A Chinese woman was shot in Cum Cook Alley, San Francisco, last Thursday night, by a Chinaman, because she splattered some water on him while washing her feet, and that means, according to Chinese superstition, a grave disaster. A Boston gentleman, eminent for his heavy and successful operations in mines and mining industries in the far West, made the following statement to a group of Northern and Eastern capitalists: "I have been two full days examining the mineral display at the Atlanta Exposition and I am so astonished over that hitherto unrivaled showing of precious metals, base metals and wide range of minerals generally, that it seems almost impossible to believe my eyes. I cannot yet quite comprehend that this great metaliferous belt of the South is unequaled in the Rocky Mountains."

Seth Low, of Brooklyn, a young millionaire, was elected mayor of that city. He announced from the beginning that he would not pay a cent to forward his canvass, and he did not. His success was as merited as was the defeat of Astor, who essayed to buy a victory. How shines this example when contrasted with the corruption of Virginia?

Augusta Chronicle: The tone of Gen. Sherman's speech, yesterday, in Atlanta, was manly and inspiring. Time, which has not dimmed the veteran's eye, has mellowed the old soldier's heart. If we interpret the tone of our dispatches, he was received in a respectful, unostentatious manner, and took part in the reunion of Mexican veterans, where his record was probably most satisfactory to all parties assembled. As a general and distinguished man, Gen. Sherman is entitled to respect, and as an American citizen he commands the courtesy of Southern people. Further than this, we see nothing significant or auspicious in his visit to Atlanta.

THE FARE TO ATLANTA.

A Medification of the Rates. THE OBSERVER has taken an active interest in the Atlanta Exposition, and whatever will tend to its success as the grandest exponent of the material resources of the South that has been exhibited in our day and generation, and as there was some complaint about the time allowed for the validity of tickets "Senator Voorhees will be a candidate sold, we have taken the trouble to write to headquarters for an official statement about the matter. In the reply, which we give below, it will be seen that the time for the valadity of the tickets, sold via the Atlanta and Charlotte Air-Line Railroad, To the Legal Profession of America. has been extended two days; that is, they are good one day going, four days Having carried Virginia, it is said (instead of two) in Atlanta, and one in my defence as I know more about

MAJ. POPE'S LETTER.

RICHMOND, VA, Nov. 14,—Yours of November 12th has my immediate at-tention. The period of validity for round trip tickets between Charlotte and Atlanta is six days, being one day public reception at Atlanta, and that going, four days for staying in Atlanta, the committee displayed very little sense in proposing it.

The New York sanitary board is raidinterest you take in the matter. We had carefully considered the best methods for the sale of these round trip ments without a view to comfort or Atlanta Exposition tickets, consistent with protection of all other passenger interests involved. I do not think it would be difficult for harmonious parties of ten.twenty.thirty or forty to be gotten up in your city and section, and I pre-sume that said parties would prefer to day in the week. If, later in the season when the programme for the exposition for the future developes itself more definitely. we find it necessary to arrange for particu-lar days for particular cities or towns, each question can be considered upon its own merits. The one cent per mile rates used on the Georgia roads that you refer to, only permit a three days validity, viz: one day to go, one day to stay and one to return; and from some of the points near Atlanta only 24 hours validity is

You will see, therefor, our position large numbers of people in a very few hours time and without there being sufficient miles or money involved in their transportation to enable revenue de-rived from regular through travel to be affected thereby.

I beg to assure you, however, that we are ready and anxious to do all that is possible to promote the success of the exposition from the standpoint of transportation, consistent with all other passenger interests, both local and hrough.

THE ASSASSIN'S TRIAL

THE TWELVE JURORS SWORN IN. More Interest Taken and a Greater Number of Respectable People is Attendance-Sampling the Jurors An Appeal to the Legal Profession for Help and Counsel, Which Reads

Somewhat Cheeky.

WASHINGTON, D. C. Nov. 16.—The attendance of spectators in the court room this morning shows that public curiosity is increasing, and a desire to witness the proceedings is daily grow-ing stronger among the higher classes in the community. There is a much larger proportion of ladies and well dressed people in attendance than on either of the first two days of the trial. Before 10 o'clock every space in the room was occupied. The lawyers on either side soon filed in and made their way with difficulty to their respective tables. The judge entered and the court was opened with the usual proclamation. Thereupon Guiteau was brought into court by police offi-cers and deputy marshals and being relieved of his handcuffs took his usual seat between his lawyer, Mr. Scoville, on one side and his brother and sister on the other.

The nine jurors already selected and worn were called and answered to their names, and then the names of the 75 men composing the panel for this morning were called. There were but few absentees. Then the work of testing their individual qualifications to sit as jurors in the case began. Several of the first batch confessed to having entertained very decided opinions as to the prisoner's guilt. One of them, how-ever, a laborer named Thomas, declared that he had neither expressed nor formed an opinion, that he cannot read and that he had never held any conversation whatever on the subject. Mr. Scoville remarked that this man was about the kind of juror that the law contemplated but that the defence did not want him. He therefore challenged him peremptorily. The next, a colored barber named Williams, answered all the questions in such a manner as to show that he was not disqualified and in his case too peremptory challenge was interposed by the defence.

Wm. H. Brawner, commission merchant, being closely questioned by Sco-ville, and no objection being advanced by the government, was accepted and duly sworn, making the tenth juror in the case. Geo. T. Keen, in response to interlocutions, said there was nothing under the sun which could change the opinion he had formed, and several other gentlemen were as decided in their answers as was Mr. Keen. During the examination of talesmen, the following statement was prepared by Guiteau, copied by his brother, and given to the press:

am on trial for my life. I form practiced law in New York and Chicago, and I propose to take an active part my inspiration and views in the case than any one. My brother-in-law, Geo. Scoville, Esq., is my only counsel and I heartily appeal to the legal profession of America for aid. I expect to have money shortly so I can pay them. shall get it partly from settlement of an old matter in New York and partly from the sale of my book, and partly from public contribution to my defence. My defence was published in the New York Herald on October 6th, and in my speech published November 15th, yesterday. Any well known lawyer of criminal capacity, desiring to assist in my defence will please telegraph without delay to George Scoville, Wash-ington, D. C. If for any reason application be refused the name will be withheld from publication. CHARLES GUITEAU.

The District Attorney then said it had been customary in cases of this kind to allow the jury one day to make arrangements relative to business matters, and therefore he asked for an adjournment until to-morrow.

Scoville arose and disclaimed all and any responsibility for the papers written and given out by Guiteau to the Guiteau sprang to his feet, and in an excited manner said: "I desire to be neard. I appear here in a dual capacity; first, as prisoner, and second, as counsel; and I want to have a final say in this matter. When I request counsel, the court can assign them; that paper was addressed to the legal profession, and I expect many responses to it. want it understood that I appear here in part as my own counsel, and until I request counsel I propose to defend The prisoner then resumed his seat.

DR. C. W. BENSON, of Baltimore, Md., inventor and proprietor of the celebrated Celery and Chamomile Pills. These pills are prepared expressly to cure Sick Headache, Nervous Headache, Neuralgia, Nervousness, Paralysis, Sleepessness and Dyspepsia, and will cure any case, no matter how obstinate, if properly used. They are not a cureall, but only for those special diseases. They contain no oplum, morphine or quinine, and are not a purgative, but regulate the bowels and cure constipation by curing or removing the cause of it. They have a charming effect upon the skin, and a lovely quieting effect upon the nervous system, simply by feeding its ten thousand hungry, yes, in some cases, starving absorbents. They make or create nerve matter and give power, force and buoyancy to the nerves, and in that way increase mental power, endurance and brilliancy of mind. Nobody that has a nervous system should neglect to take them two or three months in each year, as a nerve food, if for no other purpose. Sold by all druggists. Price 50 cents a box. Depot, 106 North Eutaw street, Baltimore, Md. By mail, two boxes for $1 or six boxes for $2.50, to
