cor pallacelphia Times. MARLTON, N. J. August 30.—Some time ago a farmer's son in this vicinity caught a young watersnake and conceived the idea of forming a sort of happy family by placing the reptile and a newly-hatched chicken in company, with a view of ascertaining whether or not they would live contentedly together. Strange to say, they soon became inseparable and attracted the attention of all the neighborhood. The most curious feature of the case was to follow, however. The snake grew and the chicken grew, and in time the latter laid her eggs and began to hatch. Before many days clapsed the chicken was observed sitting on three eggs and the snake mear by was curled around one. The sight of a snake constantly encirching a hen's egg was so rare a sight that the result was a waited with great interest. Finally the egg was hatched. The eggs on which the hen sat produced regulation chickens, but from the egg over which the leptile kept watch came a curious family in a nature. It consists of a roester's body and claws with a perfect snake's head. The head is sunken into the neck somewhat and is stack out something after the fashion of a turtle's head. The creature has a forked tongue, like any snake, and the hen neglects her regular broad for the snake and the snake a Wisconsin has given up the pursuit of the Williams' brothers, who will be safe enough until they commit some other crime. The only relic found of them in the pursuit was a receipted tailor's bill, any man who pays a tailor cash down is pretty certain to escape the sheriff.—Free Press.

"That soup's full of files!" exclaimed the dis-gusted boarder. "I know it," coolly returned the landlady. "And do you mean to go on ladding it out to us?" "It's the best I can do. I can't board folks at $3 a week and pay for fly-paper."—Brook-lyn Eagle. A man who was up before an Austin justice for stealing a ham from the front door of a grocery store, raised up his hand and called on all the saints to witness his innecence. North China Herald. A Chinaman, when anxious to have a wife of his own nation, sends a letter to an agent in Hong Kong. A report-er has one of these epistes, but it is er has one of these epistles, but it is practically impossible to translate it into English. The following, however, is a condensed translation: "I want a wife. She must be a maiden under 20 years of age, and must not have left her father's house. She must also have never read a book, and her eyelashes must be half an inch in length. Her teeth must be as sparking as the pearls of Ceylon. Her breath must be like unto the scents of the magnificent odorous groves of Java, and her attire must be from the silken weavers of Ka-Li-Ching, which are on the banks of the greatest river in the world—the ever-flowing Yang-tse Kiang." A Marvelous Gold Discovery.

DEADWOOD, DAKOTA, September 2.—
Marvelous gold discoveries are reported from the Central Hills, thirty miles from this city. A vein feur feet wide is said to contain more precious metal than quartz. It is said that it runs $150,000 to the ton in the foundation. This mine was formerly under bonds to the Homestake company.

what may be called public auction.
The writer happened to be present at one of these sales. A young girl, aged about 19, was offered, and after some spirited biddings she was purchased by a wealthy Chinese storekeeper, whose place of business is in one of the leading towns of New South Wales, for £120. The melancholy aspect of the celestial girl as she went away in company with the man who purchased her was deplorable to the last degree."

The Ceal and Iron Mines of Tennessee are booming. They are about to receive an additional impulse from the investment of over a million dollars in the iron industry by several wealthy citizens of Nashville American interviewed James D. Porter, Esq., and obtained the following information: That himself, Vice-President Alexander, of the Louisville and Nashville Ladian in any other industry of the country as a productive. Taking the country as a whole probably the money value of the crops will be larger than it was last year, because the smaller surplus enhances the market prices, and as regards our foreign trade, if we receive as much money for a smaller quantity of produce, we will not be the loser. But for general prosperity at home it would be much better if there was more uniformity in the yield of agricultural productions. The higher prices which seem likely to prevail for the necessities and comforts of life, to say nothing of the luxuries, will materially increase the cost of living and this eventually must result in higher wages to operative, and obtained the following information:

A reporter of the Nashville American interviewed James D. Porter, Esq., and obtained the following information: That himself, Vice-President Alexander, of the Louisville and Nashville Railway. General Superintendent Thomas, of the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis Railway, and Nat. Baxter, President of the First National Bank of Nashville, had gone there to make a business investigation in behalf of capitalists who proposed to spend a million or more of deliars in blast furnaces along the line of the Nashville, Chattanooga & St. Louis Railway. They found the resources of the mines unlimited, and will make the most favorable recommendations to the capitalists who propose to make the investments.
