Murder in Wilson.

News and Observer.

WILSON, N. C., Oct. 18.—Our community was agitated as well as horrified this morning upon hearing of the murder, last night, of Carey Hill, colored.

The circumstances, as well as we are able to learn them, are these: Last night John Gardner, of this place, the ex-Governor of Virginia, tobaccoist and farmer, came upon the 11 o'clock train from Goldsboro, both drinking. For some very slight and unprovoked cause they gave the negro a terrible beating, which he has resisted. The conductor, hearing of the outrage, went into the car and put a stop to the row, and threatened to put the two white men off, but allowed them to remain upon a promise that they would keep the peace until the cars reached Wilson, which they did, but made threats of their intentions towards Hill when they reached Wilson. Hill, to avoid any further trouble, tried to evade them until the cars started, stepping on the platform of the rear coach just as it was leaving. May and Gardner, however, in their search passed from the front to the rear coach. Finding their victim, they made an assault with pistols, shooting him twice. One ball passed through his heart, killing him almost instantly. An inquest was held this morning, but the absence of the conductor and train hands leave out much material evidence.

An autopsy by Drs. Moore, Ruffin and Peacock, up to this hour has failed to find either of the balls. It is not known whether only one or both fired the shots. Hill was a quiet, well-behaved negro and has the sympathy of the entire community. May and Gardner have disappeared.

A WONDERFUL SHOT.

The Exhibition of the Young Nez Perce Indian Prince Otto.

Washington Republican.

The remarkable shooting of the young Nez Perce Indian boy, Otto, was witnessed Saturday night in Platt's hall, by a large audience of those interested in rifle shooting. The most remarkable feature of the exhibition was the lightning quickness of the boy. But very few of the attempts failed. The first shot was at a five cent piece on the head of a figure representing a man, and was a hit, the distance being fifteen paces.

The next feat was the cutting of a string that suspended a figure at the rear of the stage. The rifle was picked up from the stage by the lad after he had turned a somersault, and the shot was fired almost instantly. The most remarkable shot of the evening was accomplished by the use of peculiarly placed appliances in the following manner: In a small steel frame a pistol was suspended, and behind the pistol a razor had been fixed, and on either side of it was suspended a glass ball. The boy was then taken to the front of the stage and blindfolded, with his face to the audience. At the command "about face" he turned, raised his rifle, and, after only a momentary hesitation, fired. The ball passed through the pistol barrel, was split by the razor, and each glass ball was broken by half of the bullet. This shot is said to be due to the boy's wonderful gift of the power of location. The precision of the aim is secured by taking a position directly in front of the object, and aim is taken by the pressure of the rifle-stock against the shoulder and cheek. An exhibition bayonet drill followed. The boy was applauded for his marksmanship and dexterity.

Consequences of Corners.

N. Y. Letter to Phil. Ledger.

The official returns of the foreign trade of this port for the past month, present, even in a striking light, the injurious consequences of the excessive speculation in breadstuffs and provisions now in progress here and at Chicago. During September, last year, the shipments of wheat amounted to 6,180,991 bushels, valued at $67,897,360, at an average price of $11.13 per bushel, whereas for the same time this year these have dwindled down to 4,927,579 bushels, valued at $4,793,751, or an average of about $1.34 per bushel. The corn exports also show a falling off of $5,532,932 bushels, though in the valuation of the latter there is a decrease of but $1,557,451, owing to the one fact that the average price last month was 70 cents against 52 cents for September, 1880. If it be urged that we have received about as much money as we did last year for fewer commodities, the fact still remains that not only the great shipping interest, but numerous industries that are associated with and dependent upon it have had their activities restrained to a ruinous extent. The total exports of the month foot up but $33,857,408, a decrease of $4,041,952 compared with those of the corresponding month last year, and $3,136,708 compared with the same month in 1879. This is drifting astern pretty fast, and if the speculative parties in their present "corner" policy, it is easy to see what will be the consequence by the end of the year. Our foreign customers will be driven to develop other sources of supply, and when our ports are broken it will be fortunate for us if the wheat, corn and pork is not left on our hands.

A Costly Paper.

N. Y. Correspondence Phil. Ledger.

There are four men on the New York Herald who get $10,000 a year each. There are half a dozen who get $100 a week, and the working editors, those who handle the dispatches, etc., get about $70 per week. The new owners are for the most part paid according to the space they supply, but they are not dependent upon that for remuneration. Should they have no work to do, there is a liberal time allowed for them to secure them a fair salary in itself. But it is a poor week, even for the average space reporter, when he does not make at least $50. I have known them to average $100 a week for four months at a time. But let no one suppose they do not work for that, and I have one instance in my mind of a man who made $245 a week as an average for two months. He had to write three and a half columns a day every day in the week, and I fancy there are few men who care for much of that sort of thing, say for two months or more.
