Baron Von Bechtelsheim, ex-Austrian consul at St. Louis, Mo., charged with embezzlement, was yesterday discharged from the court as the court had no jurisdiction, and that the offense only came within the scope of the United States Courts.

Outside of the limits of the city of Panama, the whole population along the line of the Panama canal does not exceed 3,500 souls. The whole number of deaths among the canal employes has been less than 10, and considering the wretched medical service, the company maintained, that the mortality has been neither exceptional nor alarming.

The case of the creditors of Archbishop Purcell was called in the Hamilton County District Court, Ohio, yesterday, but was laid over, all the parties not being ready. The chief question involved is as to the power of the assignee to sell church property to pay the claims of the creditors.

John Wilbert, a Swiss, who was committed to the Eastern penitentiary, Philadelphia, Pa., for the murder of a tramp, committed suicide in a cell in that institution yesterday morning by cutting his throat. He was committed to the penitentiary in company with Richard Ruch, on the night of the 10th of February 11th by cutting his throat.

Daniel Ritter, aged 64, of Lebanon, Pa., was found dead on Sunday morning, with his face much swollen. The coroner held an inquest, and a verdict was rendered that he died from the effects of an apoplectic fit. Ritter's life was insured for $30,000 in speculative insurance companies.

While Charles Fischer and a man named Trotter were riding side by side on horseback near Poplar Station, on the Cairo branch of the Iron Mountain Railroad, on Saturday afternoon, they got into an altercation about some business transaction; whereupon Trotter drew a knife and stabbed Fischer in the heart, killing him. Trotter was arrested. Threats of lynching him are freely made by Fischer's friends.

John Jones, a middle-aged Bohemian, residing in Omaha, Neb., killed his wife yesterday morning by discharging a revolver into her breast. He then turned the other barrel of the gun upon himself and blew a hole through his breast, dying instantly. Mrs. Jones was a notorious abolitionist, and her husband resorted to desperation by her abuse of him.

The Methodist preachers met in Philadelphia yesterday morning and received a communication, presented by Rev. O. H. Tiffany, from the American delegates to the ecumenical conference, regarding a commemorative centennial meeting of the introduction of Methodism in the United States, to be held in 1881. A committee was appointed to confer with the provisional committee.

Mr. Beecher on Lenten Observances. Mr. Beecher discoursed on lenten observances in Plymouth Church Sunday, and, according to the New York Tribune report of the discourse, he displayed very little of the spirit of humility. "Why should I wear sackcloth, if I have other good clothes?" queried the Plymouth pastor. "Why should you and I be asked to give up what we have and go to Lent? I don't look toward the family, because it is present, in which a little girl gave the best answer, when she was asked what she would give up during Lent. 'I know what I'll do,' she said, 'I won't brush my teeth.' [Laughter.] 'I know of men who come trotting in in the morning and say 'My dear I, I must make a short prayer this morning. Let me bow down before the altar of heaven; I never crawl on my belly before God; I never say I am so filthy and sinful. I am not so. We are all sinners, but not criminals. I have no remorse, because I do not love God enough. I don't love anybody enough. God is not a crabbed judge to say when he has heard a confession. Open the prison door and shove him in. I go before God as a nobleman, and say, 'nevertheless I am Thy son.' He has the best clothes brought out and the ring put on my finger. The true theory of life is to rejoice always. Lent should be a time to review one's life, and conclude to being a son of passion out of the fumes of the soul. Perfumery and machine piety is odious to God, and should be to man. If a man's brain is out of order, he cannot be a good Christian. He may be Christian, but not more; but if the head, liver, bowels and heart are all clear and in good working order, it is easy to be good and do right."

A Senatorial April Fool. Washington Post. Senator Beck, of Kentucky, who can take and appreciate a joke as well as anybody, had his eye peeled for April 1st foolery, and consequently, when invited by a distinguished colleague to partake with him of a Saturday morning breakfast at Chamberlin's, winked a slow and appreciative wink. The very first thing he did, therefore, was to eat a hearty meal at his own house, and the next day he went to walk down to Chamberlin's and survey the ground. His surprise was genuine, however, when, instead of finding a room full of emptiness, he saw seated at the walden table Senators Pendleton, Butler, Wade Hampton, Morgan, Bayard, Voorhees and Senator-elect Rankin, and his would-be host. If there is anything Senator Beck appreciates, it is one of the meals to which Chamberlin gives his personal attention, and it was only because the joke that he had played on himself was too good to be lost that induced him to relate how, out of abundant caution, he had made a draft on his stomachic ability as was likely to be honored.

Very Strange. Five men have signed a certain paper. Thereupon the market price of $5,000,000 of securities has changed, the cost of food to 15,000,000 of consumers has changed, and the prospective value of agricultural products raised by 20,000,000 of people has been affected. These five persons represented the trunk lines, whose new compact as to freight and passenger rates has been published in detail. The five roads agree to fight no more, to divide their business on the basis of the traffic of 1880, and to submit disputed questions to arbitration.

Writing With Lemon Juice. N. Y. Commercial Advertiser.

Father John Gerard, of the Society of Jesus, who was confined and cruelly tortured in the Tower of London, at the end of Queen Elizabeth's reign, was the first to write letters in orange or lemon juice to his friends. The manner in which he thus baffled the vigilance of his jailers is described in detail in his highly interesting autobiography, published a few years ago by Rev. Charles Morris.

"Now, lemon juice has this property, that what is written in it can be read in water quite as well as by fire, and when the paper is dried the writing disappears again and it is as good as fresh, if again held to the fire. But anything written with orange juice is at once washed out by water and cannot be read at all in that way; and if held to the fire, though the characters are thus made to appear, they will not disappear, so that a letter of this sort, once read, can never be delivered to any one as if it had not been read. The party will see at once that it has been read, and will certainly refuse to deliver it if it should contain anything dangerous."

One result of Father Gerard's orange juice correspondence was that with the aid of zealous friends outside, he effected the escape of the Tower in 1577. The last ten years of his life were spent in the English College at Rome, where he closed a long, arduous and meritorious career on July 27, 1630, aged 73.

The Roof of the World. Popular Science Monthly. Adolphus Engelhardt, the immortal though unpronounceable explorer of Central Asia, calls the highland of the Pamirs "the roof of the world."

Forest Fires in Brunswick--Great Damage to Turpentine Trees, etc. Wilmington Star. The fire in Brunswick, N. C., which raged furiously in that county last week.

In Shalotte, Northwest and Town Creek townships there were at least three hundred thousand turpentine trees burned, together with turpentine fences, etc. It is a serious blow he says upon everybody who suffered by the fire. Some men of small means lost all their boxes, which were their only chance of support. Many lost all the fencing around their already planted crops of corn, leaving them exposed to the depredations of hogs.

This present week, however, witnessed a wonderful change. The flood gates of the elements opened, and water enough fell to make two or three crops, while roads were washed up, creeks impassable and bridges overturned, which will retard planting operations for several days.

"But," philosophically reasons our correspondent, "we have to take everything as it comes; what cannot be cured must be endured."

Dorsey Expected to Die. The New Mexico News and Express of March 11th says: The opinion prevails that ex-Senator Dorsey will not recover from his sickness, and that his death is only a question of a few days or weeks. It is said that ex-Senator Dorsey has sold his ranches, ranges and brand in Colfax county. The sale included a number of excellent ranches, with the home ranch, which is considered one of the best in the West, all claim to the vast range comprising from 1,500 to 2,000 square miles of territory, and nearly 25,000 head of cattle with calves, and including many fine thoroughbred bulls. The purchasers are reported to be a big company, composed of Eastern gentlemen, and Harry Gray, the efficient manager of the ex-Senator's stock and business, recently took the books of the concern to New York to deliver them to the purchasers. The purchase price is reported to be a high one, probably ranging from $500,000 to $700,000, the Prairie cattle company, who were anxious to buy out the ex-Senator, having offered between $450,000 and $500,000.

[From Andrew's American Queen.] CLEOPATRA

QUEEN OF SHEBA'S BEAUTY WAS BUT SKIN DEEP. The renowned Queen of Sheba, with all her royal pomp, magnificent apparel, and brilliant retinue, would have been as good as dead, had she not been the possessor of the grandest of the monarchs of the past, had she not also possessed that which is the crowning glory of the female person—a skin unchallenged for its Oriental softness and its almost translucent purity.

WOMAN RULES THE WORLD by her beauty, not less than by her purity of character, lowliness of disposition, and unselfish devotion. Indeed, in the estimation of perhaps too many men beauty in a body takes precedence over every other consideration. Beauty thus forms an important part of woman's "working capital," without which too many of our best men in what relates to influence within the circle where they move, are powerless for great good. Hence we see not only the propriety but the duty of every lady preserving with jealous care that which to her is essential to success, and influence, and usefulness in the world, and which is but skin deep; the utmost care and vigilance are required to guard it against the many ills that flesh is heir to. Among the great and annoying enemies of beauty.

OF EITHER SEX. as well as of comfort, happiness and health, are those pestiferous and horrid skin diseases—tetter, humors, eczema, (scurfiness), rough and scaly eruptions, ulcers, pimples, and all diseases of the hair and scalp. For the cure of all these, Dr. C. W. Benson, of Baltimore, after years of patient study and investigation, devoted to diseases of the skin, at last brought forth his celebrated SKIN CURE, which has already by its marvelous cures, established itself as the great remedy for all diseases of the skin, wherever they may be of character. Its success is so certain, and its use so simple, that all druggists have it, it is elegantly put up, two bottles in one package. Internal and external treatment. Price $1.00.
