WEDNESDAY, JULY 27, 1881. WANDERING NEEDLES.

Some Very Remarkable Cases. The London Lancet observes that the vagaries of needles which have been introduced in the body, and have escaped immediate removal, have in all ages attracted the attention of collectors of the marvelous in medicine. Hildanus related an instance of a woman who swallowed several pins and passed them six years afterward; but a more remarkable instance of prolonged detention was recorded by Stephenson, of Detroit-that of a lady, aged 75, who passed by the urethra, after some months' symptoms of vesical irritation, a pin which she had swallowed while picking her teeth with it in the year 1835-forty-two years previously. Occasional pain in the throat was the immediate symptom, but in 1845 she was seized with severe gastric pain, which passed away, and she had no symptoms until hæmaturia in 1876. This curious tolerance of such foreign bodies exhibited by the tissues is often observed in lunatic asylums. M. Silvy recorded some years ago the case of a woman who had a penchant for pins and needles so strong that she made them, in effect, part of her daily diet, and after her death 1,400 or 1,500 were removed from various parts of the body.

Another case almost as striking has been recorded by Gillette—that of a girl in whom, from time to time, needles were found beneath the skin, which they perforated, and were removed by the fingers or forceps. Concerning the way in which they got into her system, no information could be extracted from her. She was carefully watched, and in the course of eighteen months no less than 320 needles were extracted, all being of the same size. Most were black and oxidized, but some had retained their polish. The majority were unbroken. They passed out of various parts of the body above the diaphragm at regular intervals, but in a sort of section. They have in the same direction. Was rather majestic. Tall—over six feet—thin and rather high shouldered, manners simple, kind and courteous. His dress in form and color was quaint and old-fashioned, plain and neat—a dark pepper and salt coat, cut in the old Quaker fashion, with a single row of large metal buttons, knee breeches, ries and always in the same direction. The largest number which escaped in a single day was sixty-one. A curious phenomenon preceded the escape of each needle. For some hours the pain was severe, and there was considerable fever. She then felt a sharp pain, like lightning, in the tissues, and on looking at the place at which this pain had time at Poplar Forest, I went to the been felt the head of the needle was generally found projecting. The nee-dles invariably came out head foremost. No bleeding was occasioned, and Mr. Edward Coles, the youngest brothnot the least trace of inflammation fol-lowed. The doctor in attendance exsort of indurated canal. It was con-jectured that they had been swallowed ter to England, was then on a bridal lal intentions; but, on the other hand, the way in which the needles escaped in series, suggested that they had been introduced through the

That little weight is to be attached to the place at which the needles es-cape, as proof of their mode of introduction, is evident from a case recorded by Villars of a girl who swallowed a large number of pins and needles, and, large number of pins and needles, and, two years afterwards, during a period of nine months, 200 passed out of the hand, arm, axilla, side of thorax, abdomen and thigh, all on the left side. The pins, curiously, escaped more readily and with less pain than the needles. Years ago a case was recorded by Dr. Otto, of Copenhagen, in which 495 needles passed through the skin of a hysterical girl, who had probably swallowed them girl, who had probably swallowed them during a hysterical paroxysm; but these all emerged in the regions below the level of the diaphragm, and were col-lected in groups, which gave rise to inflammatory swellings of some size. One of these contained 100 needles. Quite recently Dr. Bigger described before the Society of Surgery of Dublin a case in which more than 300 needles were removed from the body of a woman who died in consequence of their presence. It is very remarkable in how few cases the needles were the cause of death, and how slight an interference with function their presence and movement cause.

Texas Railroads.

St. Louis Republican. During the year 1880 the number of miles of railway constructed in the State of Texas was 662.80. At the close of the year there were in operation within the borders of the State 3,300.96 miles, of which 2,772½ miles were of the standard gauge, and 528½ of the narrow or three-foot gauge. The area of the Lone Star State is so vast, and the population is increasing so rapidly, that railway projections are so numerous it is difficult to keep pace with the many movements being made in railroad building in Texas. As yet, though, Texas ranks as the tenth State in the Union in respect to railroad mileage. The probabilities are that before the present year draws to a close she will take her place about seventh in the rank. Already this year the number of miles of new road built far exceeds what was accomplished in the whole twelve months of last year. Fifteen of the Texas roads are extending their tracks, besides the work that is being done the lines projected during the year

The desire for narrow gauge roads seems to be on the increase in Texas. The greatest of these systems is the Texas and St. Louis, which will depend on the ether narrow-gauge connections to be formed in the next few years. Until its line is extended the Texas and St. Louis is apt to be fought bitterly by the standard gauge roads; more fierce-ly by the Gould system, because the narrow-gauge will run parallel to the Iron Mountain through the State of Arkansas. The Fort Worth and Rio Grande narrow-gauge will be completed to a point on the line of the Texas and St. Louis some time next year, and that will tend to still further complicate matters. From present indications the Gould combination are doing their utmost to shut out the Texas and St. Louis. The new branches recently ordered to be built by the Iron Mountain in Missouri and Arkansas are evidently with that and Arkansas are evidently with that men as Jim Boyd: "we can't afford to give up a great business just to save a purpose in view, and the purchase of the East Line and Red River road is another wise move on the part of Mr. Gould. He has ordered the gauge changed to the standard, and will extend it to points to which it is now the intention of the Texas and St. Louis to extend its line.

The indications are that before many vears Texas will afford so much business that there will be room for all the railroads, both standard and narrow-

A Pen-and-Ink Sketch of Thomas Jefferson.

The American Sentinel, a weekly paper published at Albion, Edwards county, Illinois, has commenced the publication of the history of the "English Settlement" at Edwards county in 1817-18. This history is by the late George Flower, who, in conjunction with Morris Birbeck, founded the colo-ny. Flower and Birbeck were marked men in their day. The latter particularly has left his impress upon the State for the active and efficient part he took in resisting the nefarious at-tempt to fasten slavery upon the State in 1823-24. He was an accomplished scholar and thinker, and the State has lished by the Sentinel, is very interesting, and a most valuable contribution to the early history of the State. Mr. Flower was an English gentle-man of education, intelligence and wealth, and had a large acquaintance with distinguished men both in Europe and the United States. In the fall of 1816 he made an extraordinary trip on horseback through Tennessee, Kentucky and Virginia, and in the winter of 1816-17 he became the guest of Mr. Jefferson at Monticello. The following is the description of Mr. Jefferson and Monticello given by Mr. Flower. We do not recollect having seen anything connected with Mr. Jefferson more interesting than the sketch of Mr. Flower:

"We entered the State of Virginia at Arlington. I found Mr. Jefferson at his Poplar Forest estate, in the western part of Virginia. His house was built after the fashion of a chateau. Octagon rooms, floors of polished oak, lofty ceilings and large mirrors betoken his French taste, acquired by his long residence in France. Mr. Jefferson's figure was rather majestic. Tall—over six feet—thin and rather high shouldered, Quaker fashion, with a single row of large metal buttons, knee breeches, gray worsted stockings, shoes fastened by large metal buckles-such was the appearance of Jefferson when I first made his acquaintance in 1816. His two granddaughters-the Misses Randolph-well educated and accomplishtime at Poplar Forest, I went to the house of Capt. John Coles, in Albemarle county. Mr. Isaac and Mr. Walter Coles, his brothers, lived with him. er, was then in England forming an acquaintance with Mr. Birbeck. The tracted 31s. They were sometimes held sister, Miss Coles, had just been marfirmly, and seemed to be contained in a ried. Her husband, Mr. Stephenson,

> "The greater part of the winter I passed at Monticello, the permanent residence of Mr. Jefferson, in Charlotte county. The chief charm of the visit was in the evening conversations with Mr. Jefferson, who gave me the inside history of events, before only known to me as to the world generally, in the published record, or outside history, which is all that the public is generally allowed to see. I was much attracted by the features of the country, and by the climate of Western Virginia. But the brand of slavery was upon the land. Dilapidated fences, decaying homesteads, wornout land everywhere met the eye, giving an uninviting aspect to a country perhaps more favored by na-ture than any other portion of the Union. In the spring I was at Washington, and present at the inauguration of James Monroe as President of the United States.

> "At the house of Mr. Madison I saw for the first time Mr. Edward Coles, who had just returned from England. "This Mr. Edward Coles was subsequently Governor of the State of Illinois, and to his energy and ability the State is indebted for the defeat of the scheme to make Illinois a slave State. A biographical memoir of the great services of Gov. Coles is now in pre-paration by the Hon. E. B. Wash-

The Hip-Pocket Question.

Louisville Courier-Journal. The right of the citizen to bear arms is not a right conferred upon the citizen to make himself a dangerous charzen to make himsen a dangerous char-acter and a menace to his fellow citi-zens. When the citizen abuses the right granted, the right must be modi-fied so as to remove the danger. The sale of deadly weapons must be restricted. At present gunmakers and pistol sellers sell these weapons to anybody without asking any questions. That indiscriminate sale can be stopped. It must be stopped. Boys, for instance, have no business at all with revolvers. They are, however, allowed to buy them freely. They early get into the habit of carrying such weapons. They very frequently at an early age shoot somebody. Under an electroplating of civilization we are degenerating into savagery. General weapon-carrying is a declaration that the country is not governed by law. That is the nat-ural inference, and honest citizens should seek to remove the foul imputa-

It Don't Pay.

Between $44,000 and $45,000 is the amount of Revenue which is derived from the liquor traffic annually in North Carolina, which traffic destroys each year not less than five hundred of its citizens. In other words, the State of North Carolina sells into an eternal slavery five hundred of its citizens annually, for the pitiful sum of $45,000, it being only $90 a piece.

Truly, this is putting the souls and bodies of men at a very low figure. Mother, would you take millions of dol-lars for your boy? "No!" you answer. Yet, the State, for the sake of raising ninety dollars as revenue, will deliberately take that boy from you and de stroy him, soul and body, leaving you to struggle through life with a broken heart, and you can't help yourself. And give up a great business just to save a few drunken sots." Oh, how cruel the policy of a State that sells for revenue human souls at the pitiful sum of ninety dollars.

Colorado as a Geld Producer. Colorado now stands at the head as a silver and gold producing State. Nevada carried the flag for years, but in 1880 she had to yield it up to Colorado. The list runs as follows: Gold and silver production for 1880: Colorado $23,-000,000, California $19,000,000, Nevada $15,000,000, Utah $6,000,000, Dakota $4,-000,000, Arizona $3,500,000, Montana $3,500,000, Idaho $2,000,000, Oregon $1,-000,000, New Mexico $600,000. Total $77,600,000. Colorado increased her production of the precious metals from

A LADY'S HAIR SAVED BY ITS USE. Burnett's Cocogine will keep the hair in a strong and healthy condition by stimulating the roots of the hair and restoring the natural action upon which its growth depends. Twenty years ago a single bottle saved a lady's hair in a desperate case where every other treatment had falled; and since that early success thousands of cases of baldness, dandruff, less of hair, and irritation of the scalp, have yielded to this remedy. The superiority of Burnett's Flavoring Extracts consists in their perfect purity and great strength. It Does Not Pay.

Anti-prohibitionists tell us that we must have prohibition, because of the vast revenue paid the State by the liquor dealers. For the year 1880 the total tax was $1,741,401.58, and of this vast sum the liquor license and per cent. tax was only $42,233.36. The honest laborer pays $97.50 every time the liquor revenue furnishes $2.50. This $42,233.36 costs in the crime it produces over four hundred thousand dollars. Think of this, you who would vote in this important election. The liquor traffic does not pay the revenue that its friends affect to feel that it does, but it blights homes, ruins prospects and causes mourning in the
