WOMAN.

HER HEALTH AND LIFE

Depend more on the regularity of her menstrual functions than on any of her other organs. An actual or a "living death" is the inevitable result of derangement of a function which makes woman what she is in every respect, and especially in her mental and bodily constitution. Hence, immediate relief from such derangements is the only safeguard against wreck and ruin. In all cases of stoppage, delay, or other irregularity of the "course," Dr. J. B. Bland's Female Regulator is the only safe remedy. It acts by giving tone to the nervous center, improving the blood, and determining directly to the organs of menstruation. It is a scientific prescription, and the most intelligent physicians use it. Prepared by J. B. Bland, Atlanta, Ga. Price: Trial size, 75c; large size, $1.50. For sale by all druggists.

HOME CHIPLETS.

Visitors for the 20th are already arriving. Yesterday a great many strange faces were seen in the city and most of them have come to stay until after the celebration.

At dark yesterday, McSmith had sold 1,200 flags. Please be kind enough to go around town and count 'em, if you doubt the statement.

The pressure upon our columns this morning precludes the possibility of publishing the list of hotel arrivals and this will probably be the case until after the celebration.

Thursday next is Ascension Day. It is one of the holy days in the Catholic calendar and mass will be celebrated at the Catholic church in this city at seven o'clock on that morning.

The firemen of the city held a meeting last night, at the Pioneer hall, and completed all arrangements for the entertainment of the visiting companies. Their part of the programme is now finished up.

Passengers arriving on the Air-Line train yesterday morning, say that a very heavy hail storm was encountered along the line near Seneca, the night before. Cotton was cut down and some wheat fields beaten flat.

The many friends of Mr. John W. Miller, one of the prominent cotton buyers of the city, will hear with regret that he has decided to leave Charlotte next season. He is going to Norfolk, and will engage in the cotton brokerage and commission business.

It was late night before last when the list of marshals for the 20th celebration was put in type, and several names were skipped, the omission not being noticed in the proofs. The names of Messrs F. B. McDowell, C. N. Vance and M. C. Quinn should have appeared in the list.

A court cannot be carried on in the midst of such a babel as the hammerers on the iron stand-pipe make, and during the sitting of the Inferior Court, now in session, work on that important city enterprise is of necessity stopped.

Messrs. Alexander & Harris have offered a prize to be awarded to the second best company in the firm's contest, on the 20th. It is a large and elegantly finished silver pitcher and will make some fine company proud. It can be seen at their store.

Look out for blacklegs, made men and pickpockets, during the celebration. No large gathering is free from them, but while they may not be very thick here, this suggestion may prove to be worth something to somebody.

The Herodian wonder is the only attraction now in the way of a show, in the city. It is only the head and neck of a woman, but what is funny about it, the head is alive and can talk, laugh, blow out a match and do other things to astonish. It is on Trade street, next to E. M. Andrews, and is drawing big crowds.

The procession and the crowd will want clear streets on the 20th, and something has got to be done now pretty quickly. East Trade is blocked with rock piles and Tryon is encumbered every few hundred yards with brick, barrels, piles, etc. An appeal is earnestly made to the city fathers to clear the way and put the streets in neat order.

A Letter From Gov. Vance. THE OBSERVER yesterday received a letter from Governor Vance, in which, after speaking of some private matters, he says: "We leave here on next Thursday night, at 11:40 o'clock, with Bayard, Butler and Hampton, Ransom, Armfield, Cox, D. Ward, Seales, Evans, and others are coming." Load up the cannon, boys, and let's make her crack.

The Water Turned on. Yesterday evening the engine and pumps out at the reservoir, were put to work and the water was sent rushing through the mains along the streets of the city, for the first time. The hydrants on east Trade street were opened and the water gushed out in strong streams. To-day more force will be put on the pumps and all the hydrants in the city will be tested. There will be an abundance of water for all purposes during the celebration.

Davidson Commencement. The commencement at Davidson College takes place on the 15th and 16th of June. Col. Thomas Hardeman, of Macon, Georgia, is the commencement orator. The members of the Eumenean Society held a meeting on the 13th to elect orators and debaters for the medals. The representative of the debater's medal will be Mr. C. Frazer, of Decatur, Ga. Zebbie A. Morris, of Concord, N. C., will contest for the orator's medal, and Mr. C. S. Bratton, of Guthrieville, S. C., will talk for the declaimer's medal.

Up a Flag Pole 110 Feet. That was a daring climb made by one of the telegraph line men, yesterday evening, in going to the top of Latta's flag pole, which is one hundred and ten feet high and in two sections. The rope had become fastened in the pulley at the top and Latta's flag could not be raised until it was fixed. The only way to do this was to cut down the pole, or get a man to climb it. Hearing of the difficulty this man came forward and offered to climb the pole for a consideration of ten dollars. He put on his heel spikes and after several back downs, finally made his way to the top, arranged the rope and came down, and shortly thereafter Latta's immense flag was floating from the mast head. It was a bold climb and the upward progress of the nifty man was watched by large crowds of interested spectators.

A Lemon gets Squeezed at Last. Deputy Sheriff H. Pressler, of Union county, passed through the city yesterday morning on his way to Concord, having in charge a white man named C. H. Lemons, who has been wanted by the sheriff of Cabarrus for three or four years. Lemons got into a fight and used several years ago and was arrested, tried, but gave bail and was himself from going to jail. He jumped his bond the same day and nothing had been heard of him through all this long time until Monday, when he turned up in Union county. The deputy sheriff at once recognized him and took him in custody. Sheriff Slough, of Cabarrus, was very glad to see Lemons yesterday, after such a long absence and put him in the best room, with the best locks the jail afforded.

Fun with a Monkey. Jim McCool, of the Air-Line, who puts up at the Central, is the proud owner of a baboon, which he keeps at Tom Black's saloon, because it is up to too much devilment to be kept around a hotel, and Tom was about the only man who could be persuaded to undertake the job of caring for it in a fatherly manner. The monkey has been kept in the saloon secured by a chain and has been a local kind of a Jumbo for several weeks. He is a strapping big one and the bald spots on all of his knobs, where the fur has been worn off, add to his ugly appearance. Last Monday night the monkey slipped his chain and started out for a promenade around town. He first turned up at one of the hotels, where he bounded into the kitchen and scared the cook nearly to death, who ran out shouting at the top of his voice, and left the monkey to help himself to whatever he thought suited him. After picking up a roast chicken, the monkey left the kitchen and took charge of the hotel. By this time the uproar frightened the monkey and he slipped out and tried to find his way back home. He disappeared down an alley and nothing more was seen of him until an unearthly yell proceeding from one of the rooms in a building on Trade street attracted a fleet-footed crowd in that direction. On entering the passage they were met by a terrified lodger, in his night clothes, who frantically waved his hand in the direction of his room and shouted: "For God's sake, gentlemen, strike a light and see what the devil is in my bed." One of the bolder of the party struck a match and holding it to the crack in the door, peeped in and saw the monkey cosily fixed under the covers, with his head lying on the pillow. The monkey raised up on observing the intruders and as they entered to capture him he bounded through a broken window and escaped.

He had mistaken the window for the entrance to the saloon and crawling through the broken pane, he got in bed with the man to take a good night's sleep. His horrid breath, combined with his energetic movements in scratching the fleas, soon waked the man, who, on feeling around and placing his hand on the uncanny thing, gave one bounce out of the room and raised the house.

The monkey was afterwards captured and is now securely chained, and any other calls which he may have wished to make have been postponed indefinitely.

Work of the Interior Court. After the trial of the two cases reported in yesterday's OBSERVER, Solicitor Grier presented his docket, and by order of the court sixteen cases were disposed of without the intervention of the jury. The court opened yesterday morning with the trial of F. McClamore for trespass. Submitted and paid the costs.

J. L. Massey, for carrying concealed weapons, did the same. A case that will interest the country people was the trial of Jas. Payne, for a misdemeanor. Payne left his dumpcar on the railroad track at a crossing about five miles from the city, and when a countryman came driving along his horse became frightened at it and ran off. Payne was recognized to appear at the next term of the court.

F. H. Crawford and A. O. Crawford, the tramps, who in connection with a couple of women, raised such a racket at the farm of Mr. F. M. Ritch, near the city, sometime ago, were tried and given the full benefit of the law in a sentence of 12 months each to the State penitentiary. F. H. Crawford was also tried for carrying concealed weapons, but in this case judgment was suspended.

Levi Reed, two cases of larceny: found guilty on the first and submitted in the second. Sentenced to four months in the State penitentiary. Geo. Griffin, colored, carrying concealed weapons. Submitted and paid costs. J. S. Massey, carrying c. w. Submitted and paid costs. Ed Williams, assault and battery, required to give a bond of $100 for appearance at next term of the Superior court.

Austin Howerton, larceny. Bound over to Superior court in the sum of $500. Martin Orr, assault and battery. Submitted. Judgment not yet rendered. This ended yesterday's court. In our report of the proceedings yesterday, we should have mentioned that Justice R. P. Waring, chairman, opened the court, assisted by H. D. Stowe and S. H. Hilton, associate justices. Each grand juror was tested as to his legal qualifications and then received an elaborate charge from Justice Waring and were instructed in their duties.

Charlotte as a Navy-Yard. Notwithstanding the fact that Charlotte is nearly three hundred miles from the ocean, she once had a navy-yard in full blast. This fact deserves mention, not only as a matter of history, but as an idea that may help to solve the possibilities of the future. We boast justly of our Mecklenburg Declaration of Independence, oblivious of the fact that at a much later period in our history we had a flourishing navy-yard in full operation. We didn't have any ships that we could call our own, but we did have "rich argosies" in prospective, and, if the Southern Confederacy hadn't gone up the flume just when it did, there is no telling just what might have happened. These thoughts come to us unbidden, as we unroll a package of "memorandums" of monthly payments to hands employed in the Charlotte navy-yard for the month of July, in the year of grace 1863, which have been preserved for some reason at the United States mint in this city, and we record them because we want to go down on the pages of history with not a "single stripe erased or polluted, nor a single star obscured."

There are fierce brain storms that shatter a man's organization, his nerves shatter for relief, and neuralgia sometimes result. At such a time, if the relief could be found in Chamberlain's Colic and Cholera Pills, he would find perfect relief.

What Vance Sends Us.

A telegram was received by the committee of arrangements yesterday evening from Governor Z. B. Vance, stating that he had procured for use in Charlotte during the celebration, one hundred large United States flags. The committee had requested him to procure them and he applied to the Navy Department, but failed. He then got up a resolution and had it passed by both Houses, to furnish one hundred flags for decorating on the 20th. When Dick Tiddy read the telegram the boys had to hold him to keep him from rushing out into the street and sending up a hallelujah. The flags are already on the way.

The Lecture Last Night. A very good audience was at the opera house last night to hear Dr. Jones lecture on the Confederate soldier. The lecturer was chaplain of a Virginia regiment and followed the troops in the field from the beginning of the war to its close and being a man of versatile genius and a forcible orator, he is well qualified to give just such a talk as would delight his audience. His lecture was a splendid one. We give him a most cordial recommendation to the people of whatever place he may happen to visit and can assure them that they will be entertained in a high degree. Dr. Jones' talk is something out of the usual run of lectures.

Can't Get It. Diabetes, Bright's Disease, Kidney, Urinary or Liver Complaints cannot be contracted by you or your family if Hop Bitters are used, and if you will have any of these diseases Hop Bitters is your only medicine that will positively cure you. Don't forget this, and don't get some put up stuff that will only harm you.

A Big Swindle. The public are constantly being inveigled into taking a substitute or being deceived into buying a fraud, for the reason that dealers can buy counterfeiters at $5 per dozen, or $2 cents per bottle, and sell it to the consumers at $1—making an enormous profit, which is the only object in trying to sell a preparation in imitation of, or substitute for, the genuine. Nothing is known about the imitations—they are made by adventurers, knowing nothing of medicines or drugs. Buy only the genuine, it being recommended by all the best and most reliable people. Take only that which is known to be good, made by J. H. Zeilin & Co.
