THURSDAY, DEC. 8, 1881.

More national banks were started last year than in any year since 1872.

The pinkeye has made its appearance among the horses at Norfolk, V.

Eastern papers are advising Hiseock to go West and grow up with the country.

A party is being organized in Wilmington to visit the Atlanta exposition.

There are about twenty-five men, as far as heard from, in Georgia, who want to be Governor.

Mississippi stands out solitary and alone without a national bank, and yet Mississippi is happy.

Gov. Blackburn, of Kentucky, says "four days at the Atlanta exposition are worth days of legislation."

Six within two weeks is the record of Judge Lynch's operations—two in the North, four in the South.

Broadstreet's Reporter estimates the cotton crop this year at 5,014,170 bales, 1,592,000 bales less than last year.

Ex-Collector Murphy, of New York, it is said will be given the place of Assistant Treasurer at Washington.

If the experts go back on the "inspired remover" an important feature of the Washington farce will be eliminated.

A new cotton factory with a capital of $100,000 is to be started in Wilson; $50,000 of the stock have already been assured.

Mr. N. Dumont, of this county, is one of the committee on credentials, at the Cotton Planter's convention which met Tuesday at Atlanta.

The Cincinnati Musical Society has offered Patti $18,000 to sing at the musical festival in that city, three nights next February.

They say that Keifer, the Speaker-elect of the House of Representatives was Conkling's man, which recalls the fact that sundry Republican journals informed us some time ago that Conkling was politically dead.

Coal is put out at the Pennsylvania mines at from $1.50 to $2 per ton. The dealer gets it for $2.50 and sells it at five, six and seven dollars. This is to rich people. The poor pay at the rate of ten dollars per ton.

Philadelphia Times: In all the comment on the Speakership fight the opinion is quite pronounced that Pennsylvania bossism is spreading. When it can run things at Washington it is not to be sneezed at, apparently.

The National Mercantile Travellers' Association is going to start a weekly paper at Atlanta, the first number of which will appear on New Year's day. We'll wager a pint of gobsters that it will be a rollicking sheet.

Richmond State: They do things better in England. Lefroy, the murderer, was tried and hanged promptly without any disgraceful scenes in the court or at the execution. But, then, England's law is only common. Our's quite uncommon.

The Richmond State has been figuring on how long it will take at the present rate of evaporation to dry up the waters of the earth, and finds it 7,000,000,000,000,000 years. We don't doubt this calculation, but are puzzled to know how the figurer got in the 99.

Much feeling is being aroused among the labor unions in the factory districts of New England against the Canadians who have been imported to work in the factories, because they work for lower wages and are taking the places of the native operatives.

The crowds are increasing daily at the Atlanta exposition. There were so many people there Tuesday that the ordinary places of accommodation could not hold them, and citizens had to throw open their doors, which they did in hospitable style.

An ordinance was passed by the city council of Richmond several months ago requiring the removal of telegraph poles from Main street, which will be contested in the courts by the telegraph companies as an infringement of their vested rights.

President Arthur has been summoned to appear as a witness in the Guiteau case by the defence, but Scoville stated that he did not care to have the subpoena served until he had seen the President personally. Guiteau wants Gen. Grant, Conkling and several newspaper editors summoned.

An investigation into the tax returns of the city of Wheeling, West Virginia, has developed the fact that people of the highest standing showed no compunction in defrauding the city by misstating the amount of their property. It is estimated that personal property of the value of $2,000,000 has not been returned.

Atlanta Constitution: Gov. Bloxham, of Florida, commenting on the advance of civilization in his State said: "A sewing machine agent sold a Singer to Tiger-Tail, the Indian chief of the Everglades, the other day, and after working it one day the old fellow kicked his wife out of his tent, which goes to develop a heretofore unsuspected danger in the sewing machine.

It is the opinion of President pro tem. Davis that the Republican party might die if the Democratic party would give up the ghost. But notwithstanding this opinion the Democratic party will persist in living right along, and keeping the Republican party alive. This is eminently considerate, and shows the generous unselfishness of the Democratic party.

THE PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE.

The President's message, which has been eagerly looked for by the American people as an index of the policy to be pursued by the new administration, is a somewhat voluminous document, and was evidently written with thought and care. After referring briefly and appropriately to the "appalling calamity" which deprived the country of an illustrious chief, by the death of the late President Garfield, he speaks of the bounteous harvest with which Providence has blessed us as a people. He reviews our relations with foreign governments, with all of which we are on friendly terms, and refers to the suppression of the trouble with the Indian tribes. It notices the Yorktown centennial and the cordial intercourse with the French and German representatives as an evidence of the good will that exists between our people and the governments which they represent. In passing he touches the bloody battle conference, the electric exhibition at Paris and several other notable gatherings in which our people as well as those of other nations are interested. It calls attention to outrages in some of the Spanish colonial ports on a Mexican vessel. It speaks of the insecurity of life of American missionaries in Turkey, noting the instance of the death of Dr. Justin W. Parsons, in reference to whose death correspondence has been had with the Porte. Our relations with Mexico are harmonious, as they are also with the neighboring South American Republics. The Monroe doctrine is substantially re-affirmed in speaking of the Isthmus canal. It deprecates the unhappy strife between Chili and Peru as detrimental to the cause of Republican government, and states that a special envoy has been sent with the hope of bringing about friendly relations between these governments. Glancing at our relations with China and Japan, and treaties perfected with these nations, it refers to the cordial feeling existing between the Hawaiian Kingdom, Hungary, Belgium, Denmark and several other countries, makes reference to reports received from consuls abroad, and reviews at some length the reports of the secretary of the treasury, postmaster-general, secretary of war, secretary of the interior, and of the navy, calling attention to and commending some of the suggestions made in these reports. It applauds the efforts by the postmaster-general to bring to justice the star route swindlers and demands the full penalty of the law in the case of the guilty. The deprecations of the "cow-boys" on the Arizona frontier demands some special legislation to preserve peace and vindicate the laws set at defiance. Speaking of the Indian problem it is suggested that instead of the plan of reservations for tribes the policy be adopted of giving each head of a family a certain tract of land in fee simple as a farm, thus encouraging agriculture among them, and also an appropriation by the government for schools similar to those now in operation at Hampton, Carlisle and Forest Grove, from which much good results have already come. The polygamy question must be met and that institution suppressed by the passage of laws which will make prosecution in the case of indictment possible. It asks the attention of Congress to the question of popular education and recommends the dedication of a certain portion of the proceeds of the sale of public lands to that purpose, especially in the Southern States, where the changed condition of the colored people with the new responsibilities devolving upon them as citizens makes it important. The pension question is reviewed at some length, as is also the question of civil service reform, in which reference is made to the system which prevails in England, which the President thinks, with some modification, might be adopted in this country. Internal improvements are endorsed, especially on the great western rivers, which are the highways of so much of our inland commerce. The amendment of the revenue laws and the abolition of taxes say on spirits and tobacco is recommended, and the attention of Congress is called to the importance of so legislating on the question of deciding the count on the election of presidential electors, and definitely settling the question of presidential disability, so that there may be no chance for dispute or misunderstanding on these vital matters hereafter as there has been in the recent past.

Memorial Committee in Washington. Discussion—The President Pro Tem. Exercises His Constitutional Right—Bills Introduced—Merrill Gets the Floor on the Tariff.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7.—SENATE.—Senators Sherman, Pendleton, Dawes, Lapham, Bayard and Morgan were appointed by the chair on a joint committee for the preparation of a memorial upon the death of the late President.

Among other communications laid before the Senate was one from Acting Attorney-General Phillips endorsing the annual report of the Attorney-General.

A communication from the committee on an uninteresting discussion upon the propriety of dispensing with reading at length of communications from heads of departments addressed to the president by the Senate.

President pro tem. ruled that in accordance with the practice of his predecessors the paper would be read at length unless otherwise ordered, and after remarks by Senators upon different interpretations of what had been the practice heretofore, a vote was taken which not a single response was given both in negative and affirmative. The chair caused some little merriment by observing that as the vote was a tie he was obliged to exercise his constitutional prerogative and would vote aye. The reading then proceeded.

A large number of bills of a private nature, mainly for individual relief, were introduced and referred.

The bill introduced by Ingalls establishing a penny rate of postage to form a State government was tabled.

By Plumb a bill was introduced making trade dollars legal tender for all debts, public and private, except where expressly provided to the contrary.

By Call, granting pensions to soldiers in Mexican, Creek, Seminole and Black Hawk war. Referred to pensions committee.

By Davis, establishing a department of agriculture, which was tabled.

At the expiration of the morning hour Morrill's tariff commission resolution was in order and he was awarded the floor, but instead of speaking he moved an adjournment; agreed to and adjourned.

House Appointments—The President's Private Secretary—Experts Can't Do Guiteau any Good—District Attorney Corhill's Trial Will Last Longer than One More Week.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7.—Doorkeeper Brownlow of the House has made the following appointments: Richard W. Austin, of North Carolina, assistant doorkeeper; Col. J. R. Popham, Virginia, assistant doorkeeper, in charge of the witness stand.

The President took up his residence at the White House this afternoon. It is now understood that John Davis, nephew of Bancroft Davis, and son-in-law of ex-Senator Washington, of New Jersey, will be President Arthur's private secretary, and will assume his duties in a day or two.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7.—The morning session of Guiteau's trial was devoted to the examination of witnesses. Corhill, port III, on behalf of the prosecution. The evidence of these witnesses was that they had known the Guiteau family and did not regard L. W. Guiteau, father of the prisoner, as insane; also, that they believed the other members of the family sane.

The fact that but a few of the twenty or thirty experts, summoned for the defendant, gave their testimony excites some remark, and it is said that nearly all of them, in the conclusion that they could do Guiteau no good by their testimony. A few experts had interviews with Guiteau Monday afternoon, but none of them appeared yesterday on the stand.

District Attorney Corhill is quoted as expressing the belief that the trial will not last more than a week longer.

Meeting of the Cotton Planters Association.

ATLANTA, GA., Dec. 7.—The National Cotton Planters Association met in convention today at the Exposition grounds and was called to order by President Morehead. Speeches were made by Director-General Kimball, Gov. Colquitt and Hon. Thomas Hardeman, of Georgia, and Judge Stewart, of Mississippi. President Morehead speaks to-night at the capital, and Commissioner Loring speaks at the Exposition to-morrow on "Small Farms Compared to Large Ones."

The city is crowded. The Press Association of Mississippi arrived this morning, fifty strong, under President Walpole.

Memorial State Funding Bill. NASHVILLE, Dec. 7.—The State funding board yesterday in the Supreme court entered a motion to advance on the docket the case of the funding bill injunction suit. The bill is known as the "one hundred and three bill" and was passed by the late General Assembly. It provides for funding the State debt at par and makes 3 per cent coupons receivable for taxes. If the case is not advanced it is probable that the bill may not be reached for years and may be left open for further agitation in the next State election.

Republican Senatorial Caucus. WASHINGTON, Dec. 7.—The Republican Senators held a short caucus this morning for the purpose of making some changes in the Republican membership of the Senate committees, in order to meet personal convenience of Senators, and more especially to provide suitable committees for the Senator from Wisconsin, whose re-election to the Senate is expected to be desirable in the opinion of his colleagues that he should be again placed in committee positions of prominence.

Lynchings in Virginia. FREDERICKSBURG, Dec. 7.—It was reported that William Allen, who killed William Selater, Friday, was taken from jail at Warwick, Va., last night by a party of men, and hanged.

Remember that the best medicine is forever lost when it is not used. It is not a cough syrup, but a medicine that cures colds and coughs. It costs only 25c a bottle.

Weather.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 7.—Middle Atlantic, colder, fair weather, north westerly wind, light to moderate. South Atlantic, colder, fair weather, westerly, veering to northerly winds; higher barometer.

East Gulf, fair weather, winds mostly northerly, with light to moderate. West Gulf, fair weather, variable winds shifting to southerly, stationary or higher temperature.

Tennessee and Ohio valleys, warmer, fair weather, north westerly wind, generally shifting to southerly, in the east portion higher, and in the west portion lower pressure.

Two Men Murdered and a Railroad Collision in Texas. GALVESTON, Dec. 7.—The bodies of two men murdered in a collision with a train this morning twenty miles from here. The supposed perpetrators are the parties who killed Sheriff Martin a few days since.

A special to the News from Longview arising at 2:30 this morning, two trains collided at Halleville, twelve miles east of here. Three persons were killed and others wounded.

Found Drowning in the River. RICHMOND, VA., Dec. 7.—The body of a generally dressed man about 35 years old was found floating in the river below the city yesterday. A copy of the Pittsburg Commercial Gazette found in his pocket, also two envelopes bearing the stamp of the Pittsburg and Western Railroad, and a card which was addressed to J. E. Fluke.

Heavy Gale on Lake Erie. CLEVELAND, Dec. 7.—A heavy gale is playing havoc with the shipping on Lake Erie in this vicinity but thus far no loss of life is reported.

Meeting of the Virginia Legislature. RICHMOND, Dec. 7.—The General Assembly met today in biennial session.

"HOW ARE YOU MY OLD FRIEND?" Asked a bright looking man, "Oh! I feel miserable. I feel like a dog. Why in the world don't you take Kieley-Wort? That's what I take when I'm in pain. My doctor recommends it for all such troubles. It's a sure cure for rheumatism, neuralgia, and all the other troubles that come from the blood. Don't fail to try it. Long Branch News.

Lieutenant-Commander Gortings in bringing the Obelisk to New York has performed indeed a monumental work. So has Dr. C. W. Benson, of Baltimore, in curing the nervous disorders of the world, with his Celery and Chamomile Pills.
