than sewerage, good underground drain-age. Scarcely any city is so favorably located for this purpose as Charlotte. Each ward has a stream of running water through it, with a depression leading to Big or Little Sugar creek for the main pipes. These pipes or mains need not be more than 10 to 12 inches in diameter, are made of terra cotta (burnt earth) and are comparatively inexpensive, while a large proportion of the pipes would be from 6 to 8 inches The central portion of the city is greatly in need of this system of drainage. The comfort and health of all are affected by its condition in the summer sun. According to the usual practice, the city lays down the mains through the principal streets and the property owners make the connections with them from their private lots. The cost would be light compared with the great benefis arising therefrom. The system could be gradually extended as time and experience would justify, and now that we are about to have a supply of water for public purposes, sewerage appears to follow as a necessary consequence. Water is used as a sanitary element in all cities as well as a fire extinguisher. Much of its usefulness will be lost, unless it is used as a means of cleansing the city as well as extinguishing fire, and this cannot be done by mere surface drainage, by means of which the filth is merely carried to some lower level and then left to swelter in the sun, and exhale its noxious vapors in the air we breath, thus producing disease and death. It is to be hoped that this subject of sewerage will be considered by the city authorities and a proper system of drainage be inaugurated. PROGRESS.
