FRIDAY, DEC. 23, 1881.

ANOTHER LETTER.

Dr. Worth on the Chatham Resolutions-"Let Us Stop the War," Cor. Raleigh News-Observer. In your issue of the 23d of November you publish a communication reporting the proceedings of a public meeting held at Pittaboro, in the interest of the Midland North Carolina Railway, at Midland North Carolina Rallway, at which meeting resolutions were adopted charging Gov. Jarvis and myself with violating our contract, thereby defeating the Midland North Carolina Railway scheme and disparaging the commercial integrity of the State. I at first thought that I would not notice it but upon a careful reading I found it, but upon a careful reading I found the charges so untrue and so uncalled for that I decided to write at some length, which I did, saying hard and harsh things of the principal actors in the meeting. On reviewing, it did not read exactly like a "peace offering," and I therefore threw it in the fire. I now write with the full intent of letting everybody understand the exact truth about this whole matter, without using any unkind word. I am acquainted with all the parties named in the meeting and do not believe that they would have permitted any such resolu-tions to pass if they had understood the matter. In reading the proceedings of the meeting it is evident that Messrs. W. J. Best, John G. Rencher and H. A. London, Jr., had them all prepared in advance. I cannot see any inducement for their hot haste in passing resolu-tions which, if true, were to disgrace Gov. Jarvis and myself, nor can I see how disgracing us was to build the Midland road, which it appears was the object of the meeting. There can be no possible excuse for the adoption of the resolutions if the truth about the matter had been understood. Let me state the facts as they are. The law authorizing the sale of the Western North Carolina Railroad appointed three commissioners, and in section 23 says that "should the said grantees or their assigns be hindered or delayed by any cause for which they are not responsible, then the said commissioners shall allow a reasonable extension of time for the completion of the said lines of railroad." On the 30th of April last Col. A. B. Andrews made application to the commissioners for an extension of time to complete the road. At that meeting they agreed to give an extension of four months' time upon the condition that the application be made direct from Messrs. Clyde, Logan and Buford, and upon other conditions between that day and the time the application was returned. Gov. Vance plication was returned. Gov. Vance gave notice that for reasons he had he would not sign it. If I had found out something that I thought a sufficient leason I should have felt at liberty to decline giving the extension. If I ever had one purpose more firmly fixed than another, it was that the Western North Carolina Railroad should never fall had on the State and I thought then back on the State, and I thought then and I think now that the only way to prevent that was to give the extension asked for. About this time Mr. W. J. Best made his second appearance, proposing to build the Midland North Carolina Railway from Goldsboro to Salisbury, finish the Western North Carolina road, &c., upon the condition that he could get possession of the Atlantic and North Carolina Railroad. I was red hot for the project. The proposed road would run through the centre of my county, and would greatly enhance the value of all our manufacturing establishments and greatly increase the value of my own property. To say that I would violate any agreement I had made that would hinder that work is very absurd. Now for the agreement that I am charged with Mr. was red hot for the project. The pro-THE ONLY MEDICINE IN EITHER LIQUID OR DRY FORM agreement that I am charged with vio-lating. At a long conference with Mr. Best and his associates on the 25th of May, after reciting all the conditions in regard to the Atlantic and North Caro-lina Railread, &c., the commissioners did agree and promise that they would use all the means in their power as THE LIVER, THE BOWELS, AND THE KIDNEYS. commissioners and as individuals to procure the surrender and reassignment of the interest heretofore conveyed by the State of North Carolina to W. J. Best and others. The commissioners did write to Messrs. Clyde, Logan and Buford, asking them to surrender and reassign their purchase, offering to repay them for their expense, which they declined. A forfeiture would have thrown the road back on the State. Now the Best, Rencher and London resolutions declare that KIDNEY-WORT WILL SURELY CURE KIDNEY DISEASES, LIVER COMPLAINTS, DISEASES, FEMALE WEAKNESSES, AND NERVOUS DISORDERS, and London resolutions declare that Messrs. Jarvis and Worth did violate by causing free action of these organs and restoring their power to throw off disease. such agreement by refusing to declare a forfeiture of the contract under which Messrs. Clyde, Logan and Buford claimed possession of the road. If anybody will show where we have forfeit-Why suffer Bilious pains and aches?

body will show where we have forfeited our word or agreement, I am ready to make an unconditional surrender. I was elected to the position I hold for the reason that the people believed me to be honest and truthful. Whenever I forfeit either I ought to be driven from that position. I was appointed commissioner by the Legislature without my knowledge or wish. I have frequently visited the work on the road, and can safely say that since the extension of time was granted, the work has been pushed rapidly, and is now nearly finished to Paint Rock, and seventeen miles of the track is laid on Use KIDNEY-WORT and rejoice in health. DR.SANFORD'S seventeen miles of the track is laid on the Ducktown line, and the grading has advanced to Pigeon River, and con-tracts already made beyond that point. I notice that the Pittsboro meeting adjourned to the 20th. If I were present I would propose amending the last resolutions and making them read

A telegram from Poughkeepsie, N. Y. states that Mary L. Magnes, a student from Cedar Rapids, Iowa, had been accused by the officers of Vassar College of stealing $175 at various times from other students. She confessed, but begged that her father should not be informed. He was, however, informed, but before his arrival the young girl died of paralysis of the heart.

Edward Sanders attempted a felonieus assault upon Mrs. Seymour, in Lancaster some two months ago. The poor woman died of heart disease a few minutes after she escaped from the ruffian's grasp, which was evidently superinduced by the fright. Sanders was accordingly indicted for murder, and on Saturday the jury before which he was tried found him guilty of murder in the second degree.

In Rochester, New York, Sunday, Bishop B. J. McQuaid denounced the Irish land league as revolutionary and unworthy the support of Catholics in either America or Ireland. He severe-ly criticised Rev. Mr. Sheehy and the recent Chicago convention as being directly in opposition to the principles of good government and the will of the head of the church.

Letting a Dog Loose.

Some days since a saloon keeper on Gratiot avenue paid certain parties in Chicago $25 for a stuffed lion to add to the attractions of his saloon, and the other morning as the place was being scrubbed out the lion was placed at the front door to keep him out of the wet. Half a block down the street a farmer was having his wagon repaired, and a big bulldog was chained to the hind axletree. He grew uneasy the minute the lion was rolled out, and it needed only a few encouraging words from the boys to render him half frantic. He growled and plunged and tore around and attracted quite a crowd, among which was a man who remarked: "That's a purty brave dog of yours, stranger. "Brave! I'd like to see the man or beast he wouldn't tackle!" replied the

"I dunno about that. Never saw a dog yet who'd stand before a lien."
"Well, here's one who'd stand before two lions. See how anxious he is to get there.'

"Yes, but he puts on because he's chained. If he was loose you couldn't get him within a rod of that speci-

"Couldn't eh? Maybe you want to hear yourself talk." "Well, I dunno. I'm opposed to betting, card playing, dancing and all that, but seeing you are rather sassy about this, I've got half a dollar here which says that you can't get that dog to go within six feet of that lion."

"Put up the money—put up the mon-ey!" shouted the farmer as he went down into his pockets after the coin. The money was put up, the crowd fell back and the farmer's face wore a smile of triumph as he still further ex-cited the dog and then slipped his col-lar. With a yell of rage the "canine" made a bee line for the king of beasts and in another moment there was reason for a terrific yell of applause. Dog and lion filled the air, so to say. The lion was rolled over and over, grabbed by the throat and shaken around, drawn across the street and back by the ear, and when the dog finally let up on the corpse the battle ground was covered with hair and bay and saw-dust and glass-eyes. At that moment the saloon-keeper rushed out, a police-man came up, and for five minutes the air was rent with shouts and exclama-tions and expostulations.

"It was all in fun," explained the farmer. "Dot lions cost me $25 in Shecago!" protested the saloon man. "Who put up this job?" demanded the officer as he glared around on the

By and by a deep silence fell upon the crowd, and in a voice which had only kindness in it the owner of the lion said he must have his $25 or he would start for the police court. The policeman said it was certainly a case for the courts, and the crowd said the farmer might have known what would happen. people of Chatham county.
