of youthful impotence caused by Premature Decay, Nervous Debility, Lost Manhood, etc., having tried in vain every known remedy, has discovered a simple safe cure, which will send FREE to his fellow-sufferers, address J. H. HEEVER, 49 Chambers St., N. Y.

THURSDAY FEB. 23, 1882.
GEN. CLINGMAN'S VIEWS.

He Takes Up His Little Hatchet and Goes for Both Parties.

We find the following in a marked copy of the Washington Post, which we presume was sent us by Gen. Clingman, and give him the benefit of his statement:

To the Editor of the Post: Several statements have recently been published professing to give my views on certain political points. None of these publications were authorized by me, nor do I know of any of the persons who furnished them to the several newspapers in which they have been published.

As there seems to be an interest in certain quarters to know my opinions, I ask of you to give me some space in the Post that I may make a concise statement of my views on the points referred to.

The Republican party persists in retaining its seat at the table and seeks its support, not on the merits of its conduct or the wisdom of its measures, but mainly by appeals to the passions and resentments that grew out of the late civil war. Such a course on its part is not only unjust to the South, but West by preventing needed reforms and legislation. I regard it, therefore, as the most mischievous and most corrupt political organization that has ever existed in this country, and I have sought to relieve the country of its administration by supporting the Democratic candidates and also aiding the Liberal movement of 1872.

The Democratic party has not only shown itself very clumsy in its political efforts, but it has utterly failed to carry into practice the principles it has professed. This is in spite of the fact that many of its ablest and most influential men act with the most liberal elements of the Republican party. For example, on the financial issue, many of its most influential men, with the Republican banks for its currency, have sought the restoration of silver, the money of the constitution as well as gold, and also to withdraw the green-back currency. Could they effect this and throw the country solely on gold and the national banks for its currency, what would be the result? It would be easy for the banks in their annual congresses to make such arrangements as to throw the country back on the times when eighteen and twenty-four per cent interest could be realized, and such a course would be very profitable to speculation very lively on Wall Street.

I wish it, however, to be distinctly understood that I am not an enemy to the national banks, nor to money operators, but I am quite willing that when a man dies that one of them should realize money by burying him, but I would not agree to have a man killed merely to give a job to the grave digger. I would not be willing to give the property of the dead to the living, and the cholera among the hogs in order that the buzzards might enjoy themselves. I wish banks and capitalists to thrive, but am not willing that they should become the owners of the country.

When we look at the action of the Democratic party on our systems of taxation we are greatly disappointed. Ten years ago, in the Greeley campaign, I advocated in the most emphatic manner the abolition of the internal revenue tax, and such changes and reductions in the tariff as would furnish a sufficient sum to maintain an economical administration of the government. Though since that period the Democratic party has increased in number, and during the last Congress had the control of both Houses, yet it did not, as a party, make a single manly and honest effort to reduce materially the tariff taxes. In fact many of the prominent Democrats are now seeking for excuses to avoid making an effort to carry out their platform; some of them even profess not to have understanding enough to know whether duties are tariff taxes. In fact many of the prominent Democrats are now seeking for excuses to avoid making an effort to carry out their platform; some of them even profess not to have understanding enough to know whether duties are tariff taxes.

Items of Interest.

Kirkwood, Ga., is to have a large cottonseed-oil mill.

There are 1,100 blacks and 115 whites in the Georgia penitentiary.

Conway, Ark., will not permit even express companies to deliver liquor to citizens of that town.

Coal in considerable quantities has been discovered in Winston county, Miss.

On the death of Chief Justice Marshall, nearly fifty years ago, the lawyers of Philadelphia moved for a monument. The project failed at the time, as is often the case, and only $3,000 was contributed. The matter was soon forgotten by almost everybody. The last surviving trustee of the fund died a few days ago, and among his papers was found a careful account of the money, showing that by investment it had grown to $20,000. The monument will now be erected.

Newbern (Tenn.) Enquirer: Four years ago last September a little girl of Mr. Allen Scott's aged three years, fell on her head and drove it clear out of sight, eye foremost, in her right side, just back of her breast. Her health has been precarious ever since, having had one or two hard spells of sickness. On the last of September the sides of her head began to rise, his papers were found a careful account of the money, showing that by investment it had grown to $20,000. The monument will now be erected.

The St. Louis Republican states that the extensive surveying going on in the southern counties of Missouri for projected railroads has brought into notice immense tracts of fine timber, whose value was not estimated before, and it hears of large purchases of lands in those counties by parties, who will turn their resources to account. It says: "There is more fine timber, oak, pine, hickory, ash and hickory in southern Missouri than in any other section of equal area in the West; it has not been chopped over and thinned out, as in other regions, but exists in its ancient and unmarred symmetry. In a little while saw mills will be erected for converting it into lumber and dimension timber, and as soon as the railroads are built the product of these mills will be sent to market in large quantities."

The Vaccinated Arm.

In these days of general vaccination every one appears satisfied that no evil can arise from this process, because bovine, and not humanized and possibly diseased, virus is used. It remains, however, to be proved that all the anti-vaccinators are in any other way. Cows have more than one humor, and Jenner himself showed that the real article was protective only when taken at the proper stage. Are physicians ignorant that all the propagators of bovine virus are in any other way? Is it right time only? When there is a great demand for points, there is a strong temptation to fill orders without carefully regarding the conditions. A man was arrested in Iowa not long ago for selling the virus of the cow in a preparation of molasses. May not others be only a degree less indifferent to the public health? A sore arm is not an infallible proof of vaccination having taken, but only of the introduction of a foreign and irritating substance into the circulation. Of course educated physicians can recognize the difference between a genuine pustule and mere irritation, but their patients can not generally do so. The most certain fact is that which has been proved through one human subject of healthy constitution, and proved in him its original strength and purity. We mention these facts not to alarm the public, but to remind the propagators of the virus that they should be more careful in their selection of the anti-vaccinators based on the utility of spurious vaccination.

High Taxed California.

California's appraised value of property is $2,000,000,000. The State owes $28,000,000 and pays $308,565 in interest on the State debt and the Central Pacific bonds. The true valuation of property, according to the San Francisco Bulletin, is over $1,000,000,000, but that paper admits that the cost of government, State, county and municipal is so high that people are afraid to come to the State through fear of being taxed to death. Safe investments for capital are hard to find, and taxation in many counties is 3 per cent on the value. In Yuba county the tax is $4.50 on the one hundred dollars, and the tendency all over the State is to higher taxation, with no talk of reform and no effort to secure economy in public expenditure. The people of California must make up their minds to be bled by the tax gatherer. It may be a "Golden State," but it is a hard place for a poor man to live in.

Suit Against the National American.

New York, Feb. 22.—A Times Nashville special says the case of Col. A. S. Coyle and James C. Warner, administrators of Col. Jno. C. Burch, ex-secretary of the United States Senate against the National American Publishing Co., involving the controlling interest in the American was decided to-day in favor of the plaintiffs. The decision gives the management of the paper which has always been a strong State credit journal, to men who, judging by the past records, may convert it into a low tax organ.

It is not known what change the management will bring about, but it is generally believed a new morning paper will be started by those dispossessed.

Cotton Warehouse Burned.

New York, Feb. 22.—Thomas Kane's cotton storage warehouse at 13th Avenue and Bank Street was gutted by fire last night. Four thousand bales of cotton being stored there. Loss about $75,000 in cotton; $5,000 on building.

A prudent man is like a pin, his head prevents him from going too far, his tail from going too long.

Kidney Diseases.

Kidney disease afflicts the greater part of the human race, but in its early stages, when the virus of the disease is still in the system, it can be cured. Those who have had it cured by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People, will give their best efforts to cure others. It is the most common and most dangerous of all diseases, and its cure is the most important thing that a man can do for himself and his family.

DECLINE OF MAN.

Impotence of mind, limb, or vital function, nervous debility, sexual debility, etc., cured by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. Sole Agents, J. H. Meaden, Charlotte, N. C.

Flood and Disaster in the West.

CHICAGO, Feb. 22.—Reports from points throughout the West all tell the same story of flood and disaster. Rain has been general, and in many places accompanied by wind and sleet. Telegraph wires last night in every direction were down and many railroads badly washed out. Results, however, except from river floods, will not be disastrous. The most serious inconvenience is from the suspension of traffic. Along the Ohio and lower Mississippi, however, the disasters from the effect of floods seem to be increasing.
