The negroes—the bulk of them, certainly—believe that there has been no small-pox in the city, that the prevail-ing disease is simply measles, that it is given to the blacks by inoculating them with poison under the name of vaccination, and that the whole thing is done for the purpose of getting rid of a surplus colored population. In consequence of this belief, they refuse to be vaccinated; when taken with the disease they hide themselves, and then friends flock about them and protect them.

The authorities are interested by every consideration in protecting the col-ored people from this disease that threatens to decimate them. There is in all this distrust and fear no ugly feeling. It is simply the cre-duitty of the negro and his mistrustful nature. Nothing that we can write will remove the fears that have been created, and we prinpt them simply that the Northern people can have some idea at least of the difficulty and delicacy presented in the solution of this race problem, even to those who approach it in the largest sense of liberality and friendliness.

General Conference of the Methodist

Episcopal Church South for 1882. The ninth quadrennial session of the deneral Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church South will convene in Nashville, Tenn., May 3, being the first Wednesday in May, 1882.

At the General Conference held in the city of New York, May, 1884, then representing the whole Methodist Episcopal Church in the United States, the church was divided into two separate ecclesiastical bodies, on "a plan of sep-aration" agreed upon by the General Conference. The occasion of the separation grew out of the deposition of Bishop James O. Andrew, D. D., from the Episcopal effice on account of his connection with slavery.

A line of division was agreed on, and the great Methodist family parted North and South. The Southern division held a convention in the city of Louisville, Ky., in 1845, and proceeded to organize an independent ecclesiastical body, under the name and title of "The Methodist Episcopal Church

The first General Conference of the Southern Church was held in the city of Petersburg, Va., May, 1846. The session was held in the old Union Street Methodist Church, near Jarratt's Hotel, now occupied by a congregation of colored Methodists. At that first General Conference Bishops Soule and Andrew -the two bishops who adhered to Southern Methodism-presided. The conference was composed of 97 clerical delegates from 15 annual conferences in the Southern States.

But few of the men are now living who were members of the General Conference of 1846. The great pulpit orator, Rev. Henry Bascom, of Kentucky, and that wonderful man, the Rev. Lovick Pierce, D. D., of Georgia, together with such men as the Rev. Wm. Capers, D. D., of South Carolina; Rev ALP Green, D D, of Tennessee; Rev Hezekiah G. Leigh, D D, of North Carolina, and many others of kindred ability, now no more, were members of that

At that conference the Rev. Robt. Paine, DD, then president of La Grange College, in West Tennessee, and the Rev Wm Capers, D D, of the South Carolina Conference, were elected additional bishops in the Southern church. Bishop Paine is still living. Bishop

Capers is dead. There has been a wonderful growth of Southern Methodism since that day, now thirty-six years ago. Then there were but fifteen annual conferences in Southern Methodism; now there are thirty-nine conferences. Then less than 2,000 traveling preachers or regular pas-tors; now 6,804. Then but 350,000 church members, 150,000 of whom were negroes; now about 900,000 white mem-

The ordination of the bishops elect takes place on Sunday following the election. It is not improbable that Virginia, Georgia, Maryland, Missouri and Louisiana or Kentucky, possibly both, will be represented in the new bishops. This is conjecture from current opinion.

In the general conference all the great connectional interests of the church pass in review, such as the missionary work, the Sunday school cause, publishing interests, education, the administration of the bishops, conference boundaries and the formation of new conferences, etc. The general conference is the only legislative body in the Methodist Church, and is at the same time the highest appellate court of the church. The sessions usually last for about three weeks, sometimes longer.

During the change of life no Female should be without it. It quiets the Nervous system and gives rest, comfort, and nature's sweet sleep.

SAMARITAN NERVINE

Cures Alcoholism, Drunkenness and the habit of Oplum Eating. These degrading habits are by far the worst evils that have ever befallen suffering humanity. Thousands die annually from these noxious drugs. The drunkard drinks liquor not because he likes it, but for the pleasure of drinking and treating his friends, little thinking that he s on his road to ruin. Like the Opium Eater, he first uses the drug in small quantities as a harmless antidote. The soothing influence of the drug takes strong hold upon its victim, leading him on to his own destruction. The habits of Opium Eating and Liquor Drinking are precisely what eating is to alimentiveness, as over eating first inflames the stomach which redoubles its crayings. flames the stomach, which redoubles its cravings until it paralyzes both the stomach and appetite. So every drink of liquor or dose of optum, instead of satisfying, only adds to its fierce fires, until it consumes the vital force and then itself. Like the glu tonous tape-worm, it cries "Give, give, give!" but never enough until its own rapacity devours itself. Samarlian Nervine gives instant relief in and mind to a healthy condition.
