On the Railroad Question.

The following are opinions gathered from afar of our State exchanges on the subject of the all-absorbing question of the railroad controversy:

Consentum.

J. Best, President of the Mulee Road, telegraphs friends in Goldsboro that he has actually "broke year" at the Midland Road—has at work sixty hands and wants 1,000 more, in order that our readers may understand what he and what he is doing, we will say that this is the Paint Rock and Pigeon River branch of the Midland Mulee Road system, which is being built by Mr. Best's firm at Newbern. Now don't ask us again where he can be found.

It appears from the above (an extract from the Raleigh News and Observer) that the commissioners recognize the Richmond and Danville syndicate to legally hold possession of the Western Road, and now they require the syndicate to deliver back the road to Mr. Best if he—with his Boston syndicate—will reimburse them for all their expenses of money and time and labor, taking for granted that Best & Co. will build the North Carolina Midland road from Greensboro to Salisbury. Is it a fair question they propound? The Richmond and Danville Company do not feel inclined to accommodate them. Whether they will, is some what doubtful. The syndicate are taking largely in Best's stock. Best is a fast man. He buys the rails to build railroads before he begins to grade, and then finds that his syndicate's back is broke, and sells out in the late Western Railroad scheme, then goes and gets up another syndicate to buy more railroads. North Carolina wants no more "Best" food.

The "forward" brother, who says that we look forward to the support of a good conscience, is the chief reward of a good editor—the one that is not "plittable" or "unplittable" except by a good conscience, in that land where "the wicked cease from troubling and the weary are at rest." It is evident our contemporary didn't rise to the height of our meaning.

Charlotte must be a bigger thing than we supposed: Joy to Jones that is enough bigger to leave him some company besides those who sought to poison him. His friends are "all right" here.

Kernersville News.

A portion of the merchants of Charlotte held a meeting not long since for the purpose of denouncing the course pursued by the CHARLOTTE OBSERVER in the Best & Co. Railroad war, and went so far as to ask the State papers to publish the proceedings of their meeting. This fool-hardy request met with a stern rebuke throughout the State.

A negro boy about fifteen years old violated the person of a little eight-year-old daughter of Colon Klutts, in Rowan county, last week. He was arrested and is in jail.

Lenoir Topic: Genseng—"sang"—is one of the roots that brings cash. It sells at from $1.25 to $1.50 per pound and is found in the dark loamy loaves of the mountains.

Capt. M. V. Moore left Lenoir, last Friday, for Houston, Texas, where he goes to look after some manufacturing property belonging to him near that place.

Quarterly conference of Shelby District will be held at Hickory on the week including the second Sunday in October, Rev. Dr. Hudson, P. E., presiding.

A Good One on Gen. Easty.

John E. Easty, of Johnston County, N. C., who is now in the army, is the subject of a story which is being told in the Raleigh News and Observer. It is a curious fact that the census of Utah makes the number of females in that land of more than 100,000, or less than the number of males by 5,000. Abshurnham, Mass., January 17, '81

I have been very sick for over two years. They all give me up as lost cases. I tried the most skillful physicians, but they did not reach the worst part. The lungs and heart would fill up every night and distress me, and my throat was very bad. I told my children I never should die in bed until I had tried Hop Bitters. I have taken two bottles. They have helped me very much indeed. I am now well. There was a lot of sick folk here who have seen how they helped me, and they used them and are cured, and feel as thankful as I do that there is so valuable a medicine made.

Mrs. J. J. G. O'Connell.

It is easily proved that "malaria" fever, constipation, torpidity of the liver and indigestion, nervousness and neuritic ailments yield readily to this great disease conqueror, Hop Bitters. It repairs the ravages of disease by converting the food into rich blood, and it gives new life and vigor to the aged and infirm.

ANOTHER CANDIDATE

By a large majority the people of the United States have declared their preference for a remedy for all the diseases of the kidneys and liver. Some, however, have doubted the trouble of preparing it from the dry form. For such, new candidates appear in the shape of Kidney Pills. These are of a very pleasant taste, and are easily taken, and are equally efficient as the dry form.
