A TRIO OF CONVENTIONS.

Yesterday was a day of conventions, New York and Maryland holding Republican and Massachnsetts a Democratic. The interest in these centers in the New York gathering, where rival factions meet and where issues involving the integrity of the Republican party may come up. But as far as we can gather from the telegraphic information received, the anti-Conkling people seem to have the controlling power in the convention. To what extent they may use this power remains to be seen, but if we are to judge from the remarks of the chairman on assuming the chair, we conclude that a conciliatory spirit will predominate. During Mr. Arthur's recent visit to New York it is probable that the situation was discussed and the policy of avoiding a contest considered and mutual concessions by way of a compromise decided upon. If, as is stated, the "half-breeds" as they are called, have a majority of over one hundred votes, it would seem that Conkling would have an up-hill job in running the convention if he should attempt it. He and his friends might bolt, but what they have to gain by bolting is not apparent. As they have practically control of the administration, if the half-breeds manifest a pugnacious

The Augusta Chronicle of yesterday contains a timely and friendly warning to the hotel and boarding house keepers of Atlanta, and others, against demand-Senate, supported Hayes and Sherman ing extortionate rates from visitors to the exposition. It seems from the statements of the Chronicle that prices have run up in some instances to fabulous figures, and people who charged before the exposition from $18 to $20 per month for board are now demanding from $50 to $60, and the hotels have gone up proportionately. NEW YORK, Oct. 5.-Members of the Republican State committeemetearly at the Fifth Avenue Hotel, and there was a large throng of delegates to the convention in attendance, and not a few prominent Democrats. The committee ormally assembled soon after 9 o'clock. The press was excluded but a number of non-members managed to press their way in. Chairman Platt conducted the proceedings. Upon motion of Gen. Sharpe, Frank Hiscock, of Syracuse, was agreed upon as temporary chairman of the convention. The selection seemed to give general satisfaction. Good feeling seems to prevail among the delegates. The convention was called to order at 11.15 a. m., by ex-Senator C. Platt. The academy of music was crowded, delegates from all parts of the State being present.

The academy was completely filled from auditorium to sky gallery. There were several hundred ladies in mezzanine proscenium and artist's boxes. Estimated that not less than 4,000 people are in the academy.

After prayer the roll of delegates was called, During the calling of delegates notices were given of contested seats in the 1st district; 2nd, 5th and 12th districts; 15th, 17th and 18th districts. On the call of Mr. Platt's name as delegate there was immense cheering. The name of C. M. Depew of the other side was called a few minutes afterwards and received with tremendous cheers. When Speaker Sharpe proposed Hon. Frank Hiscock for temporary spirit it will be in their power to rechairman, his speech was calmly retaliate in an effective way without a ceived. Senator Miller was introduced to the convention as its temporary chairman by ex-Senator Platt. He said on taking the chair that the delegates met to-day as a band of mourners and proceeded to eulogize President Garfield: "Whilst we mourn his untimely taking off we should bring a united and harmonious support to him who has succeeded our late illustrious chief." Senator Madden here proposed three cheers for President Arthur, which were given.

NEW YORK, October 5.—The report of the case of President Garfield, by Dr. Bliss, published in the forthcoming number of the Medical Record, occu-pies over 6 pages of that journal. He concludes his history of the case as follows: I desire to say in a brief review of the leading facts as to the general conduct of the case that it has been apparent to the medical reader that my prognosis was favorable and notwithstanding the mutations I augured a successful termination. It is but justice to myself to state that my prognosis was based on a lesion of minor importance. Had our diagnosis been correct modern surgery should have conducted the case to a successful termination. I believe the medical profession whom I address will bear me out that the prognosis was correct if the diagnosis had been also correct. I was not always able during the progress of the case to account for many of the more profound symptoms and yet could not succeed in learning of any more extensive or complicated lesions than were the first suspected. He makes inquiry of the profession whether more exten-sive explorations could have been safey made or whether the condition presented a knowledge of the relative posi-tion of the patient to the assassin, char-acter of the missile and condition of lesion and symptoms which follow would have directed investigation to-ward the actual track and lodgement of the ball; also whether if any known instrument or means of exploration has ever been presented to the profession capable of tracing before the death of said patient the course of this bullet: also whether the conditions could have been improved or mitigated or his life preserved longer by any other line of treatment

Dr. G. F. Shrady, Surgeon of the Presbyterian and St. Francis Hospitals in this city, says in an article on the case: From a careful study of the symptoms n connection with the examination of the autoptical lesions, the conclusion seems inevitable that the case was one which, commencing as a milder form of septicæmia gradually developed into a graver metastatic variety, or that generally understood as chronic pyæmia.

Dr. F. D. Weisse, Professor of Surgical Anatomy in the University of New York glores his review with the state. York, closes his review with the statement that there was sufficient grounds to warrant the diagnosis that was arrived at and maintained up to the time of the death of the patient and especially so in the absence of any evidence that the ball had taken a different course.
