner of the District of Columbia, and Maj. Wm. G. Brock, chief of police. I do not know the writer, never heard of or saw him to my knowledge, and here-by return it to the keeping of the above named parties as testimony in the case. W. T. SHERMAN, General.

LONG BRANCH, July 2.—So far the only particulars received of the shooting of the President is that learned from the following dispatch dated: EXECUTIVE MANSION, Washington, July 2nd, 1881.

To General Slocum, Elberon, N. J. We have the President safely and comfortably settled in his room at the executive mansion, and his pulse is nearly normal. So far as I can determine, what surgeons say, and from his general condition, I feel very hopeful. Come on as soon as you can. Get special advice of the movements of your train and when you can be expected. As the President said on a similar occasion 16 years ago: "God bless the government of Washington still lives." (Signed) A. T. ROCKWELL.

The following dispatch has been sent: WASHINGTON, July 2nd, 1881.

Hon. C. A. Arthur, Vice-President, New York.

At this hour (1 p. m.) the President's symptoms are not regarded as unfavorable, but no definite assurance can be given until after the probing of the wound at 3 o'clock. There are strong hopes that the President will survive the gravest anxiety as the final result. (Signed) JAMES G. BLAINE, Secretary of State.

ELBERON, LONG BRANCH July 2.—Gen. Grant has just arrived and expressed to your correspondent his deep regret at the attempted assassination of the President. Mrs. Garfield is almost frantic over the news. Her physicians are here, but do not expect to see the President until after the 3 o'clock probing. The utmost excitement prevails here over the sad news. A dispatch to Gen. Grant has somewhat relieved Mrs. Garfield's anxiety. It says: "The President's wounds are not mortal. Shot in the arm and hip."

EXECUTIVE MANSION, 2:45 p. m. No official bulletin has been furnished by Doctor Bliss since 1 o'clock. From the reports of the minutemen it has been growing more unfavorable since that time. Internal hemorrhage is taking place and the gravest fears are felt as to the result.

At 2:45 p. m., July 2.—The most intense excitement prevails throughout the city at the attempted assassination of President Garfield. All business is suspended and groups of men are assembled on every street, dumbfounded and anxiously watching the result. PHILADELPHIA, July 2.—The public is greatly exercised here over the news from Washington. Large crowds congregate at the bulletin boards of the two newspapers and telegraph offices and eagerly watch for news.

EXECUTIVE MANSION, 1 p. m., July 2. The President is somewhat restless, but is suffering less pain; pulse 112; some nausea and vomiting has recently occurred and considerable hemorrhage has taken place from the wound. D. W. BLISS.

WASHINGTON, July 2d, 2:10 p. m. The condition of the President is more unfavorable, and it is believed internal hemorrhage has commenced. 2:30.—The President's condition is more unfavorable.

THE VERY LATEST. 2:45 p. m.—Dr. Beckwith, an old physician of the President's, says he has but few chances of recovery and that he may not live twelve hours.

EXECUTIVE MANSION, WASHINGTON, D. C. Hon. Chester A. Arthur, Vice President, New York City.

At 2:45 p. m. (past three) the symptoms of the President are not favorable. Anxiety deepens. JAMES G. BLAINE, Secretary of State.

WASHINGTON, July 2nd, 4 p. m. Hon. Samuel S. Blaine, who has just left the bedside of the President, says there seems to be absolutely no hope of his rallying. His symptoms are growing more and more alarming and his death is thought to be very near.

EXECUTIVE MANSION July 2, 4 p. m.—The following official bulletin has just been received: The President's condition is somewhat favorable. Evidences of internal hemorrhage are being distinctly recognized. Pulse 122; temperature 99.5. That is a little below the normal. He suffers rather more pain, but his mind is perfectly clear.

The President is now sleeping quietly. He dropped asleep about minutes since. The bulletin issued at the executive mansion at 6 p. m. says the President has slept a few moments, but is manifestly weaker; pulse 120, and feeble. He is mentally clear, conversing intelligently when permitted to do so.

The following was sent at 6 p. m.: Hon. Chester A. Arthur, Vice President, New York City.

At this hour, six o'clock, the condition of the President is very alarming. He is losing strength and the worst may be apprehended. (Signed) JAMES G. BLAINE.

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 2d, 6:30 p. m.—The President is under the influence of morphia and consequently suffering much less pain than he was earlier in the day, but that his condition is critical in the extreme cannot be doubted. He will not survive an hour unless some almost miraculous change takes place in his condition very soon.

WASHINGTON, D. C., EXECUTIVE MANSION, July 2, 6:30 p. m.—The President failed a good deal between 4 and 6 o'clock, but there has been no perceptible change in his condition since the latter hour. The engine of the special train which is bearing Mrs. Garfield to Washington broke in a place near Bowie, but another engine had been sent and the delay will not be great.

Mrs. Garfield has just arrived and was at once conducted to her husband. EXECUTIVE MANSION, July 2d, 7 p. m.—The following telegram has just been

OUR STOCK OF BOOTS AND SHOES, FOR THE SPRING AND SUMMER TRADE,

NOW being received, is very attractive, and embraces a great variety of goods of the best makes, all of which we warrant. For Ladies' Wear we have the choicest selections of beautiful and seasonable goods of various grades, styles and prices, special attention being called to our line of Ladies' shoes, which for beauty and elegance of style, superiority of workmanship and finish, and good quality of material used, cannot be surpassed. Gent's Machine and Hand-sewed Goods, Boots, Putons and Congress Gaiters, Navy Ties, Oxford and Strap Ties, Prince Alberts, &c. &c. GOOD GOODS AND LOW PRICES. Please give us a call. A. E. RANKIN & BRO., Central Hotel Block, Trade Street.

sent by Secretary Blaine to V. F. Arthur: To Hon. C. A. Arthur, Vice President, New York.

Mrs. Garfield has just arrived at a quarter before seven o'clock. The President was able to recognize and converse with her, but in the judgment of his physicians he is rapidly sinking. (Signed) JAMES G. BLAINE, EXECUTIVE MANSION, 7 p. m.

The President's condition is not perceptibly changing for better or worse. His voice is strong and his mind unimpaired, and he talks freely with those around him. 8:25 p. m.—The President is again sinking and there is little if any hope. 8:30 p. m.—The President is sleeping pleasantly and is more comfortable; pulse 128, temperature 99, 1 slightly above normal respiration, 22 and more regular. D. W. BLISS.

The following was received at 8 p. m.: Mr. Blaine, Secretary, Washington. Telegram received. Express to Mrs. Garfield the profound sympathy of this legation. The Queen has sent to enquire and express solicitude. LOWELL, Minister.

EXECUTIVE MANSION, 9:20 p. m.—The President has rallied a little within the past three quarters of an hour, and his symptoms are a little more favorable. He continues brave and cheerful. About the time he began to rally he said to Dr. Bliss: "Doctor, what are the indications?" Dr. Bliss replied, "There is a chance of recovery." "Well," replied the President, cheerfully, "we will take that chance." The President is still sleeping.

10:30 p. m.—Postmaster General James has just sent the following telegram to New York: Secretary Blaine has just cabled to the foreign ministers that at this hour, 10:15, the President's condition has improved in the judgment of all attending.

10:20 p. m.—The President's symptoms continue to grow more favorable and to afford more ground for hope. His temperature is now normal. His pulse has fallen four beats since last official report, and the absence of blood in discharges from the bladder shows that that organ is not injured as had been feared.

11 p. m.—The following official bulletin has just been received: The President is resting quietly and is cheerful. Pulse 124, temperature 99, respiration 20. All symptoms are favorable. W. D. BLISS.

There is a theory which has many adherents that the attempted assassination was the work of a lunatic, and that the result of a plot much deeper and darker than has been suspected. It is a theory which is supported by the fact that Guitau had arranged beforehand with a hackman to be in readiness to drive him swiftly in the direction of the Congressional cemetery as soon as he made his appearance on returning from the depot in the morning. Guitau had had a bundle of papers in the hands of a boy with a view, it is maintained, to create a belief in his insanity in the event of his capture. Guitau said on his way to jail that the President's assassination was the work of a madman, and that he went to Long Branch for the purpose of shooting him there, and was deterred by the enfeebled and saddened condition of Mrs. Garfield, which revealed so strongly the sense of humanity that he came back without carrying out his intention. Those by whom Guitau has been examined since the shooting say that he shows no symptoms of insanity, and it is understood that the letter which has already been telegraphed, addressed "To the White House," is the only document in the collection which supports the theory of insanity. It is reported that Guitau had arranged beforehand with a hackman to be in readiness to drive him swiftly in the direction of the Congressional cemetery as soon as he made his appearance on returning from the depot in the morning. Guitau had had a bundle of papers in the hands of a boy with a view, it is maintained, to create a belief in his insanity in the event of his capture. Guitau said on his way to jail that the President's assassination was the work of a madman, and that he went to Long Branch for the purpose of shooting him there, and was deterred by the enfeebled and saddened condition of Mrs. Garfield, which revealed so strongly the sense of humanity that he came back without carrying out his intention. Those by whom Guitau has been examined since the shooting say that he shows no symptoms of insanity, and it is understood that the letter which has already been telegraphed, addressed "To the White House," is the only document in the collection which supports the theory of insanity. It is reported that Guitau had arranged beforehand with a hackman to be in readiness to drive him swiftly in the direction of the Congressional cemetery as soon as he made his appearance on returning from the depot in the morning. Guitau had had a bundle of papers in the hands of a boy with a view, it is maintained, to create a belief in his insanity in the event of his capture. Guitau said on his way to jail that the President's assassination was the work of a madman, and that he went to Long Branch for the purpose of shooting him there, and was deterred by the enfeebled and saddened condition of Mrs. Garfield, which revealed so strongly the sense of humanity that he came back without carrying out his intention. Those by whom Guitau has been examined since the shooting say that he shows no symptoms of insanity, and it is understood that the letter which has already been telegraphed, addressed "To the White House," is the only document in the collection which supports the theory of insanity. It is reported that Guitau had arranged beforehand with a hackman to be in readiness to drive him swiftly in the direction of the Congressional cemetery as soon as he made his appearance on returning from the depot in the morning. Guitau had had a bundle of papers in the hands of a boy with a view, it is maintained, to create a belief in his insanity in the event of his capture. Guitau said on his way to jail that the President's assassination was the work of a madman, and that he went to Long Branch for the purpose of shooting him there, and was deterred by the enfeebled and saddened condition of Mrs. Garfield, which revealed so strongly the sense of humanity that he came back without carrying out his intention. Those by whom Guitau has been examined since the shooting say that he shows no symptoms of insanity, and it is understood that the letter which has already been telegraphed, addressed "To the White House," is the only document in the collection which supports the theory of insanity. It is reported that Guitau had arranged beforehand with a hackman to be in readiness to drive him swiftly in the direction of the Congressional cemetery as soon as he made his appearance on returning from the depot in the morning. Guitau had had a bundle of papers in the hands of a boy with a view, it is maintained, to create a belief in his insanity in the event of his capture. Guitau said on his way to jail that the President's assassination was the work of a madman, and that he went to Long Branch for the purpose of shooting him there, and was deterred by the enfeebled and saddened condition of Mrs. Garfield, which revealed so strongly the sense of humanity that he came back without carrying out his intention. Those by whom Guitau has been examined since the shooting say that he shows no symptoms of insanity, and it is understood that the letter which has already been telegraphed, addressed "To the White House," is the only document in the collection which supports the theory of insanity. It is reported that Guitau had arranged beforehand with a hackman to be in readiness to drive him swiftly in the direction of the Congressional cemetery as soon as he made his appearance on returning from the depot in the morning. Guitau had had a bundle of papers in the hands of a boy with a view, it is maintained, to create a belief in his insanity in the event of his capture. Guitau said on his way to jail that the President's assassination was the work of a madman, and that he went to Long Branch for the purpose of shooting him there, and was deterred by the enfeebled and saddened condition of Mrs. Garfield, which revealed so strongly the sense of humanity that he came back without carrying out his intention. Those by whom Guitau has been examined since the shooting say that he shows no symptoms of insanity, and it is understood that the letter which has already been telegraphed, addressed "To the White House," is the only document in the collection which supports the theory of insanity. It is reported that Guitau had arranged beforehand with a hackman to be in readiness to drive him swiftly in the direction of the Congressional cemetery as soon as he made his appearance on returning from the depot in the morning. Guitau had had a bundle of papers in the hands of a boy with a view, it is maintained, to create a belief in his insanity in the event of his capture. Guitau said on his way to jail that the President's assassination was the work of a madman, and that he went to Long Branch for the purpose of shooting him there, and was deterred by the enfeebled and saddened condition of Mrs. Garfield, which revealed so strongly the sense of humanity that he came back without carrying out his intention. Those by whom Guitau has been examined since the shooting say that he shows no symptoms of insanity, and it is understood that the letter which has already been telegraphed, addressed "To the White House," is the only document in the collection which supports the theory of insanity. It is reported that Guitau had arranged beforehand with a hackman to be in readiness to drive him swiftly in the direction of the Congressional cemetery as soon as he made his appearance on returning from the depot in the morning. Guitau had had a bundle of papers in the hands of a boy with a view, it is maintained, to create a belief in his insanity in the event of his capture. Guitau said on his way to jail that the President's assassination was the work of a madman, and that he went to Long Branch for the purpose of shooting him there, and was deterred by the enfeebled and saddened condition of Mrs. Garfield, which revealed so strongly the sense of humanity that he came back without carrying out his intention. Those by whom Guitau has been examined since the shooting say that he shows no symptoms of insanity, and it is understood that the letter which has already been telegraphed, addressed "To the White House," is the only document in the collection which supports the theory of insanity. It is reported that Guitau had arranged beforehand with a hackman to be in readiness to drive him swiftly in the direction of the Congressional cemetery as soon as he made his appearance on returning from the depot in the morning. Guitau had had a bundle of papers in the hands of a boy with a view, it is maintained, to create a belief in his insanity in the event of his capture. Guitau said on his way to jail that the President's assassination was the work of a madman, and that he went to Long Branch for the purpose of shooting him there, and was deterred by the enfeebled and saddened condition of Mrs. Garfield, which revealed so strongly the sense of humanity that he came back without carrying out his intention. Those by whom Guitau has been examined since the shooting say that he shows no symptoms of insanity, and it is understood that the letter which has already been telegraphed, addressed "To the White House," is the only document in the collection which supports the theory of insanity. It is reported that Guitau had arranged beforehand with a hackman to be in readiness to drive him swiftly in the direction of the Congressional cemetery as soon as he made his appearance on returning from the depot in the morning. Guitau had had a bundle of papers in the hands of a boy with a view, it is maintained, to create a belief in his insanity in the event of his capture. Guitau said on his way to jail that the President's assassination was the work of a madman, and that he went to Long Branch for the purpose of shooting him there, and was deterred by the enfeebled and saddened condition of Mrs. Garfield, which revealed so strongly the sense of humanity that he came back without carrying out his intention. Those by whom Guitau has been examined since the shooting say that he shows no symptoms of insanity, and it is understood that the letter which has already been telegraphed, addressed "To the White House," is the only document in the collection which supports the theory of insanity. It is reported that Guitau had arranged beforehand with a hackman to be in readiness to drive him swiftly in the direction of the Congressional cemetery as soon as he made his appearance on returning from the depot in the morning. Guitau had had a bundle of papers in the hands of a boy with a view, it is maintained, to create a belief in his insanity in the event of his capture. Guitau said on his way to jail that the President's assassination was the work of a madman, and that he went to Long Branch for the purpose of shooting him there, and was deterred by the enfeebled and saddened condition of Mrs. Garfield, which revealed so strongly the sense of humanity that he came back without carrying out his intention. Those by whom Guitau has been examined since the shooting say that he shows no symptoms of insanity, and it is understood that the letter which has already been telegraphed, addressed "To the White House," is the only document in the collection which supports the theory of insanity. It is reported that Guitau had arranged beforehand with a hackman to be in readiness to drive him swiftly in the direction of the Congressional cemetery as soon as he made his appearance on returning from the depot in the morning. Guitau had had a bundle of papers in the hands of a boy with a view, it is maintained, to create a belief in his insanity in the event of his capture. Guitau said on his way to jail that the President's assassination was the work of a madman, and that he went to Long Branch for the purpose of shooting him there, and was deterred by the enfeebled and saddened condition of Mrs. Garfield, which revealed so strongly the sense of humanity that he came back without carrying out his intention. Those by whom Guitau has been examined since the shooting say that he shows no symptoms of insanity, and it is understood that the letter which has already been telegraphed, addressed "To the White House," is the only document in the collection which supports the theory of insanity. It is reported that Guitau had arranged beforehand with a hackman to be in readiness to drive him swiftly in the direction of the Congressional cemetery as soon as he made his appearance on returning from the depot in the morning. Guitau had had a bundle of papers in the hands of a boy with a view, it is maintained, to create a belief in his insanity in the event of his capture. Guitau said on his way to jail that the President's assassination was the work of a madman, and that he went to Long Branch for the purpose of shooting him there, and was deterred by the enfeebled and saddened condition of Mrs. Garfield, which revealed so strongly the sense of humanity that he came back without carrying out his intention. Those by whom Guitau has been examined since the shooting say that he shows no symptoms of insanity, and it is understood that the letter which has already been telegraphed, addressed "To the White House," is the only document in the collection which supports the theory of insanity. It is reported that Guitau had arranged beforehand with a hackman to be in readiness to drive him swiftly in the direction of the Congressional cemetery as soon as he made his appearance on returning from the depot in the morning. Guitau had had a bundle of papers in the hands of a boy with a view, it is maintained, to create a belief in his insanity in the event of his capture. Guitau said on his way to jail that the President's assassination was the work of a madman, and that he went to Long Branch for the purpose of shooting him there, and was deterred by the enfeebled and saddened condition of Mrs. Garfield, which revealed so strongly the sense of humanity that he came back without carrying out his intention. Those by whom Guitau has been examined since the shooting say that he shows no symptoms of insanity, and it is understood that the letter which has already been telegraphed, addressed "To the White House," is the only document in the collection which supports the theory of insanity. It is reported that Guitau had arranged beforehand with a hackman to be in readiness to drive him swiftly in the direction of the Congressional cemetery as soon as he made his appearance on returning from the depot in the morning. Guitau had had a bundle of papers in the hands of a boy with a view, it is maintained, to create a belief in his insanity in the event of his capture. Guitau said on his way to jail that the President's assassination was the work of a