Medical.

Rheumatism

Neuralgia, Sprains,

Pain in the Back and Side.

There is nothing more painful than these diseases; but the pain can be removed and the disease cured by use of Perry Davis' Pain Killer.

This remedy is not a cheap Benzine or Petroleum product that must be kept away from fire or heat to avoid danger of explosion, nor is it an untried experiment that may do more harm than good.

Pain Killer has been in constant use for forty years, and the universal testimony from all parts of the world is, it never fails.

It not only effects a permanent cure, but it relieves pain almost instantaneously. Being a purely vegetable remedy, it is safe in the hands of the most inexperienced.

The record of cures by the use of PAIN KILLER would fill volumes. The following extracts from letters received show what those who have tried it think:

Edgar Cady, Owatonna, Minn., says: About a year since my wife became subject to severe suffering from rheumatism. Only relief was to be had from the use of Perry Davis' Pain Killer.

Charles Powell writes from the Saltors' Home, London: I had been afflicted three years with neuralgia and violent spasms of the stomach. The doctors recommended Hopwood's medicine, which I tried, but it did me no good.

G. H. Walworth, Saco, Me., writes: I experienced intense pain from pain in the side by the use of Perry Davis' Pain Killer.

Bartholomew Bay, writes: I have used Perry Davis' Pain Killer for thirty years, and have found it a most reliable remedy for rheumatism and lameness.

Mr. Birk writes: I never fail to give relief in cases of rheumatism. Phil. Gilbert, Somerset, Pa., writes: From a severe case of rheumatism, Perry Davis' Pain Killer is the best medicine I can get.

All druggists keep PAIN KILLER. Its price is so low that it is within the reach of all, and it will save many times its cost in doctors' bills. 25c, 50c, and $1.00 a bottle.

OBSERVATIONS.

There is no doubt of it. This is a damp, bad winter. -New Haven Register.

Hunting the North Pole is all very well, but when the North Pole comes to hunt you it isn't so funny. -Philadelphia Times.

A Massachusetts man would sooner obliterate the memory of the Pilgrim Fathers than admit that Daniel Webster's moral code had afflicted him to fill the post of a Sunday school superintendent. -Providence Press.

A party of vegetarians who were boarding at a winter-cure establishment, while taking a walk in the fields were attacked by a bull which chased them furiously out of the pasture.

"A red or green plush young girl, A Russian hare must young girl; A little girl for ever, A Russian hare must young girl; Ten-score hat young girl." -Yale Record.

Geo. Washington never told a lie, and he got to be President of the Republic. Times have changed. George couldn't be elected to the Legislature if he lived in these times.

An Irishman took a Yankee friend to church with him on Christmas day. The mistake was the descent and the decorations were on the way out of church he asked the Yankee how he liked it. "Why," said the Yankee, "I suppose," replied our wit with admirable frankness, "I thought how he could get himself a fresh one."

A witty New York society woman was standing before Zola's grandly adorned and his daughters. "Oh!" remarked a friend, dolorously, "what do you suppose I thought when I beheld the poor old woman with 'I suppose,' replied our wit with admirable frankness, 'I thought how he could get himself a fresh one.'"

GUITEAU'S GALLOW.

A Scaffold and Rope All Ready for Him in the United States Jail Yard.

WASHINGTON, January 29. - He cannot see the gallows, which is standing in the jail, from the door of his corridor. The basement under these corridors contains no cells, but has the heating and sewerage apparatus built up. You walk perhaps one hundred and fifty feet along this basement corridor, after descending several steps, and the gallows lies in a very peculiar perspective, and is seen at the height of the far end. It is not on the same side of the jail with Guiteau, who is in the north corridor, while the gallows is in the south corridor. The gallows is painted a light green color, and is a rather pretty piece of carpenter work.

Many persons have never seen a gallow, and this one is rather better than the representative. The first thing that strikes you about it is the height of the floor above the brick ground. It is, perhaps, ten or twelve feet, or even more, above the door; and a plain, tall set of steps, wide enough for four to go up at once, and the steps are arranged as if the persons in control are hanging people all their lives. He will be hanged with one of these ropes, for they have all been kept. Over the gallows rises a cross beam, and a half above the gallows floor. On the gallows can stand thirty or forty people, and it is about ten or twelve feet square.

Guiteau will probably be sentenced to death about the latter part of next week. Nobody here believes he will have another trial. Argument of jurisdiction was dismissed by his counsel when they had the opportunity to take it up; and though they may revive it, yet few believe it will be effective. The argument itself is one of those dodges got up by ingenious lawyers, with the promise of a large fee, and imposed on stupid judges. It is based on the notion that a man can be tried where his victim died, and not where he is injured. Guiteau shot the President in the District of Columbia, but the President died in New Jersey; therefore, it is said that there is some precedent for trying him in New Jersey, and therefore his trial in the District of Columbia was improper, and he must now be taken to Jersey and tried again. This is not the understanding of any sane people anywhere. If a man commits a perjury in Ohio, it is provided that the Governor shall have him remanded from any state where he has escaped and put on trial in Ohio. If you go to England and murder a man, and the man goes to New York and dies, the procedure is to try the murderer in England. Such is the possible resort of the defense to take Guiteau to New Jersey, where he will be sure to be convicted in about ten days, for Jersey men spare nobody.

Expressing sympathy with the Persecution of Israelites.

New York, Feb. 2. - A large meeting was held in Chatham Hall last night to express sympathy with the persecuted Israelites of Russia. Mayor Grace presided. Among those present were Hamilton Fish, ex-Mayor Ely, Robert Bonner and Edwards Pierson. Appropriate resolutions were passed and speeches made by ex-Secretary Everts, Chief Justice Noah Davis, Howard Crosby, Rev. J. C. Newman and others.

Demanding Satisfaction.

PANAMA, Feb. 2. - The French government, upon learning that the Supreme Court of Guatemala had acquitted the soldiers charged with assaulting the Secretary of the French Legation on November 7th, has refused to receive the envoy of Guatemala, and a frigate has been ordered to Guatemala to demand satisfaction - ten thousand francs indemnity and the imprisonment of the assassins.

"MY BACK ACHES SO, and I feel miserable," said a hard working man. The doctor questioned him and found that he had been habitually constipated for years, that his kidneys were disordered and his whole system deranged. Kidney-Wort was recommended and faithfully taken, and in a short time every trouble was removed. The cleansing and tonic power of this medicine on the bowels and kidneys is wonderful. -Congregationalist.

ONE EXPERIENCE IS WORTH MANY.

I have been sick and miserable so long and had caused my husband so much trouble and expense, no one seemed to know what ailed me, that I was completely disheartened and discouraged. In this frame of mind I got a bottle of Hop Bitters and used them unknown to my family. I soon began to improve and gained so fast that my husband and family thought it strange and unusual; but when I told them what had helped me, they said "Burch for Hop Bitters! long may they prosper, for they have made mother well and us happy." -The Register.

The American Cotton Supply.

Bradstreet's Reporter.

The supply of American cotton for several years past having been ample for meeting the world's requirements, and the stocks in sight at the moment, both in the European and American ports, looking so large, the question of the supply for the future is in danger of being overlooked. It is a long coming evident that, before the end of this season, there will be a positive scarcity of American cotton unless the consumption is soon curtailed. The following table shows the actual consumption of cotton this year (the stock south and on plantations being estimated) as compared with the movement of last year and the year before, on January 16 of each year:

Table with 3 columns: Year, Receipts at ports, Total crop. Rows for 1880-81, 1881-82, 1882-83.

The above shows a very serious decrease in the quantity of cotton to be received from plantations, as compared with either last year or the year before. Below is a statement giving the actual consumption of cotton in America for the period between January 16 of each year, 1 for each of the three years:

Table with 3 columns: Year, Stocks in ports, S. counted, tows s., S. uncounted, In transit on rail s., In 'n' bet'n ports, On plantations.

Total supply, 2,237 3,442 2,811

This shows more clearly what cotton the world may expect to receive from this country for the balance of the season. As compared with last year the deficiency is 1,205,000 bales, and as compared with the corresponding year it is 574,000 bales. The American spinners are bound to secure their requirements out of this supply, and after they are supplied the remainder will be available for export to Europe. It is true that American spinners are now comparatively well stocked, but they still require considerable cotton. Their takings to January 16 have been as follows:

Total - 1,985,000 1,930,000 1,795,000

The consumption in America is at present very large, and the most reliable authorities estimate that for the year the northern spinners will require 100,000 bales and the southern spinners 200,000 more than they took last year. But in times of scarcity of the raw material the consumption is always curtailed, so we only allow an increase of 34,000 bales for northern and 100,000 bales for southern mills.

With the present state of the future business, both in New York and New Orleans, a stock of cotton must always be held to prevent corners, so it is impossible to run down the American stock to a low point as has formerly been done. Some reduction can be made, and we allow a reduction of 53,000 bales - say, for stock on September 1, 200,000 bales, against 253,000 last year. This leaves as follows:

Table with 3 columns: Total supply, Wanted spinners - , Stocks at ports and intr' 200,000.

Leaving for export, 181,128,200

This will be a small supply for Europe, as compared with either last year or the preceding one, for in those years the actual exports from January 1 to September 1, were as follows:

Table with 3 columns: Year, To Great Britain, To Continent, Total.

So the Europe for the balance of this season is likely to receive from America only 1,048,000 bales less than was sent her last year, and 705,000 less than was sent her in the preceding year.

A Chinese Prediction.

The Hong Kong merchant, King, sent as Commissioner to England, prophesies the downfall of English commerce within five and twenty years. "The long nose," he says, "of the Chinese people has given to the world a new obstacle against which a fight to the death will soon be commenced. The Chinese are made for commerce only. You men of the West will be fighting a long while with me, but making commercial profit of the opportunity of superseding you peacefully throughout the world. We mean to establish our counters in every great commercial centre in Europe, in London, Liverpool, Belfast, Bristol, Havre, Hamburg, Marseilles and Genoa. Europe will for a little while retain her financial supremacy, but we shall seize that power in the course of time, and the position of the English at Shanghai and Canton will, in a few years, be on a level with that of the Portuguese at Macao. The rich men will be driven out of China, and the poor will be made of wood and drawers of water to the nation, as the Portuguese at Macao."

Body Found.

SAVANNAH, GA., Feb. 2. - The body of Belshazzar Reigo, a Greek, who mysteriously appeared from this city January 18th, was found in a field yesterday much decomposed. It is thought he accidentally shot himself, his gun being under his body.

An Old Galvestonian Commits Suicide.

GALVESTON, TEXAS, Feb. 2. - Thomas C. Shearer, secretary of the Galveston Wharf Company, and a resident of Galveston for the past 25 years, committed suicide at his residence yesterday. Mental depression caused the act.

A SUBRE CURE FOR PILLS.

Do you know what it is to suffer with Piles? If you do, you know what is one of the most torments of the human frame. The most perfect cure ever known is Kidney-Wort. It cures constipation, and then its tonic restores health to the diseased bowels and prevents recurrence of disease. Try it with confidence. The dry and the liquid are both sold by druggists. -Globe.
