BUSINESS NOTICES.

A Down Town Merchant, Having passed several sleepless nights, disturbed by the agonies and cries of a sufering child, and becoming convinced that Mrs. Winslow's Soothing syrup was just the article needed, procured a supply for the child. Soothing syrup was just the article needed, procured a supply for the child. On reaching home and acquainting his wife with what he had done, she refused to have it administered to the child, as she was strongly in favor of Homeopathy.
That night the child passed in suffering, and the parents without sleep. Returning home the day following, the father found the baby still worse;
and while contemplating another sleepless night, the mother stepped from the room to attend to anne domestic duties, and left the father with the shild. During her absence he administered a portion of the Soothing Syrup to the baby, and said nothing. That night all hands slept well, and the little fellow awoke in the morning bright and happy. The mother was delighted with the sudden and wonderful change, and although at first offended at the deception practiced upon her, has continued to use the Syrup, and suffering crying babies and restless nights have disappeared. A single trial of the Syrup never yet failed to relieve the baby, and overcome the prejudices of the mother.
Sold by all Druggists. 25 cents a bottle.

The Adventure of a Jackses.

A dapper little Bostonian wearing gold eye-glasses and a miniature Derby hat, yesterday, while waiting on a Pullman car for the arrival of the Charlotte Columbia & Augusta train, made himself generally unbearable by fidgeting about asking snappish questions and abusing the South and Southern ways. Finally he approached one of the railroad employes whom he had before insulted with some of his uppishness, and "I want to know what's the population of this town." "You'll have to find out from some body else then," replied the railroad

"What's your name? I'll report you to-morrow, you impertinent puppy,' said the gentleman from Boston.

"You call me an impertinent puppy!" and the railroad man reached for his punch. But as soon as the cultured gentleman saw the hip pocket motion, he made a desperate break for the Pullman steps never looking to see what was behind him. The drawer of the dreadful implement suppressing his laughter gave a fiendish yell and made a noisy feint of pursuit. They do say the Bosting man beat the record in mounting the steps and making his way to the ladies' saloon, from whence he emerged not until the car left for the North.
