The Spaniard goes still further: "I am wet to my very marrow." But the Arab beats them all: "I am wet to my very entrails."

A married man writes in the Graphic. "Lovers never know that the obstacles which resist their intercourse are too often the very agencies which keep alive their love. When parties see too much of each other, love languishes. It doesn't die, but it may be smothered by satiety, by neglect, by petty cares and vexations, by many things which are involved in matrimony."

When Hayes at his inaugural kissed the Bible, his lips rested upon the words: "They have compassed me about; yea, they have compassed me abou, but in the name of the Lord will I destroy them." When Arthur did the same, the leaf was open at these words: "In Thee, O Lord, do I put my trust; let me never be ashamed; deliver me in Thy righteousness. Bow down thy ear to me; deliver me speedily; be Thou my strong rock, for an house of defense to save me."

President Garfield wrote almost prophetically to Mr. Hudson, an Ohio friend, on November 8th of last year: "I,believe all my friends are more gratified with the personal part of my tri-umph than I am, although I am proud

Ex-President Hayes thus explains why he removed Mr. Arthur from the New York Collectorship: "The issue with Mr. Arthur, as Collector of the Port of New York, did not arise from want of confidence in his capacity or ability, but on a question of method in reforming the civil service. The issue having been made, and Mr. Arthur declining to yield the point of difference, the alternative had to be met, and his removal was ordered, but with extreme removal was ordered, but with extreme Morgan, who is drawn out of the tomb of the Capued, in order to prove to those he left behind that he really could not help being a thief!" And yet the facts are sufficiently plain and simple, so plain and simple that any one should be able to understand them.

I at last reached the Governor's place, and takes the earliest occasion to put the seal of his Magisterial authority on Gen. Arthur and his friends, vetoing their bills and stigmatizing them as corrupt, and then he defeats the same Arthur's candidate for the Senate and throws him back on his empty office of Vice-President with contempt. Meanwhile, disgusted that such a national honor should ever have fallen upon such a rival, behold a tramp comes out of the street, fires a bullet and the President of the United States disappears, and in his place stands Mr. Arthur, the head of the whole nation, while Mr. Cornell is but Governor of New York.

A Lake 2,000 Feet Deep.

Jacksonville (Oregon) Record.

Several of our citizens returned last week from the Great Sunken Lake, situated in the Cascade Mountains, about seventy-five miles northeast from Jacksonville. This lake rivals the famous valley of Sinbad the Sailor. It is thought to average 2,000 feet down to water all around. The depth of the water is unknown and its surface is smooth and unruffled, as it is so far below the surface of the mountains that air currents do not affect it. Its length is estimated at twelve or fifteen miles and its width ten or twelve. There is a mountain in the centre having trees unon it. It lies still, silent, and myste-

After the battle of arms comes the battle of history. For the noblest man that lives there still remains a conflict. I would rather be beaten in right than succeed in wrong. Present evils always seem greater than those that never come. Growth is better than permanence and permanent growth is better than them all. It is one of the precious mysteries of sorrow that it finds solace in the unselfish thought.

An act of bad faith on the part of the State or municipal corporation, like poison in the blood, will transmit its

Brain Development and Moral Char-

London Lancett. It is not surprising to find the unlearned in things medical unable to understand that brain development, which of course is generally a matter of heredity, determines character. Such, however, is and must needs be, the fact. Wkether the mind is something outside matter which acts through or by the brain, as a musician may use a musical instrument, or whether, as some think, what we call mind is simply brain function, it should be mani-fest on consideration that upon the qual-ity and conformation of a man's brain must depend his mental capacity; and consequently, also, his characteristics, both intellectual and moral. We are not disposed to urge specialties of development as excuses for conduct, be-cause, given an average degree of intel-ligence and fairly strong will power, the individual is clearly responsible for his actions; but it must not be forgot-ten that his instincts of right or wrong, and the faculty of judgment with which he distinguished between good and evil, will be acute or dull in proportion as his brain is developed. The mind an element in politics we did not sufficiently take into our calculations—death. What part death has played of late among these busy aspirants for great honors and powers! Here is Conkling, twice defeating Blaine for President, and, in turn, dispossessed by Blaine, who rises to the head of the cabinet, and before he has become acquainted with the duties of his office, death steps in and takes the President, and behold Conkling's friend takes the Magistrate's seat; Cornell, the son of a wealthy man, who had nearly created Mr. Conkling and made him Senator, harbors the passion to be Governor of New York, and he finds himself antagwould be scarcely satisfactory to a pickpocket to have his brains (sic) examined, in order to prove to those he left
