ENTERED AT THE POST-OFFICE AT CHARLOTTE, C., AS SECOND-CLASS MATTER.

SUNDAY, MAY 14, 1882. Mr. and Mrs. Scoville have satisfactorily arranged the trouble between them and are living together again.

The indications are that Oliver H. Dockery will be the Republican candidate for Congressman at large from this State.

The coils are gathering around the Malley boys now on trial at New Haven, Conn., for the murder of Jennie Parnell is reported to be under the protection of the police, having received a number of letters scene the Phœnix Park association telling him that he is a marked man.

Mrs. Mason, wife of Sergeant Mason, called on the President last Wednesday to intercede for her husband. He assured her that the petitions in his behalf would shortly be laid before Congress. The impression at Washington is that his sentence will be mitigated. Joseph T. Addicks, of Washington, D.

C., who has brought suit for divorce against Helen L. Addicks, alleges in his bill that his wife treated him with great cruelty, deluging him with keresene oil, throwing dishes at his head, beating him for staying out late at night, and on one occasion locking him up.

The Indianapolis Sentinel fires this shot at Congressman Calkins: "Congressman Calkins proposed yesterday in the House of Representatives to fit out another Polar expedition. It might be a good plan to send Mr. Calkins along with the next expedition. A few months' tramp around in the snow and ice and diet of dog and spoiled fish might cool the gentleman off."

Mark Twain is a native of Hannibal, Missouri. When the war between the States broke out, he quit piloting on the Mississippi and enlisted under General Price, in the Confederate service as a three month's volunteer. At the expiration of his time he went to Nevada, where he drifted into journalism, and began to show the humor which has since made him famous and rich.

Philadelphia Record: For the five places on the Republican State ticket there are five lawyers, and not much law at that. Farmer Butler's nomination for Congressman at large would have given a little pleasing variety to this class monotony, but he was bowled off the ticket to make room for a law. yer. However, what chance would an honest farmer have on a ticket with four lawyers?

NOT COERCION ENOUGH.

Sir William Harcourt has introduced a bill in the House of Commons for more rigorous measures in Ireland, in consequence of the Phœnix Park assassinations. He believes that the trouble arises from the existence of secret societies, and proposes by severe legislation to extirpate all such. The bill he proposes abolishes trial by jury, and substitutes a court of three judges, who will pass upon cases of the kind complained of, but all three of whom must agree to find a verdict, with the right of appeal to the Supreme Court. The bill also gives power to search for concealed weapons, &c., or letters or documents, and gives power to enter houses at any hour on a warrant by the lordlieutenant, power to arrest peofound prowling about at night who cannot give satifactory account of themselves, or strangers whom they think suspicious characters. Public meetings and papers containing inflammatory matter may be suppressed, and additional police appointed as occasion may require, extra compensation for whom will be provided and paid for at the cost of the districts where they are employed. The bill is limited in its operation to three years.

It is not certain that any measures of this kind will pass in view of the general abhorrence expressed by the Irish people at the assassination of Lord Cavendish and Secretary Burke, although there may be some additional powers given to the representatives of the government in Ireland.

They have tried the policy of coer-They had signified the intention of adopting in its stead the policy of conciliation and concession. This should be tried before resorting to measures suggested not by statesmanship, but by

What the Irish people ask fair play and treatment that will make living in the land they were born in tolerable. An treatment that ounce of conciliation will prove to be worth tons of such coercive measures as Sir William Harcourt proposes.

ROOM FOR THIS YOUNG MAN. The Industrial South, published at Richmond, Va. in an editorial addressed to young men, calls attention to the needs of the South for practical young men of mechanical skill, and urges them to devote themselves to mechani-cal pursuits. We clip the following which has marrow in it: "It is not long since millions of men, aided by all the enginery of destruction, were engaged four years in obliterating values in the South. They worked with a will, and made a gaping void where abundance had stood. The great need of the South now is for volunteers to aid in filling that vast and empty chasm. We have no use for drones or non-producers. We can get along well enough with less than half the present number of professional men. We can manage without "a store" at every cross-roads the use of this board for just 12 months. as a centre of idleness and dissipation We can turn over to the women and to the old and infirm, many employments the old and infirm, many employments atruck the board let them go on and beautify and adorn the city. We can only deprecate the fact that there is an ordinance in the city charter that gives patrenage now squandered among a them power to inflict an injury which thousand newspapers were concentration will remain when the issue involved is ted upon a hundred. We could live dead—an ordinance at war with the without bar-rooms and billiard rooms without bar-rooms and billiard rooms tion and in harmony with the dread and faro-banks. We can deny ourselves edicts of the Roman Senate in the petthe professional politician and office riod of its decline. A time may come seeker. We could console ourselves for the loss of the young man about town the society man, the fancy man, and the hole train of jeuneses dores. DEVELOPING THE WEST. The progress on the Western North Carolina Railroad is beginning to yield its fruits in the development of that section. An editorial in a recent issue of the New York Times states that a number of New York capitalists have acquired possession of the valuable copper mining interests at Hiawassa, near Ducktown, Cherokee county. The property embraces about 3,000 acres. There is a local railroad and about 120 houses for operatives and smelting works on the land. The ores found on this property are said to be of a very superior quality and have been worked in past years with profit in the old way, and the product hauled forty miles over the mountains to Cleaveland, Tenn.,

the junction of the Rome and Dalton, and East Tennessee and Virginia railroads. The present managers will erect modern machinery and go extensively into mining with regular system. It is understood that they have in conjunction with foreign capitalists arranged with the Richmond and Danville Terminal Company for the immediate completion of the Ducktown branch of the Western road. The contract with the State gives the company until 1885 to complete the work, but the capitalists interested in these mines are anxious for a speedier completion to enable them to expedite the operations which they have in contemplation. They further agree to co-operate with the Terminal company in building an extension of the road from Ducktown to Cleaveland, Tenn., which would make connection with the Rome and Dalton and East Tennessee and Virginia railroads and make the Ducktown branch a part of the great

This is but the beginning of the development of the vast resources, mineral and other kinds that abound in that section, and which by the completion of the Western road and its branches will be brought into the market and be made available. There is a bright future dawning for Western North Carolina.

Amos Horn Acquitted.

The trial of Amos Horn for the murder of Burt, a negro who had attempted to rape a little six-year-old child of Horn, which has occupied several days of Cleaveland court, at Shelby, this on the streets in an intoxicated condiweek, was concluded last Friday, and a verdict was rendered of "not guilty," after the jury had been out only a half hour. Burt was a son of Amos Horn, and had attempted to rape Amos' little child. Amos tied Burt to a tree and whipped him for an hour. Burt never seemed to be well after the whipping, and died a short time thereafter. A number of witnesses testified, some giving their opinion that Burt died from the effects of the whipping, and others that he died from natural causes. Dr. McBrayer testified that there was a great deal of typhoid fever in that neighborhood, and the wife of Horn and several other witnesses swore that the boy had been sick and died of typhoid fever. Amos admitted having given the boy a beating; gave him 30 lashes with a wagon whip, but did not intend to inflict bodily harm. The physicians gave their opinion as medical experts that death would have resulted in a shorter time than six weeks, the space which elapsed between the beating and the death of the boy, had the injuries inflicted by the whipping been of sufficient severity as to cause death

On the announcement of the verdict, Judge Gudger dismissed Horn from

The Sidewalk on East Trade Street.

To the Editor of The Observer.

Through your paper I would like to ask the mayor of our city whether he thinks the city is just now able to pay the damages inflicted on property-holders on East Trade street. The board of aldermen may have special privileges delegated to them by the Legislature or by city ordinances, but is it at all times expedient to use these rights. "Make haste slowly," is an aphorism which comes down to us from the Romans, and although this sentiment may be shrouded with the mold of antiquity, it still has a beauty and force that both individuals and corporations might do well to heed. I should be the last one to impugn the motives of this honorable board or charge them with malice or any sinister motives, but at the same time we think cion, and it has proved to be ineffective. It is perfectly legitimate to inquire whence has arisen the stern necessity of piling up dirt before business houses from 8 to 5 feet deep.

Have the people suddenly grown so fat that the grade must be changed in order to relieve the extra duty imposed on their rebellious calves? Merciful and tender-hearted board! The world perhaps will never know what tears of sympathy you have shed in behalf of the aforesaid calves. But have they proposed to pay damages? Not a dime. They propose to bestow a value (as they think) upon the public at the expense of a few. And who are these few? Men who have earned for their families a small competency by the sweat of their brows. Let us look at this matter in a practical way: Is not the grade steeper from College street to the Square than from the Railroad crossing to College street. Has not the railroad interfered with the natural grade on East Trade street. Furthermore, has it never occurred to the board that the weight of authority (legal) rather favors the cutting down of the higher part of the street, than filing up below. Commence at the Square and cut down the sidewalk from 3 to 5 feet, and then you will have a uniform grade from the Railroad crossing to the Public Square. The merchants along this street would find t rather inconvenient to get into their houses by step-ladders and they would hardly submit to it. Much less ought the merchants on East Trade street submit to having dirt piled before their But this is not written to excite the sympathy of a single member of the senate Not in Session -- The National Bank Charter Question Comes to the Front in the House, but is Laid Over. WASHINGTON May 14.-House-The session of the House to-day was opened with prayer by Rabbi Jacob Voorsaw, Jr., of Houston, Texas.

Page, of California, chairman of the committee on commerce, reported the river and harbor bill, which was ordered printed and recommitted, Robinson, of Massachusetts, reserving all points of order therein Dingley, of Maine, asked leave to report from the committee on banking and currency a bill to suspend the issue of silver certificates and to limit the coinage of silver dollars to the requirements of the people. Holman, of Indiana objected.

Crapo, of Massachusetts, then called up for consideration the bill to enable national banking associations to extend their corporate existence. After the reading of the bill and provisions of the various propositions of amendment for printing in the record, Crapo, of Massachusetts, took the floor for the purpose of explaining the provisions of the bill and in presentation of the resolutions which demanded the action of Congress. After discussion the matter went ov-

On motion of Oates, of Alabama, a resolution was adopted directing the Sergeant at Arms to pay out of the contingent fund the funeral expenses of the late J. Q. Smith, contestant for a seat from the Fourth district of Alabama, the amount expended to be deducted from any allowance to be made for the expenses of his contest. Aldrich, of Illinois, introduced a bill tendering the thanks of Congress to Lt. J. W. Danenhower, and conferring up-on him the rank of lieut-commander.

Referred. Hewitt, of New York, introduced a bill amending the act recently passed repealing the discriminating duties on goods produced east of the Cape of Good Hope, so as to make it apply to such goods as may be in public stores or warehouses, or on ship board in port on January 1st, 1883. Referred. The House then, at 4:25 p. m. ad-

Wison Advance. On Tuesday morning, May 2nd, as a friend informs us, a most revolting murder took place in Pitt county, eight miles below Greene. The particulars of the murder are in brief that there was a long-standing feud between two brothers, William and Henry Hattock, the cause of which we are not informed. On Monday Henry Hattock was in Greenville and was seen after eleven o'clock at night tion, and Tuesday morning about sunrise he went to his brother's house. He was met at the door by his brother's wife, (Mr. Wm. Hattock being absent attending to his duties on the farm) and immediately knocked her down and began beating her. The children, attracted by her cries, ran to her rescue, when he hurled them violently against the wall. At this juncture of affairs Mr. Wiliam Hattock came in and attempted to stop his brother in a hand to hand conflict without effect, and seeing that his uncle was beating both his father and mother, the little son, aged twelve years, raised his shot-gun, took deliberate aim, fired and killed his uncle. One of the shot took effect in his right temple and two in his neck. He only lived about an hour after being shot. A coroner's inquest was held and a verdict of justifiable homicide was rendered by Both the brothers were in good circumstances, and of respectable families, and the sad event has cast a gloom over both families and their friends.

Royal Etiquette.

The House of Guelph has never been noted for the delicacy of its sympathies, but in the face of such a tragedy as that of last Saturday it would be thought that even the stiffest etiquette would bow. It seems almost incredible, therefore, that on Tuesday, the day of Under-Secretary Burke's funeral, the Queen should have held a drawing-room reception, and that a second was held on Thursday, the day of Lord Frederick Cavendish's funeral. The announced reason was that the arrangements were too far advanced to permit the postponement of the drawing-rooms. Yet, if some petty princeling in its cradle had passed peacefully away there would have been issued an extra edition of the Gazette, in heavy mourning rules, postponing all court festivities, even though it did not reach the invited guests until they presented themselves at Buckingham Palace gates.

In a Nutshell.

The Greenville, S. C., News hits the nail on the head in the following, which we clip and endorse:

The Daily News is really anti-Bourbon to the core. It believes in the everlasting burial of all impracticable ideas however hallowed by time and tradition. But what slang calls "liberalism" and "independentism," is really abandonment of all principle for apparent material or political gain. There is a middle ground between Toombs, the political ghost and Mahone, the political jackal, and on that ground the young Democracy will camp and con-

Its Ears Stick Out.

This wretched, miserable, weatherbeaten, dilapidated old party, which is composed of officeholders, negroes and a few highly respectable, non-officeholding white men who ought to know better, has called itself by turn "Republican," "Old Whig," (shades of Henry Clay!), "Independent," "Anti-Prohibition," "Liberal," and what not; and failing to fool anybody with any of these names, has now come over and stolen the name of its opponents, only qualifying it with "Anti-Bourbon." Liver, Kidney and Bright's Disease. A medicine that destroys the germ or cause of Bright's Disease, Dial etes, Kidney and Liver Com-plaints, and has power to root them out of the sys-tem, is above all price. Such a medicine is Hop Bitters, and positive proof of this can be found by one trial, or by asking your neighbors, who have been cured by it.

A Big Swindle.

The public are constantly being inveigled into taking a substitute or being deceived into buying a fraud, for the reason that dealers can buy the counterfeits at $5 per dozen, or 42 cents per bottle, and sell it to the consumers at $1-making an enormous profit, which is the only object in trying to sell a preparation in imitation of, or substitute for Simmons Liver Regulator. Nothing is known about the imitations-they are made by adventurers, knowing nothing of medicines or drugs. Buy only the genuine, it being recommended by the greatest and most reliable people.
