THE STAR RING.

Rob Ingersoll Pleading Lustily to Give Them the Benefit of the Doubts.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—In the Star Route cases to-day Mr. Ingersoll proceeded with the argument which he the bottom of the Confederate bond commenced yesterday. Taking the second count of the information which charges conspiracy between Brady, French, McDonough and Brown, he showed the utter absurdity of the allegation that these men had conspired to have contracts awarded, as it was finally, to Walsh. He knew of no law to next Congress, the votes of five of prevent a man conspiring against himwhom the Republicans hope to be able | self, as McDonough, the original contractor on route 40,101, is represented to have been done. The result of the conspiracy was to take the contract from McDonough and to give it to Walsh. Passing to the third count which charges Brown and Brady with defrauding, and consulta-tion improperly and corruptly to have nounces the death of Lieut. Commandservice increased and expedited to the er A. H. Wright at Key West this amount of $74,450, he asked who was to judge of the necessity of a changed law to give right to judge of it to the Post Master General, and if the court was judge of it the facts should be clearly and accurately alleged facts, not conclusions, should be stated. How could it be shown that anything as charged was done in furtherance of a conspiracy unless the whole scheme was divulged? Consequently all the facts should be set forth in the information. After dissecting the information he took up the law no man can be taken from his home, roofed by constitution, simply because malice and ignorance united and honest ignorance does the swearing. The gentleman who spoke yesterday, said man who spoke yesterday, said he, (referring to Bliss) said that this thing could be done in the southern district of New York. If that is true the judge who allows it ought not to be permitted to sit on the bench which he disgraces by his presence. His ermine should be taken from him, because he robs the citizen of his liberty without any probable cause, without an oath of affirmation. If a judge does it, it is infamous, but true or not, it does not change the law. Strange ideas they have of justice in New York. [Laughter.] A man can be arrested and imprisoned without anybody in the world having sworn that he committed any offence over half a million of dollars on December 13th, Report from Washington says that in | sworn that he committed any offence | or anybody in the world swearing the event the Readjusters carry Vir- or anybody in the the diagram that he had violated any law. Said he: My client is a citizen. Upon official ignorance he explained that by saying that the Postmaster General had sworn to information upon what others told him. In closing he said, When my client is held up to public scorn and indignation it is about time that if there are any doubts they should be resolved in his favor, but instead of that, not satisfied with the harm done, not satisfied with the violalation of a custom of 160 years, not satisfied when they were afraid to present this case to the grand jury. Afraid, afraid-I use the word knowing what it means—when they were afraid to present it to the grand jnry, they came to this court having waited themselves for an expiration of the statute of limitation nearly, having then by affidativit illegal and void accomplished The widow of Governor Wiltzhaving The arrest and maligning of this man. They now say if you have any doubt, resolve that doubt against the defendant. I say if the court has any doubt as to whether this is or is not an infamous crime, stop. If the court has any doubt as to whether these affidavits amount to a probable cause, stop. No court can go on to final judgment—a judgment that takes from a man his liberty or his property without being as clear as daylight, as to his jurisdiction and power. The absolute knowledge that you have jurisdiction, makes you clear in your high office, and so I say, and not only I, but the law says, it, that if you have the slightest doubt, stop.
