yourself.—Old Saw. If there's one thing we dis-like in another more than another, it's poverty, but it's mighty hard to correct.—New York Com-Sarah P., Thorp Springs: "Where should I wear an engagement ring?" Wear it on the second finger of the left hand, if everything is open and above board; but if you do not want the old people to know of the engagement, we would advise you to wear it in the right hand corner of an old striped stocking in the bottom of the bureau drawer.—Texas Siftings.

The Missouri Republican thinks corn culture everywhere neglected. It is rudely planted and seldom fertilized. It says from forty to sixty bushels an acre, on bottom lands, are considered good crops without fertilizing; but the same lands may be made to bring 150 bushels. If corn in the South received as much aftention as cotton what a as much attention as cotton, what a prodigious quantity would be harvested!

Professor Hutchinson, in one of his lectures mentioned a very interesting fact ascertained in Berlin. Among Roman Catholics, who prohibit marriages between persons who are near blood relatives, the proportion of deaf mutes is 1 in 3,000; among Protestants who view such marriages as permissible, the proportion is 1 in 2,000; while among Jews who encourage intermarriage with blood relations, the deaf mutes are 1 in 400.

Mr. Wm. H. Vanderbilt, it is reported, offered $150,000 for 200 acres at Greenwich. This piece of land commands a magnificent view of the Sound, and is known as the "Field Point." The New Haven Journal says: "A peculiarity of the town is that the land is held at high figures. A few families own a great many acres, and there is a sort of family pride in keeping them and handing them down to their descendants. Most of this property is taxed at farm rates."

The death, at Baltimore, of the daughter in law of Elizabeth Patterson Bonaparte recalls the romantic story of the American princess whom Napoleon the Great would not recognize. Had he welcomed the fair American and contracted an alliance with the United States, how different might have have been the inale to his history. But Napoleon was always wrong about women, and never had any luck after he divorced Madame Patterson Bonaparte from his brother and Josephine from himself.

ufacture of cloth has been demonstra ted a success, the progress is remarka-ble. In the past two years two new mills, the Enterprise and Sibley, with 180,000 spindles each, have been established; and a third; the King, has been organized with a capital of $1,000,000 and $30,000 spindles. The capital for these mills was furnished about one-fourth in Augusta and the balance in the North. With these mills running Augusta will have 170,000 spindles, and will have added about 70,000 spindles, and will have added about 70,000 spindles, and will have added about 70,000 spindles to the time he cancelved an idea that has fate was vrapped up in that of President Garfield and his condition improved and grew worse as the late. The EMES OF INVEREEST.

One of the first duties of a community," says Mayor Means, of Cincinnation in an interview, "is to protect its youth protect the boy first, and they will fresh and youthful in nature. match was one purely of love, inasmuch as neither party was everburdened with wealth. They had, however, what was better and more enduringbrave, sturdy and honest hearts, sus-tained by a spirit of truth and love, as are laid with pipes, through which the steam is conducted to buildings, whose owner pays for the privilege.

Well as by the supporting arm of a liberal education. From the moment the nuptial knot was tied Mrs. Garfield set about the business of liberal education. seriously than ever, could such have 032,866 pounds of cotton, and in 1880, been possible, and at once began 101,937,266 pounds, more than doubling wreathing with flowers the yoke she its manufactories in ten years. Judg- had assumed with such purity and afit is a modest estimate to say that its manufactories will consume 1,500,000 bales of cotton in 1890.

The Missouri Republican thinks corn culture everywhere neglected. It is rudely planted and seldom fertilized. It says from forty to sixty bushels an acre, on bottom lands, are considered and care to which some of even the greatest minds of the age have freely confessed their indebtedness. Nor was she a helpmeet to her noble partner in one or two relations only; for, from time to time, if report speaks truly, it was his habit in any circumstances of difficulty te draw upon her intellectual resources and unfailing clearsightedness. Obviously, therefore, they were as one in all that was essential to human happiness, and hence the everdeepening love and affection which has characterized their lives up to the present hour.

It will not, then, be difficult to con-ceive of her dismay and anguish when, ceive of her dismay and anguish when, on Saturday, the second day of July, the intelligence reached her at Elberon, New Jersey, that the President, her husband, was wounded, but "not dangerously," by an assassin at the depot of the Baltimore & Potomac Railroad at Washington. A few moments previously, delicate as was her health, her face had been radiant with joy; for on that day she was to have joined the President with their children in New York, and proceed thence with him and President with their children in New York, and proceed thence with him and some gentlemen of high official position to pay a visit to several points of interest East, and make a voyage along the coast of Maine as far as Mount Desert Island. In an instant the cup was dashed from her lips, and notwithstanding that the telegram containing the dire intelligence was couched in language the most cautious and considerate yet with an instinct not to be
