THE EVILS THAT ATTEND SUCCESS.

Success generally creates envy—envy begets hatred—hatred gives place to malice—malice prompts mischief, and so the baneful list goes on, followed by crime and wrong doing. The Louisiana State Lottery, established by the highest authority, meets with no exception to this rule. Its success, induced by integrity and honesty in its management, with liberality and charity have caused to apring up in New York opponents who try to circulate all kinds of false reports as to its permanence and ability to redeem its promises. Let every one who has a lingering doubt write to M. A. Dauphin, New Orleans, La., to establish the truth that all that is premised will be performed.

The First of the Season.

Prof. Vantog, "the champian knife-eater and red-hot man of the living world in which we live," was in town yesterday, having with much acuteness made his first appearance on Saturday.
He proposes to favor the city for some days with exhibitions of his unequaled appetite for unlimited quantities of swords and his supreme indifference to fire. His pavilion is located on Tryon yard, and last night his hearty invitations to the passers-by were backed by liberal offers to discount the comparatively trifling attractions of John Robinson's circum When a missing the state of the work, one-half at least of which increased force should be put on the Ducktown line, and other things, that we would grant an extension of four months from the street in the lot of Johnson's marble inson's circus. When a sufficient number of quarter-dollars had been bestowed in the professor's tow breeches pockets he dismounted from the box in front of the pavillion and appeared before his audience. But before beginning the performance, the professor with rare modesty retired for the purpose of assuming his gilded regalia to that portion of the pavilion immediately under the table, from which he cried encouragement to the musicians. But in spite of the diligence of these accomplished fiddlers, the Saturday night audience maninson's circus. When a sufficient number dlers, the Saturday night audience manifested some impatience, and it was only when the professor's voice sounded from below the cheerful assurances of his appearance as soon as his shirt was fastened that silence was restored.

The performance was opened with a jig in the Biddy McGee time. Then followed in quick and brilliant succession the complete absorption of a 27inch sword, the consumption of "flaming fire from the flery element," the

Gov. Vauce and the Western North Carolina Railroad-He Wants to be Put on Record as One of the States?

To the Editor of The Observer: In publishing the conversation had yesterday with your reporter, you have made some mistakes in relation to the affairs of the Western North Carelina Railroad. I beg to correct them, remarking, further, that the language used is the reporter's, not mine. The substance of the statement only Lam responsible for.

In the April meeting of the board it was agreed that if an application for an extension should be made by the proper parties, and proposing to put 1,100 hands at once on the work, onean extension of four months from the first of July, 1881. This you will see is slightly different from your statement.

Again, you say in relation to my letters to Gov. Jarvis and Dr. Worth, withdrawing my assent to the expected application, "From his action I presume Col. Andrews became aware of the letters and their purport." I did not so state it to your reporter. In fact, my letter requested the Governor as chairman of the board to inform Col. Andrews of my change of purpose, which he did, as well, I presume, of my letter to Dr. Worth. There was nothing improper in the way in which the information was obtained, the thing complained of being the manner in which Dr. Worth was induced to in which Dr. Worth was induced to sign the extension, in ignorance of my letter. In relation to your statement as to our grounds for ignoring that paper of extension, you are in error in supposing it was discussed and made the basis of our recent action. It was ignored by the simple fact of making that report to the Governor, as of course a legal extension of time would have condoned the failures embraced in that time.

There are some other slight errors in the statement, but they are not material to a proper understanding of the action of the commissioners. Z. B. VANCE.

To the Editor of The Observer. Your yesterday's issue contains a card from Mr. A. W. Clarke in which he seems to consider himself badly trea-

To disabuse the public mind of any erroneous impressions we will say we do not do custom work, but grind our own grain and exchange with parties coming to us at what we consider the same rate of cording to the face of the note, it bore 8 per cent. until paid. Judge Seymour. however, ruled that the 8 per cent. rate gin such work should go to custom mills however, ruled that the 8 per cent. rate held only to the expiration of the six months when the paper matured, at which time the legal rate of interest—6 per cent.—intervened. There is no decision in the North Carolina reports which covers the case. The court, however, referred to a decision of the Suever, referred to a decision of the Su-preme Court of the United States the matter there could be no unfairwhich involved the principle and sus-tained his view. Plaintiff appealed. Iness. Very respectfully yours, F. J. IRWIN & Co.,
