lather, which sad relevant notes the other day that admirably illustrates their intense belief in their future. It was told me by a poet:

"A year ago I was visiting at the house of — in New York, and there was a brilliant company assembled there. One evening there was a reception, and among the people who came was a gentleman of such noble mien. such lofty features, such a superb and dignified presence, such a placid serenity, such a manly beauty in every line of his face and person, that as he moved in the crowd I couldn't turn my eyes away from him. He seemed to hold me with a spell. I think he was the handsomest man I ever saw; it wasn't merely physical beauty it was spiritual beauty as well. His whole face was radiant with the solar light.' He had very dark eyes—large oriental eyes—a leoline mass of black hair, and was full-bearded II was so fascinated by him that I hardly felt like talking, but after awile found myself seated beside a charming Jewess, Miss X—, a young woman full of enthusiasm for her race, and proud to talk of it.

"Oh, said she, the day is not far distant when we shall go back to Jerusalem. We are accumulating wealth and power that we may bring them togather there and make it like a dream. The great bankers, the Rothschilds, and the rest, will bring their wealth there, and we shall rebuild the temple with their treasure. We have the capacity to de great things. Our blood makes good leaders. Beaconsfield is a Jew, Jules Simes is a Jew, and there is Hebrew blood in Gambetta's veins. Then in the arts we have shown our capacity for success—hark, they're playing one of the 'Songs Without Words'—Mendlesshon was a Jew, Rachel was a Jewas a world was taken off our necks, as it will be, as it surely will be, for God has promised—your God and mine.'
"Then,' said the poet, 'you'll choose you a king—one of the Rothschilds, I suppose?" "'No, no, we have our king. Our king must be of the lineage of David. "'And can you find a son of David after all these centuries?" "Oh, yes; it is a part of our religion to keep the family records. There must be a setting straight of genealocase was again continued till some time gies at every week of week-years (49 in March, at the request of the plain- years). We know where to find our king-he is already chosen, waiting to be crowned.'

"'And where is he now?' asked the poet.
"'There,' said the Jewess, and she pointed to the man who had so facinated me. It is the Baron — of London; he is recognized by all who keep of restoration should come to-morrow.

A Sad Affair.

A very sad calamity happened on board the United States steamer Swatara, recently, the particulars of which have just been published, in which Cadet Midshipman Chas. Cabaniss, of Petersburg, was accidently killed by Ensign James P. Parker, of this place. On the 17th of January, while the crew was drilling at quarters, Mr. Parker was instructing one of the men be-longing to his division in leading the magazine rifle, previous to going on shore to target practice. Mr. Parker means the trigger was pulled, and Mr. Cabiniss, who was a short distance from him in the port gangway, was instantly shot head.—Enfield Sentinel. Ensign Parker is a son of Col. T. M. Parker, of Halifax and as gallant and promising a young man as we have in

The River Still on the Rise at Helena. The river here within 24 hours, ending at midnight yesterday has risen nearly two inches, and the overflow in this city is fully as much. It is predicted that we shall have more than a foot higher water, by old river men, and this seems probable when it is remembered that at Francis the river is rising very rapidly and the volume of water thrown up on us from that source is immense, and hurt the Queen, but to create public enough to cause a rise in the Mississippi after a decline sets in at Memphis. White River at Clarendon is still booming at the rate of 5 inches a day.
