AN IMPORTANT DECISION. Suits Against Hailroads Operating

Leased Lines in Other States. WASHINGTON Oct. 31 .- A question of much importance to all railroad corporations, which are chartered in one State and do business on leased lines in other States, was decided in the United other States, was decided in the United States Supreme Court to-day. The question arose in three cases of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company against Koony & Kunkhouser, which were brought here by appeal from the Supreme Court of Appeals of Virginia. The defendants in error sued the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company in a Virginia State Court for damages on account of the killing of damages on account of the killing of three persons several years ago in an accident on the Virginia Midland Railroad, which was at that time one of the leased lines of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad. The latter company filed a petition for the removal of the cases to the Federal Courts for the reason that the Baltimore and Ohio Company was a corporation of Maryland while the complainants were all citizens of Virginia. The petition was denied by the State court on the ground that the Bal-timore and Ohio Company by leasing the Virginia Midland Road became a corporation of the State of Virginia, and, as such, was properly liable to suits in the courts of that State.

This decission had been affirmed by the highest State tribunal. The Baltimore and Ohio Company brought the cases here on a writ of error. In an elaborate opinion by Chief Justice Waite this court holds that a railroad corporation which operates leased lines and transacts business in another State than the one where it is chartered does not by reason of that fact become a corporation of that other State. On the contrary, it car ies with it, wherever it goes, all its chartered rights and may claim all of its chartered privileges as a corporation of its own State by doing business away from its legal residence, which is at its principal place of business in the State which chartered it. It does not change its citizenship but simply extends the fields of its operations. In other words a Maryland company does not become a Virginia company simply because it leases a Virginia company's property. It retains its citizenship and all privileges which that citizenship confers, and it cannot be forced to trial in the Virginia State courts.

The judgment of the Virginia Supreme Court of Appeals is therefore re-

Why Planters are Poor.

Atlan'a Cor. New York Times. The credit system is an evil of, perhaps, greater dimensions than the all-cotton delusion. Aside from the de-moralizing influences which debt al-ways and everywhere has over those who incur it, the system of farm credits in the South has some mischievous tendencies peculiar to itself. Its effect is to make the planter the serf of the merchant with whom he deals. All his gains are his master's; he cannot sell except to that master nor buy of any other, and he must always pay the price demanded of him, but is compelled to accept what he can get for the crop. A farmer who is without capital goes to his factor in the spring and pledges to him by chattle mortgage er ortherwise the cotton crop he intends to raise during the coming season as security for the merchandise that he will consume while the crop is growing. On this security the merchant advances him money from time to time to nay his help and furnishes him.

to pay his help, and furnishes him seed, tools, bacon, molasses, flour, hay, and all farm and family supplies. It must not be supposed that these goods are charg-ed to the farmer at the cash price. If this were the case the credit system would be comparatively innocent. In general argument and discussion it is as being from 25 to 40 per cent higher than the cash price. The difference is really much greater. The Georgia department of agriculture has constally partment of agriculture has carefully investigated this matter, and its published statement shows that in north Georgia bacon sells on an average at 9 cents per pound cash, and 11 cents on time, an advance which, if we take into consideration the time for which the credit is granted—that is from the date of purchase until the first of November—amounts on an average to 44.5 per cent per annum on the cash price. Corn self for 64 per bushel for cash land 90 cents on time, an advance of 81.2 per cent. For the whole State the average advance on cash prices is, for bacon, 40 per cent per annum, and for corn, 61.4 per cent. To buy on credit in October a bushel of corn worth 64 cents and pay 90 cents to discharge the debt on No-vember 1 is equivolent to borrowing at 90 cents to discharge the debt on November 1 is equivolent to borrowing at 40 per cent per month, or 480 per annum. There is no occupation in the world, except, perhaps, successful bank burglary or diamond digging, which can be made to pay a return on capital borrowed at such a ruinous rate. Now can it be possible for the planter of the South to raise cotton for 8 or 9 cents a pound, sell it for 10, pay their exorbitant provision bills, and have anything left? As a matter of fact, few of them do have anything left. The factor, the buyer, the ower of gins, presses, and compresses, the shipper, and the manufacturer levy their toll on the cotton crop and all get rich. The poor farmer alone grows poorer, and his own folly is the cause of his poverty. Atlanta handles every year 120,000 bales of cotton. On every bale she levies various tolls and commissions, amounting in the aggregate to $150,000 or $180,000 a year for the city on its whole cotton business, exclusive of manufacturing and speculation. This money goes into the pockets of a limited number of men—a few hundred at most—in sums varying from $100 to $15,000 or more. The 200,000 action farmers of the State men—a few hundred at most—in sums varying from $100 to $15,000 or more. The 200,000 cotton farmers of the State do not average more than $40 apiece as their annual share of the profits for their year's work. If they raise 750,000 bales, selling for $7,500,000, their share of the profits at the liberal estimate of 10 cents per pound would amount to $7,500,000, or $37.50 each. By raising their own supplies and buying for cash whatever was needed to supplement home production, they could easily di-

ANOTHER CANDIDATE.

By a large majority the people of the United States have declared their faith in Kidney Wort as a remedy for all the diseases of the kidneys and liver, some, however, have disliked the trouble of preparing it from the dry form. For such a new candidate appears in the shape of Kidney Wort in Liquid Form. It is very concentrated, is easily taken and is equally efficient as the dry. Try it.—Louisville Post.
