MAHONEISH IN NORTH CAROLINA

The indications have been sufficient ly manifested to leave little doubt that a strong effort is to be made to Mahoneize North Carolina, and the Republican leaders in this State, backed by the party leaders at Washington, are laying their plans and manipulating the wires with that view. It is rather early yet to venture a surmise as to the success they have met with or the to be errors in Moore's school history encouragement that has been extended of North Carolina. to them thus far, but that there are certain men in the State who are prepared to strike out on a new trail in politics, if there be a reasonable prospect of success, we do not doubt. What following such may have is a matter of speculation, and depends, to a great extent, upon the policy pursued by the Demo cratic party.

We are not among those who are alarmed by the boasts that our enemies make; nor are we among those who shut their eyes to the dangers that threaten, and try to persuade themselves that the dangers have no existence. With a solid Republican vote on one side there is not Democratic margin enough to bear much cutting down by dissensions or by desertions. The first the wiley Republican mauagers will encourage, the second they will foster and bid for.

They have already begun to make it appear that the new movement alluded to has gathered formidable strength, which representations are grossly exaggerated for effect. Some of the manipulators have stuffed the New York Herald, which delivers itself thus, in a recent issue:

We are not surprised to learn that there is a movement in North Carolina among the young liberal members of the Democratic party to repeat the campaign against the Bourbons which has proved so successfully in Virginia. The highest result of the victory of General Mahone is to show to progressive, sensible Democrats in the South that there is no real value in a political and damned issues of the war. General Mahone has shown that Bourbonism is a blight upon Southern politics, and although he has been antagonized by perhaps the most powerful and intolerant combination that ever arose in American politics since the days of the Know-Nothing agitation he has shown the virtue and power which rests in the common sense of the American people.
We should be glad to see this movement extend to North Carolina. We desire the breaking up the color line. We want the negroes to vote on both sides of all political questions. North Carolina is a liberal State. In other days it was devoted to the principles of the Whig party. It contains a popula-tion of a high, thoughtful, courageous character. If a man like Mahone would arise in North Carolina, and fight a campaign upon the same principles that animated the campaign in Virginia, it would be a blessing to that State, a further assurance of the desire of the Southern people to be at harmony with the North, and would be fol-lowed by the dissolution of the Bourbon party throughout the South. This result is wished for by none so much as the best friends of Southern honor and prosperity.

not his act in removing the President was inspired by Deity or not. It was all nonsense to split hairs any longer over that word. It must be destinctly The information upon which the Herald bases its remarks, we suppose, is about as well founded as some of its prophecies, and about as consistent as the average political effusions of that remarkable political tumbler usually other witnesses, positively refused to answer several questions, his invariance. are. It would not be surprising to see something of that kind in the Washington Republican or in any other decidedly partisan Radical journal, but the Herald has always claimed to be a champion of honest government, and a champion of honest government, and out angrily, "You need not shake your the payment in full of honest debts, the bony finger at me, Judge Porter, I've very thing which Mahone does not propose to do. But perhaps we look for too much when we look for consistency in the Herald. But that aside, we don't es at which he had lived and became see where the Mahoneism, properly very uneasy as to the bad showing he speaking, can come in in North Carolina, for Mahone made his fight mainly on the State debt question, and that is not and cannot be made an issue in the case. The court must answer. this State. Our debt was "re-adjusted" so to speak, some time ago, so there is nothing left for the Re-adjuster to do, He would be without an occupation and even without a name; nor do the "dead and damned issues of the war" come in, for they, too, were put down in the ground some time ago. The ardent wish for a man like Mahone to "arise in North Carolina" will be disappointed, for in all this world there is but one Mahone, and North Carolina, with all her fertility of resources, could not possibly beget another.

The same condition of affairs does not exist in North Carolina that existed in Virginia, so the coalitionists have not the same inviting field of operanot the same inviting field of operations here that they had there, but still The prisoner with flushed cheeks and there may be found men disappointed the air of a tiger at bay, hurled his replies at Judge Porter for two hours, continually interrupting, however, the course of question and reply to insist to a new movement where they fancy they may fare better than they have tared in the past. But they are not among the men of big brain nor of large made against him was a marked fearmade against him was a marked among the men of big brain nor of large influence. They have neither the brains the dash, nor the cunning of Mahone. They are not the men that have led in the past, nor are they the men to lead in the future. There is not much to be apprehended from any defection of leaders, but the men who are manipulated and anti-cipating any point which might be made against him was a marked feature of the investigation. Judge Porter pressed him very closely to fix the day when he received his alleged "inspiration" to remove the President, and Guiteau finally shrieked out, "to remove all this loose talk I want you to know that I would have removed the President dent at any time between the middle of dent at any time between the middle of leaders. leaders; but the men who are manipu-June and the second of July if I had lating this movement on the Republifound an opportunity; I would have can side are shrewd enough to work up done it for the good of the American false issues and make the most of them | people. among the people by plausible pretense and cunning demagogism. It is not so much the square open fight that is to be dreaded as the sneaking, under-hand game that will be resorted to to "Mahoneize" North Carolina.

New York clergymen are given to discussing abstruse subjects in the pulpit, while subjects in which the great body of their hearers are interested are ignored. High-flowing discourses and a display of learning may do very well occasionally, but too much of them makes empty pews in the churches.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1.—The heavy shower which passed over the city about 9 o'clock, served to deter many from going to the court house to-day. At the opening of the court, however, every available spot in the court room was occupied. A majority of the visitors to-day were males, but still quite a number of ladies were present. Upon entering the witness-box, Guiteau, before resuming his evidence, made an appeal to the public for money to conduct the defense. Judge Porter then began a rapid fire of interrogations, eliciting from the from his home and forced to open the prisoner that he was physically a cow- doors, while the guards were disarmed and always kept away from per- and shut up in the guard sonal danger. The act of Jones and Mason in attempting to kill him was wrong, and they ought to be punished, unless they can show that they were inspired by Deity. The witness soon showed signs of impatience and excitability of the state of the bility, striking his open hand upon the desk and emphasizing every sentence he uttered. When pressed for answers he finally became obstinate and shouted to Judge Porter: "I know you well, and I know bigger men than you are. I've seen you shake your finger at witnesses in New York, but you can't scare me," and shortly after when ask-ed if he believed in the ten commandments to which he responded in the affirmative, and if he believed that the commandment, "thou shalt not kill," ought to read in his case, "thou shalt kill?" he became very much excited and violent and refused to discuss that mat-

Being pressed as to how he pro-posed to raise the funds which he had said he was expecting to receive, the witness replied I intended to borrow it from some of my friends," and told how he borrowed money. He was questioned as to the purchase of the pistol. American Public Health Association -- Papers Head. SAVANNAH, Dec. 1 .- The second day's session of the American Public Health Association was very interesting.

The following papers were read: Dr.
J. J. Speed, Kentucky, on insane sources of disease; Dr. A. J. Miles, Ohio, on the history of sunstroke mortality of 1881; Dr. J. F. Adams, Mass., on malaria in New England; Hon. Erastus Brook, of New York, on the duties of citizens to the State in maintaining public health; Dr. H. Isaac Jones, Scranton, Pa., on school hygiene; Dr. Albert C. Gorgas, U.S. N., on the pernicious effects of tobacco on youths; Dr. Louis A. Fulligant, on fraternity among scientists; one by Dr. C. B. White, of the sanitary association, on the yellow fever epidemic of 1878; one by Dr. Gustavus Deveron, of New Orleans; one by Dr. Moses Trundal, of Indiana, impure water and its danger; Dr. T. C. Dun-can, on the atmospheric effect locally; Dr. Speck, of Louisiana, on railroad sanitation; Dr. B. Joy Jeffries, of Mass., on the control of defective sight on land or sea; Dr. Albert L. Guion, U. The second trial of Wm. Neal, colored, for an outrage upon Mrs. Margaret Gosser, white, in March, 1880, commenced here to-day. Neal was convicted in May, 1880, and sentenced to death, but was respited and his case was then taken to the Supreme court, which set aside the verdict and ordered a new trial on the ground that the prisoner's own color had not been represented on the jury which convicted him. Challenges are being rapidly made and the jury will be secured to-day.

The Murderers of Mr. Lynch Lynche in Granville.

RALEIGH, N. C., Dec. 1.—A special dispatch to the News and Observer from Oxford, Granville county, says this morning about 3 o'clock a party of masked men, numbering between 75 and 100, took from the Oxford jail Jno. Brodie and Shadrick Hester, colored, charged with the murder of Mr. T. M. Lynch, and hanged them in a small grove near the spot where the murder was committed. The jailer was taken morning.

LABOR SAVING.

The demand of the people for an easier method of preparing Kidney Wort has induced the proprietors, the well known wholesale druggists, Wells, Bichardson & Co., of Burlington, Vt., to prepare it for sale in liquid form as well as in dry form.
