BUSINESS NOTICES.

Depend more on the regularity of her menstrual functions than on any of all causes combined. An actual or a "living death" is the inevitable result of derangement of a function which makes woman what she is in every respect, and especially in her mental and bodily constitution.

HOME CHIPLETS.

Get your tickets for the 20th hop, young man. Go to hear Dr. Jones lecture to-night on the "Boys in Gray." The firemen are all notified to meet to-night at 8 o'clock, at the Pioneer hall.

The committee having in charge arrangements for the celebration, are requested to meet this morning at the office of Maj. W. W. Flemming, at 9 o'clock. W. LeRoy Springs, of Philadelphia, who has been spending a few days with his friends in Charlotte, leaves for home this morning.

The cold weather of the past two days has been the subject of much talk and lots of grumbling. Sunday night the thermometer fell to 43 degrees and there was a slight frost. If Mr. A. A. Lum reads this paper he will strike out for the postoffice as soon as reading this paragraph.

Yesterday the city began to put on its dress for the 20th. Flags were run up to mast heads to see how they would look and some of the stores were loyally decorated. Right. Keep it up and get at it warmer each day.

Rev. Walter Moore, a prominent young divine, and a former Charlotte boy, preached to a very large congregation in the Second Presbyterian church last Sunday morning, and in the evening he occupied Dr. Miller's pulpit at the First church.

The 20th is coming on apace, and the city authorities are earnestly besought to have the streets cleared of the many obstructions that may now be seen in the way of piles of rock, brick, lumber, etc. We hope they see the importance of this suggestion. Dr. Jones' Lecture.

At the opera house to-night, Dr. Jones will deliver his lecture on the "Boys in Gray, or the Confederate Soldier as I knew him." This is a treat that should be taken in by all of our people.

Big Strike of Copper. A vein of copper was struck last Thursday at the Baltimore and North Carolina Mine, ranging from a foot to two feet in thickness of nearly pure copper ore. The shaft is 115 feet deep, at which depth the vein has been tapped and measures as above stated.

Marshals for the 20th. The following have been selected as marshals for the 20th May celebration: Dr. Jos. Graham, chief; E. D. Latta, Paul Barringer, S. H. Hilton, Jas. Pharr, A. L. Youngs, R. M. Miller, Jr., W. C. Maxwell, Geo. H. Brockenbrough, Latta C. Johnston, LeRoy Davidson.

Change of Schedule on W. N. C. R. R. This morning a change of schedule goes into effect on the Western North Carolina Railroad. Trains will hereafter leave Salisbury at 11:45 o'clock in the evening; arrive at Asheville at 9 in the morning and at Warm Springs at 1 that evening. Trains from Warm Springs and Asheville will arrive at Salisbury at 3 a. m.

Sermon to the Riflemen. The Second Presbyterian church was well filled last Sunday night to hear the annual sermon to the Hornets' Nest Riflemen, which was preached by the chaplain of the company and pastor of the church, Rev. N. M. Woods. The company was represented in almost its full number, dressed in full uniform and with side arms.

Personal Items. -David Vance has recently become connected with The Day, a first-rate Baltimore daily and the paper that succeeded Hazelton's Times. Dave is giving the Baltimoreans some spicy locals and his worth as a writer will soon be appreciated by the people of that city. We are glad to hear of his connection with The Day and wish him big success.

Latta's Prize. The trumpet offered as a prize to the successful fire company, on the 20th of May, by E. D. Latta & Brother, has arrived, and has been the object of much admiration, as it should be. The trumpet is placed in a pretty case of velvet, silk and satin, but pretty as this is, it is nothing to compare in beauty with the trumpet itself. Of pure silver, tastefully chased, with mouthpiece and bell of frosted gold, it is a prize that the lucky company which wins may well be proud of.

A STAB IN THE HEART.

SAVAGELY MURDERED ON HIS OWN THRESHOLD. A Tragedy Growing Out of a Wife's Unfaithfulness-The Arrest of the Murderer and the Confession. The body of Mose Rendleman, a colored man who has been known in this city for a number of years, as a steady, going, industrious blacksmith, was found lying in a pool of his own blood in his yard, about twenty steps from his house, on the lot of Mr. Jas. Palmer, near the old fair grounds, last Sunday morning.

He was lying face downward and a great gaping wound in his left breast showed where the knife had done its deadly work. Information was at once given to Chief of Police Mc-Ninch, and after viewing the body and the surroundings he set to work immediately to hunt down the murderer. Jim Pethel, colored, furnished the first link in the chain of evidence which resulted in the detection and capture of the guilty party. Pethel knew of the intimate relations between one Phoenix Wilson and Vina, the wife of the murdered man, and told of the animosity and hatred that existed between the two men, and also of a fight which they had had several weeks ago.

This gave the officers a trace and Constable Jno S. Means, accompanied by Pethel, went to Wilson's house, where they arrived just in time to capture him as he was telling his wife good-bye and preparing to say good-bye to this country. After securing Wilson, a search of the house was made and his pants and coat, both bloody, were found concealed among some bed clothes. The prisoner and Vina, the wife of the deceased, were brought before Chief Mc-Ninch for a preliminary hearing.

Wilson was examined, but denied any knowledge of the crime and swore that he had not been to the house of the deceased for over a week. When Vina testified her first words pronounced Wilson's doom. He was at her house Saturday night, she said, and while there, her husband Mose came in. On seeing Wilson, Mose asked him what he was doing there, to which Wilson made some common place reply. The men then began to fight, when she pushed them out of the door and closed it on them. She then went to bed without paying any further attention to them, and did not know how the fight ended until next morning, when the crowd around the door awoke her.

Wilson's wife said that Sunday morning her husband appeared to be greatly troubled about something, and while she was questioning him about the cause of it, some one came in and said to Wilson: "They say that you killed Mose Rendleman last night." Wilson broke out crying, and evading his wife's questions, was just about to leave as Officer Means entered to arrest him. Several other witnesses were examined, but Captain Mc-Ninch thought the evidence was already so plain against Wilson and Vina that he committed them to jail without bail.

Coroner Alexander had been sent for in the meantime and after empanelling a jury and viewing the remains, adjourned the inquest over until yesterday morning. He went to the premises of Wilson in the evening again, with the jury, to make a search for the knife, which they finally found buried in the ground under a rose bush.

There was a great throng around the coroner's office all morning, while the examination of witnesses was going on. The prisoners were brought from jail and Wilson was put upon the stand. The coroner explained to him that he need give no evidence whatever and would not be required to tell anything that he did not want to. He denied all knowledge of the affair at first, but when the coroner drew a long, heavy knife from the table drawer and held it up before the eyes of Wilson, a change came into his face and he waited for a full minute before he replied to the question if he knew that knife: "Yes, sir." The prisoner had completely broken down. The sight of the knife, which he supposed to be safely hidden under a bush in his yard, unmanned him and he made a clean breast of the affair. He told how he had made the knife for the deliberate purpose of killing Mose. He was a workman at Wilkes' foundry and had made one knife which he broke. He then got a large file and ground it down sharp on each side and had another workman of the shop to put a copper-handle to it. Saturday night he was in Mose's house with Vina, when her husband knocked at the door and came in. Mose knocked him down and then Vina told them to get out of the house. They went out of the door fighting. Mose went out first and as he stepped down Wilson raised his knife aloft and let it descend with such force as to drive it up to the handle in Rendleman's body. He pulled the knife out and ran off, Rendleman following about twenty steps before falling.

The knife was about nine inches long and would have gone entirely through the body of an ordinary man. The blow was struck downward, the knife entering just above the left nipple cutting a rib in two and passing through the heart and liver. Viney Rendleman and about a dozen witnesses were examined in regard to the difficulty between Mose and the prisoner several weeks since, but this was done by the coroner merely to get all the evidence in the case as complete as possible and have it sent to the Superior court in good shape. At the close of the examination the jury had all decided upon their verdict, which was that Rendleman came to his death at the hands of Wilson and that Vina, Rendleman's wife, was accessory to the crime. The prisoners were remanded to jail, where they will remain until brought to the court house.

The murder occurred late Saturday night. It was early in the morning when the body was found, and within two hours afterwards the guilty parties had been arrested, tried and placed in jail and the coroner was holding the inquest. It speaks well for the efficiency of our police that the authors of such a savage murder were so promptly apprehended and placed in jail. The murdered man came to this place about ten years ago from Concord, and has been known as a worthy, industrious negro Sunday afternoon his body was buried in the colored cemetery, adjoining Fairwood, and never a larger funeral train was seen in Charlotte. The vicinity of the cemetery was literally thronged with colored people who had come in from the country for miles around. Their sympathy all went for the dead man.

Lecture to Our Jewish Citizens.

Next Sunday at the First Presbyterian church the Rev. Dr. Miller will deliver a lecture for and to the Jewish fellow-citizens of Charlotte. Dr. Miller has often before lectured to the "Scattered Nation," and is quite a favorite with them, as he is with all others. Endowed with great gifts of head and heart, a deep thinker and an eloquent deliverer, he is always sure to win the hearts of his hearers, whether Jews or Gentiles.

Interior Court. Yesterday morning the Interior Court for Mecklenburg county was opened in the court house, with Judge R. P. Waring presiding. The grand jury as empaneled was composed of the following names: J. M. Kirkpatrick, foreman; W. A. Brown, J. S. Summerville, M. M. Wolfe, Samuel Rankin, C. L. Gibson, E. H. Williams, C. C. Sing, E. W. Alexander, W. J. Alexander, J. B. Grier, H. W. Sossamon, Chas. P. Knox and T. P. P. Yon.

Only two cases were disposed of. In his tussle with the State versus himself, for larceny, Burwell Johnston, the colored hotel keeper came out the victor. He was acquitted and retired outside to receive the plaudits of his friends. Jas. Hornbarrier, for assault and battery, was found guilty. The docket is a heavy one and there is lots of work for the court to handle.

Bayard and his Escort---Where They Will be Quarters. The committee to receive and entertain Senator Bayard and his escort, after conferring with those of the citizens who wished to entertain some one of the party, have decided upon the following assignment: Senators Bayard, Ransom and Butler will be quartered at the Central Hotel. Senator Vance, with Mr. C. N. Vance, Senator Hampton and Gen. W. R. Cox, with Mr. J. H. Wilson. Gen. Scales with Dr. J. H. McAden. Hon. R. F. Armfield, with Mr. R. Y. McAden. Hon. J. H. Evans, with Mrs. Osborne. Hon. W. H. Forney, with Judge W. M. Ship. Hon. L. C. Latham, with Col. H. C. Jones.

Gov. T. J. Jarvis, with Col. J. L. Morehead. Hon. T. J. Mackey with H. Barnuch. Chief Justice Simpson, of South Carolina, with Gen. Jno. A. Young. Others of the distinguished guests are yet to be assigned. Classis of the German Reformed Church. The North Carolina Classis of the (German) Reformed Church, met in annual session in Mt. Zion church, near China Grove, in Rowan county, on Wednesday, May 10th, and continued in session from day to day until Saturday night. There was a pretty full attendance of the ministers and lay delegates. There was a large amount of business, pertaining to the welfare of the church, transacted, the object of home missions and church extension receiving particular attention. The proper spiritual care of the German immigrants coming into the State was discussed, and provision made to meet this call upon the church.

There was preaching every day during the session, and on Sunday a very large concourse of people assembled to attend the services. The Lutheran church, situated within a few hundred yards of Mt. Zion church, was tendered to the congregation, and accepted. Both churches were packed full of worshippers, and a large number outside who could not be accommodated. Rev. J. A. Foll, of Catawba College preached in the Lutheran church, which was said to be a very fine effort. Rev. Dr. G. Wm. Welker, of Guilford county, preached a very able sermon in the Reformed church in the morning, after which the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper was administered. In the afternoon the Rev. G. Dickie Garley, of the faculty of Catawba College, preached an impressive sermon on Christian Progress.

The people of Mt. Zion have just finished a new church, which is a splendid structure, and would be very creditable in any of the large towns of the State, and certainly speaks well for their christian zeal and liberality. We failed to get the time and place of the next meeting of the classis. Meeting of the Board of Aldermen. The Board of Aldermen met in regular session yesterday, with Mayor DeWolfe and Aldermen Scott, Miller, Long, Smith, Walker, Adams, Allison, Hutchison, Osborne and Schenk present.

The ordinance requiring the saloons to close at a certain hour every night, was suspended for next Thursday and Friday nights, and allows them to keep open all night if they wish to. This met opposition from Mayor DeWolfe who explained that if they were not allowed to keep open on ordinary occasions, it would be still further wrong for them to be permitted to keep open during such an occasion as the celebration will be. Mr. J. T. Anthony was before the board on the charge of violating the ordinance against erecting frame buildings in the fire district. It turned out to be a misunderstanding, and Mr. Anthony was excused.

Gen. R. D. Johnston appeared for Riterhoff and Barner, owners of the brick building on East Trade Street, and asked for an equitable adjustment of the damages resulting from the raising of the sidewalk in front of their house. The matter of Col. Johnston's boundary line on Fourth street was referred to a committee who will confer with Col. Johnston and adjust the matter satisfactorily. The books of the city clerk, treasurer and tax collector were examined, found correct and accepted.

An ordinance was passed requiring the railroad companies to replace all their wooden bridges and crossings on both ends of Trade, and on Fifth, Sixth, Seventh and Ninth streets, with stone. A resolution was adopted requiring the survey, locating and marking of streets west of Second and Mint. Petitions to grade Church from Trade to Seventh, and from E. D. Graham for a condemnation and pay for part of lot in South ward, were referred to the street committee. The mayor as chairman of a committee of three, was appointed to improve the condition of the guard house.

There are some rumors that a man, who is supposed to be a Jew, has been seen in the city, and that he is engaged in some business. It is said that he is a man of some means, and that he is engaged in some business. It is said that he is a man of some means, and that he is engaged in some business. It is said that he is a man of some means, and that he is engaged in some business.

A Big Swindle!

The public are constantly being inveigled into taking a substitute or being deceived into buying a fraud, for the reason that dealers can buy the counterfeits at 25 per dozen, or 42 cents per bottle, and sell it to the consumers at $1.10--making an enormous profit, which is the only object in trying to sell a preparation in imitation of, or substitute for Simmons' Liver Regulator. Nothing is known about the imitations--they are made by adventurers, knowing nothing of medicines or drugs. Buy only the genuine, it being recommended by the greatest and most reliable people. Take only that which is known to be good, made by J. H. Zettin & Co.
