PLAYING A BOLD GAME.

The proceedings of the Readjuster legislature in Richmond, have been characterized by an indifference of the opinions of any and everybody outside of their own clan, and a thorough contempt for all precedents. The aim of the leaders seems to have been to strengthen their party, and in doing so have shown an utter disregard of all propriety and decency. In the matter of offices the decapitating tax was plied right and left, and the places of the removed officers were filled with their partizans irrespective of fitness. They did this holdly and without apology. did this boldly and without apology. By the action of four of their own members who had not lost all sense of what was right, and voted with the Democrats the scheme to gerrymander the State so as to control nearly every district was defeated. General Mahone instead of attending to his business in Washington has spent nearly all his time in Richmond manipulating the wires and perfecting his plans to retain power. The last chapter so far in the villainous programme, was the act of the lower house of the legislature yesterday to take a recess until the 12th of June, which is a remarkable proceeding. What the reason alleged for this protracted recess is not stated, but it is evidently with a view to political emergencies which may arise in the meantime. Mahone and his gang are certainly playing a bold, brash game, and are staking everything on their success in bulldozing their way through. They have thrown off the disguse now, and no longer hesitate to avow their full offiliation with the Radical party, and no doubt have the full co-operation of the leaders of that party, in their schemes to retain the power they have stolen.

THE HEATHEN CHINEE.

The "Heathan Chinee" is a power in the land and makes that power felt elsewhere than on the Pacific side of the Republic. He came very near turning the House of Representatives upside down last Monday and did succeed in turning it into a pandemonium for a considerable portion of the day. He has friends among the gentlemen from the Eastern States, and these gentlemen thought it was due to their friend the Heathen that Page's bill to exclude him from these shores for ten years instead of twenty, which Mr. Arthur, who also seems to be his friend, would not consent to, should be argued some, which demand was ignored by Keifer, of blundering notoriety, and hence the rumpus. The Heathen, however, went to grass with his champions, and the bill excluding him for ten years passed by a vote of 201 to 37, a considerably larger majority than was given for the twenty year bill on its passage. The only votes cast against it were Republican votes. Page's bill is substantially the same as the vetoed bill save in the reduction of time from twenty to ten years, which change is made to meet the objection of Mr. Arthur. It does not, however, meet his other objections, and while the bill will no doubt pass the Senate, we don't see how Mr, Arthur can approve it without inconsistency. He will, however, probably regard consistency as a secondary matter, and in view of the political emergencies in the far West, sign the amended bill and let it become a law.

The cultivation of sumac is becoming one of the industries of Virginia. Before the war the sumac plant was not only worthless, but considered a nuisance. Along the borders of the Dismal Swamp, in Virginia and North Carolina, considerable attention is also being given to the cultivation of cranberries, which is found to be profitable.
