BUSINESS NOTICES.

He Had Faith Among Doubters. Samuel E. Palmer, a young employee in the trents' Furnishing Store of T. Miller, No. 355 Sixth ave., New York city, has invested regularly in the Drawings of the Louisiana State Lottery by sending to M. A. I auphin, New Orleans, La. He failed to get a ticket in the February drawing, as he sent too late, but received one in the March distribution. He was laughed at by his friends, but he offered to bet $100 that he would some day win a large p ize. Sure enough he found that his was a half of ticket No. 6099, which had drawn was a half of ficket No. 6099, which had drawn $5,000. He collected it through Adams Express Company, and as he has frequently drawn small prizes of $20 and $10 before, will send in time for May 9th. to be in the next drawing under the special supervision of Gen's G. T. Beauregard, of 1a, and Jubal A. Early, of Va, as usual.

Having passed several sleepless nights, disturb ed by the agonles and cries of a suffering child, and becoming convinced that Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup was just the article needed, pro-cared a supply for the child. On reaching home and acquainting his wife with what he had done, she refused to have it administered to the child, as she was strongly in favor of Homeopathy. That night the child passed in suffering, and the parents without sleep. Returning home the day following, the father found the baby still worse; and while contemplating another sleepless night, the mother stepped from the room to attend to some domestic duties, and left the father with the child. During her absence he administered a portion of the Soothing Syrup to the baby, and said nothing. That night all hands slept well, and the little fellow awoke in the morning bright and happy. The mother was delighted with the sudden nd wonderful change, and although at first offended at the deception practiced upon her, has con-tinued to use the Syrup and suffering crying bables and restless nights have disappeared. A single trial of the Syrup never yet failed to relieve the baby, and overcome the prejudices of the mother. Sold by all Druggists. 25 cents a bottle.

THE FATAL SHOOTING ACCIDENT

Coroner's Inquest on Cain Membry-

Verdict of Accidentally Shot. An inquest was commenced on the body of the colored man, Cain Membry, on Sunday evening. It appears that Coroner Alexander was away from home when the telegram reached Pineville, and did not receive the message until about 3:30 on Sunday, when he immediately started for Charlotte, and summoned a jury. The jury viewed the body, which was lying in the bar-room where the shooting happened, and then commenced hearing the evidence, continuing the inquiry yesterday morning. The evidence is corroborative of that given before the mayor Saturday.

Dr. Wilder testified as follows: Upon examination of a gun-shot wound upon the person of Cain Membry, I found that a bullet had pierced his person at or about the lower margin of the right shoulder blade, angling to the left, and about between the fourth and fifth ribs. directly over the region of the heart, The ball passed through the right side of the heart, judging from the direction that the probe followed in taking the track of the bullet. It was necessarily a fatal wound. Stephen McCorkill gave evidence tending to show that Jaquins and the deceased were in the habit of fooling together, and that they were always on good terms.

W. A. Jaquins, bar-keeper of the Charlotte Hotel, testified that on Saturday last, about 12 o'clock, deceased and Jim Gray came into the bar-room, and Gray called for a quart of whiskey. Witness furnished glasses, and Gray treated deceased. After drinking, deceased and Gray started out, and deceased made signs of play at witness. Gray caught hold of deceased and said: "Mr. Jaquins, here's Cain." Then witness got a pistol out of the lower part of a sideboard and started around the counter to scare Cain with the pistol. Near the end of the counter his foot struck against a box, he stumbled against the end of the counter, and the pistol went off. Cain turned back towards him and exclaimed: "My God, Mr. Jaquins, you've shot me!" Witness went towards him to see whether he was shot or not, took hold of deceased and asked him where he was hit; and then Cain reeled and fell, and died very soon. The pistol had been given into his care by take charge of, to keep them out of the way of the children. They were kept in the lower part of a sideboard, and witness owned a pistol which was loaded and kept in the top drawer of the same sideboard. Witness was not aware that the pistol with which Cain was shot was loaded, and took it out of the drawer to scare Cain, as he had often done. He and Cain were on very friendly terms, and had had no dispute or hard words at any time. He afterwards noticed that the pistol was empty, having had only one load in it. The taking up of the pistol was a very thoughtless act on his part, and he had no idea the weapon was loaded, and did not point it at deceased. Chief McNinch repeated the testimony he gave before the mayor. The pistol was not loaded when Jaquins handed it to him, having only one empty shell in it, which looked as if it had been newly discharged; the hammer of the pistol rested on the empty shell. Policeman G. W. Farrington testified to having often seen Cain and Jaquins fooling with pistols, not only since Jaquins has been at the Charlotte Hotel, but also when he stayed with Mr. Adams, and witness had never seen or heard of any ill feeling between the two. Witness had himself played with Cain in the same way, because he knew that Cain was "a scary kind of a fel-

C. L. Adams, Jim Gray, and Buster Carson gave substantially the same evidence as they rendered before the mayor, and one or two other witnesses were examined, whose evidence, however, was of no importance. The jury then consulted for a few minutes, and returned a verdict that the deceased. Cain Membry, came to his death by an accidental pistol-shot-at the hands of W. A. Jaquins. The following are the names of the coroner's jury: C. C. Horton, J. C. Boyt, T. S. Leak, J. P. Pethel (colored), J. C. Davidson (colored), Rufus Johnson (colored).

The unfortunate victim of this deplorable accident was interred yesterday morning at the colored cemetery, and it is due to Mr. Jaquins to state that all the expenses connected with the interment were defrayed by him.

A New Telephone Departure.

To induce a larger number of residences to join the exchange, the Telephone Company has decided to offer house connections on the "Family Club" plan. Six families belonging to the same social circle can thus pleasantly club together on one wire. These club wires will be equipped with the newly devised the same wire without connecting through the central office, while by calling the central office he can be connect ed with any other subscriber throughout the city as well as if on a single

The convenience and value of a telephone at home can only be appreciated by experience. Supplies can be ordered, fire alarms sent to headquarters, social duties can be paid, telegrams sent and received, and all without leaving the home floor.

In one of our large Southern cities, a child was taken ill in the night; the parents did not suppose the case was serious enough to summon the family doctor, but thought best to tell him the symptoms at once by telephone. The experienced physician recognized the danger, and made all haste to the house. The child recovered; the doctor said to the father. "I do not know, of course, that your little one would have died, if I had not arrived just when I did, but compensated that father for the loss of his child.

The rate fixed for club connection is $30.00 per year, and while this is not in itself profitable, an increased number of residence stations will make the service more valuable to merchants, coal dealers, physicians and others, and it is with this view that this rate is offered.

firm hold, and new exchanges are being built. At Raleigh and Wilmington rapid growth is reported, while even the little interior towns of Durham and Winston have their telephone systems. In our sister State South Carolina, Greenville, Orangeburg, Newberry and Georgetown, are being equipped with this nineteenth century wonder. This number is constantly increasing, showing the appreciation by these communities of the practical advantages of the system. Indeed, it is now well understood that the business enterprise and importance of a community is to a great extent indicated by the making its exit just under the skin at | size of the telephone exchange it supports, and that a town of any considerable size, without a telephone exchange, is decidedly "slow" and behind the age.

A DESTRUCTIVE TORNADO.

It Sweeps on in its Terrible Might and Levels Everything in its Path.

WILMINGTON, April 24.—Advices from Brunswick and Pender counties in this State, received to-day, gives the particulars of a terrible tornado that occurred Saturday afternoon, which caused great destruction. Commencing on Green Swamp, in Brunswick county and extending a width of 200 yards it traveled across the W., C. & A. R. R., in a northerly direction, and across the Cape Fear River into Pender county, felling everything in its track and mak-ing a perfect lane through the woods and fields. One church, two saw mills, several dwellings and a large number of other buildings were destroyed. One child was killed and two adults are known to be seriously injured.

CHARLESTON, April 24.—The jury in the case of the Mayesville election managers, who were out since Friday, failed to agree and were discharged and a mistrial ordered. Judge Bond said he regretted the failure to find a verdict of some kind as it involved the expense to the defendants and the government of a new trial.
