GEORGIA GOLD.

The Working Up of the Great Frank-lin Mine—An Interesting Narra-Cor. Atlanta Constitution. I notice in the Macon Telegraph and Messenger an article credited to the Baltimore Sun, and in the Constitution Baltimore Sun, and in the Constitution one taken from the Marietta Journal, the incorrectness of which, and my knowledge of your care to be correct in all matters of news that you give through your columns to the public, leads me to this attempt to give you the exact facts relating to one of the most extensive gold mining operations ever undertaken in this country.

It has not been the wish of the par-

It has not been the wish of the parties connected with this enterprise to parade their business or names before the public, the fact of their being able within themselves to carry out their plans as arranged by their business manager, making it entirely unnecessa:

ry that they should be advertised.

About the year 1833 the father of Howell Cobb worked a gold mine in the second district, third section, of Cherokee county, Georgia, making it pay so well that many miners and prospectors were attracted to this immediate neighborhood, among them an Englishman by the name of John Pascoe, who had come from the mother country to seek his fortune at "Dahlonega, the land of gold. Unsuccessful in what is now Lumpkin county, and hearing of Mr. Cobb's "better luck," he went to Cherokee, arriving there in debt, without money, tools, or provisions, to com-mence work with, but he found a friend and benefactor in the person of Major Wiley Petty, a fine old-fashioned gentleman, still living upon, and owing a large plantation, adjoining what is now known as the "Cobb lot." Fitted out with provisions and means by this liberal hearted Georgian, Mr. Pascoe, (an experienced English miner), leased about ton across of land from the Leon. about ten acres of land from the Leonards, placing thereon a little wooden five stamp "pounding mill," contracting with the Leonards to bring on a little stream of water known as "Hurricane creek," and keep it on for a stipulated sum per year. That the Leonards "acted well their part" is evidenced by the fact that the ditch is now, after a lapse of forty years, in tolerably good condition. Mr. Pascoe was soon enabled, from the earnings of his little mill, to buy the property and add other territory to it, which he did, and dying a few years later, left a handsome fortune in money and lands, to be divided among his brothers and sisters, of whom Samuel Pascoe now lives on a portion of the large plantation. About this time Cherokee country, embracing, what are now called, Cherokee, Lumpkin, Dawson, and other counties, was surveyed by the State engineers and divided into lots, the sections where gold was known to be found being divided into forty-acre lots, the whole put into a lottery and drawn by the citizens of Georgia. Many of those who suddenly found themselves possessed of a forty-acre lot in an un-known section of the country, placed no value thereon, and paid no immediate attention thereto. Among this class was a widow lady in indigent circumstances, eking out an existence on a little one-mule farm. But the lady, Mrs. Mary G. Franklin, was surprised one week by offers to purchase her little unknown forty-acre lot from ten or twelve different persons, and becoming excited herself over the interest others felt in her lottery prize, she mounted her little mule, and after two days' ride saw for the first time the much sought after Cherokee lot. She saw, also, a score of men hard at work with pick, shovel and hammer, hand mortars and pans, on and in the vicinity of a ledge of rocks, panning out her gold and paying no tributes. These were soon dispersed, a trusty man left in charge, and DR. DYE'S

Electro-Voltaic Appliances
TO MEN Mrs. Franklin returned for her family, which she quickly brought, and immediately set to work pounding and panning, as she had seen the others do.

By the richness of the ore, with the facilities of convenient waters for washing, Mrs. Franklin was soon able to erect a rude stamp mill on the waters of the Etowah river which ran through her lot. A thorough business woman, everything was done under her immediate personal supervision and the proceeds of her mill enabled her to own her own labor and to add by purchase many other lots on the line of the veins that run through her original | city of Tunis. one. She built an elegant mansion on one of the most beautiful sites, commanding an extensive view of the Blue Ridge as well as of her large plantation then worked by her own numerous slaves. Mrs. Franklin educated her children to become statesmen and gave them professions, some of them becom-

By a happy coincidence a young man by the name of McDonald drew a lot adjoining Mrs. Franklin's and which proved equally rich. McDonald married one of Mrs. Franklin's daughters, made his fortune from his mine and subsequently became Governor of the State. These several properties now make a whole of some thirty-two lots and have at last been united by the efforts of the writer, extending through some eight years of hard work. During the last six months I have made forty-three trips from the mines to New York, Washington, D. C., Macon, Savannah and Atlanta, in all of which places some of the persons lived owning interests in the property stock of some company that had been formed on it, or held some claim or lien, imagined or real, all of which have been bought up by me for men living in Pennsylvania, who have bought it to work it, and who have thoroughly exploited the mine, using for this purpose the best skill that they could employ, and best machinery of modern times. As a result they have found a very extensive placer mine extending nearly four miles in length, and about a half mile in width, length, and about a half mile in width, with plenty of conveniences—water for sluicing. Also several quartz veins running the entire length of the property, with an average width of eight feet, some of them assaying from ten dollars to eighty dollars per ton. A hornblende slate vein, three hundred feet wide, every inch of it gold-bearing, with an average value of three and a half dollars per ton. With a mill dam five feet lars per ton. With a mill dam five feet | cause of his removal. and two inches high they have over one thousand horse water power for the reduction of ores. With more ore in sight than any mine in the west can show they propose to put up a three hundred stamp mill with all the necessary apparatus for separating the ores which are nearly all sulphurets and termed refractory. The concentrated sulphurets average two hundred and thirty dollars per ton and can be treated here or shipped. The property has been bought very low, but the parties buying have taken all the risk and spent their money freely, but with care, in thoroughly investigating the mines, and they could hardly set a price on it that would be too high; but they do not want to sell any portion of it. The Only Vegetable Compound that acts directly upon the Liver, and cures Liver Complaints, Jaundice, Biliousness, Malaria, Costinuous Liver and the Control of Pennsylvania have a better mine than the Ontario.

Salutes the President's Ship. YORKTOWN, Oct. 18.—There was a slight shower this morning and at this hour, 10 a.m., the sky is cloudy, with indications of more rain. The weather is cooler, however, and there is a pleasant breeze. Eight boats arrived between midnight and 8 o'clock this morning, bringing many troops and civilians, among the former were detachments from Delaware, Michigan, Virginia and New Hampshire.

At 10 o'clock salutes were fired from

Gen. Hancock's camp, and it is supposed the vessel containing the President was passing.

Br. Forster Justifies the Attack on the People by the Police. DUBLIN, Oct. 18.—Mr. Forster, replying to a corporation deputation, stated that the police in cleaning Sackville street acted upon instructions to prevent the mob from taking possession of the street. If the mob had been allowed to take possession the consequence would have been far more lamentable. He regretted that any one had been hurt, but said should a like occasion arise he would certainly make use of the same force. Forster concluded by saying it was the duty of law abiding people to keep out of the way and thus avoid being implicated in disturbances.

Rev. Sylvanus Cobb thus writes in the Boston Christian Freeman:—We would by no means recommend any kind of medicine which we did not know to be good—particularly for infants. But of Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup we can speak from knowledge; in our own family it has proved a blessing indeed, by giving an infant troubled with colic pains, quiet sleep, and its parents unknown rest at night. Most parents can appreciate these blessings. Here is an article which works to perfection, and which is harmless; for the sleep which it affords the infant is perfectly natural, and the little cherub awakes as "bright as a button." And during the process of teething, its value is incalculable.
