RETURNS AT THE POST-OFFICE AT CHARLOTTE C., AS SHOOSED-CLASS MATTER.]

INDEPENDENT PARTIES. Independent parties only succeed when there is a demand for them. They are and must be the outgrowth of necessity. No ordinary state of affairs puts life into them, or keeps them alive, if life should be put into them. We have had from time to time spasmodic efforts in the South to organize what they call Independent movements, but they have never amounted to anything, and never will until there is more occasion for their existence than there is now. The Southern people, as a rule, are a thinking people; they do their own thinking, are not easily led into byways and tortuous paths, and have no weakness to follow after strange gods. They believe in principle, and do not readily drop the organizations which cary out, though they may not always fully carry out, those principles. And there is no people in the world which will sooner drop an organization which proves false to its duty or faithless to its promises.

Where is the need in the South for any new party, by whatever name it may be called, to take the place of the Democratic party? In what has the Democratic party failed? Has it not redeemed the South from a reign of corruption and political vandalism, the like of which was never seen on this continent before? Has it not battled as no party ever battled before for the redemption of the people, and against odds which at one time seemed a hopeless task to contend against?

Go back to the dark days that followed the so-called reconstruction when these States one and all were given over to the merciless pillage of a horde of political marauders, whose policy was proscription and whose mission was plunder, and remember the gallant contest the Democracy waged in those dark and eventful days; with the best men in the land politically disfranchised, and ostracised, thousands upon thou sands of them deprived of a vote or a voice in the direction of public affairs, while the ex-slaves that once cultivated their fields were clothed with all the prerogatives of law-makers, and adventurers in quest of plunder, lifted their potent voices in the conventions which named our rulers and said who they should be. They ruled as only men without principle and bent solely upon plunder would rule, regardless of law, and of the infamy which they were piling upon themselves. Democracy struggled; defeated came to the front again with more desperate resolve: defeated again mustered its men and renewed the attack with a neversay-die spirit, until it was crowned with victory and the power of the spoiler broken and vanished. Peace came to North Carolina, her people breathed the air of freemen again, the voice of discord was hushed, harmony reigned throughout the land, industry took a new start and progress soon became visible on all sides. And to-day as the result of Democratic ascendancy and wise Democratic rule, may be seen such evidences of prosperity and progress as were never seen within her boundaries before. And this may be said also of other Southern States.

And yet there are men, not many for the honor of our South land be it said, who would disturb this order of things who would war upon the Democracy in the interest of Radicalism, for that's what their movement means, that some sordid, petty ambition may be gratified. or some imaginary wrong avenged. Selfish to the core, they seek only self, and would see chaos reign if they could be the gainers by it. Independentism with them is simply the stepping stone to self promotion, to political eminence and power.

They stoop low to soar high, crawl through the slime to bask in the sun, and consort with the vile that they may lead where they are too haughty to follow.

This is the inspiration, the sole inspiration, of the so-called independent, liberal, anti-Bourbon movements which we hear of in the South to-day. There is not a man identified with them in the character of a promoter or leader, who is not either a disappointed office seeker, or one who has some selfish scheme to advance. In all their fulminations against the Democracy, they deal only in generalities and establish no charge to justify the revolution they would inaugurate. They fail to show wherein the Democratic party has proved recreant to its trust, or faithless to the people, but depend for their success upon appeals to the ignorant, whom they hope to delude by pretending to be their especial champions, and make supporters of them in the effort to climb ambition's ladder.

PASSED THE SENATE. The bill appropriating $50,000 to the erection of a United States building for a court room, rooms for United States officers and postoffice, at Greensboro, which passed the House some time ago, has also passed the Senate. Greensboro was no doubt rejoiced when this news reached her, and we congratulate her upon it. As this building when completed will add not a little to the appearance and importance of the town, the citizens should see that it be erected in some central, commanding location, where it will show to the best advantage. If the corner diagonally across from the court house, now occupied by venerable frame buildings, could be precured, it would be a capital location. We presume, however, this matter will be looked after, but we take a kindly interest in that little burg, and can't help saying something about it. Louisville Courier-Journal: England, a tariff for revenue only country, pays double and treble the wages paid in Germany, a country under a strictly protective tariff. No American protectionist has ever dared discuss this sub-ject. ## FROM WASHINGTON.

A BUNCH OF APPROPRIATIONS AND THE LAND BILL PASS THE SENATE.

The House Continues Amendments to the National Bank Charter Bill, which Finally Runs the Gauntlet and Passes by a Vote of 125 to 67, Followed by the Pension Deficiency.

WASHINGTON, May 19.—SENATE— Mr. Anthony reported favorably from the printing committee the joint resolution authorizing the printing and sale at cost price of a congressional directory and current numbers of the Congressional Record. Passed.

On motion of Conger, the Senate pro-ceeded to consider bills reported for public building. House bills for public buildings at points named, with amounts of appropriation stated, were passed. Louisville, Ky., $500,000; Hannibal, Mo., $750,000; Detroit, Mich., $600,000; Council Bluffs, Ia., $100,000. The House bill appropriating $200, 000 for a public building at Syracuse, N. Y., was a substitute for the Senate bill on that subject and passed. The Senate bill appropriating $75,000 for a building at Poughkeepsie, N. Y., also passed. The Lynchburg, Va, building bill was laid aside without prejudice, pending the controversy with the commit-

The House bill appropriating $200,000 $125,000 for a building at Galveston, Texas, and the Senate bill appropriating $100,000 for a building at La Crosse, Wis., were also passed. The aggregate of these appropriations during the morning hour was $1,975,000. The Senate bills authorizing the Texas & St. Louis Railroad Company to build bridges in Arkansas and to incorporate the Garfield Memorial Hospital, were passed. The 5 per cent. land bill then came up.

The offering and rejection of amendments alternated with motions to adjourn until finally Morgan moved to provide that none of the money to which any State shall become entitled under the act shall be retained by the United States on account of any direct tax remaining due or unpaid from any State to the United States under the act of August 1871. Adopted—yeas 34;

The bill then passed, yeas 23; nays

Adjourned to Monday. House.—Townsend, of Ohio, introduced a bill to establish a board of commissioners of inter-State commerce to the bureau of the Interior department. Referred.

The House then resumed the consideration of the bank charter extension bill, the pending question being on the amendment offered by Crapo, of Mass., as an independent section, as follows: That any national banking association now organized or hereafter organized desiring to withdraw its circulating notes upon deposit of lawful money with the Treasurer of the United States as provided in section 4 of the act of June 20, 1874, shall be required to give ninety days notice to the Secretary of the Treasury of its intention to deposit lawful money and withdraw its circulating notes, provided that not more than $5,000,000 of lawful money shall be deposited during any calendar month for this purpose; and provided further that the provisions of this section shall not apply to bonds called for redemption by the Secretary of the Treasury, but when bonds are called for redemption the banks holding such called bonds shall surrender them within 30 days after maturity of their call. After several ineffectual attempts to amend it Crapo's amendment was adopted

Crapo offered as an additional section an amendment providing that on deposit of bonds the association making the same shall be entitled to receive from the Comptroller of the Treasury circulating notes equal in amount to 90 per cent. of the current market value, not exceeding the par of United States bonds so transferred and delivered. It further provides that at no time shall the total amount of such notes issued exceed 90 per cent. of the amount actually paid in of capital stock and repeals section 5,171 and 5,176 Revised

Morrison, of Illinois, offered an amedment providing that Congress may at any time amend, alter or repeal this act and acts of which this is amendatory. Adopted. Many other amendments were offered in the course of the debate but none adopted except those above indicated. The main question was ordered and the bill passed as amended-yeas, 125;

The vote was as follows-yeas: Aldrich, Barr, Bayne, Beach, Belmont Bingham, Bliss, Briggs, Buck, Burrows, to lay his letter before the committee, of Michigan, Butterworth, Calkins, ii, Candier, Cannon, Carpenter Caswell, Chase, Covington, Crapo, Cullen, Davies, of Illinois, Dawes, Deering, Demott, Deuster, Dibble, Dngley,, Dunnell, Dwight, Ermentrout, Ellis-Evins, Farwell, of Iowa, Flower, Garrison, George, Godshalk, Grout, Guen, ther, Hall, Hammond, of New York, Hardenburgh, Harris, of Mass., Harris, of N. The Speaker laid before the House a communication from ex-sergeant-atarms Thompson, stating briefly the status of the case of Hallet Kilbourne vs J G Thompson, and asking that his communication be referred to the proper committee in order that such action may be taken by the House as the exigency of the case may require. Referred to the committee on the judiciary. Calkins, of Indiana, gave notice that he would call up to-morrow the contested election case of Mackey vs. O'Connor, and the House adjourned.

The "Old Log Cabin" Campaign.

We certainly thank Col. Chas. R Jones, of the CHARLOTTE OBSERVER, for the generous invitation to attend the 20th of May celebration as one of his guests during the occasion. We would be pleased indeed to meet the old editors mentioned by THE OBSER-VER, and with them form a sort of squad of honored ancients who took part in the memorable campaign of 1840. But circumstances not easily controlled, constrain us to decline the honor and pleasure proposed by the editor of THE OBSEVER. But we would not, however, lose so good an opportunity to express our hearty concurrence in the aims of those who have promoted and may take part in the celebration of that initiatory event which reresulted in the Independence of the North American colonies, and their subsequent freedom under the constitution of the United States. No other political event in the history of the world has been fraught with so many results directly promoting the freedom, prosperity and happiness of the people, whether of this country or Europe, than that. It was the dawning of a political millennium which embraced all classes of men in the blessings conferred, by extinguishing the "divine right of kings," and declaring all men "free and equal."

Infinite wisdom alone can measure the magnitude of an event like this, which in His kind Providence, first took form and shape in the goodly county of Mecklenburg, and where, also, it found some of its most intelligent, zealous and efficient advocates and defenders. It is worthy of commemoration as one of the most important transactions in human emancipation from tyranny and oppression, and we trust the time may never come when there shall be none to cherish the memory of it.

Mr. Shipherd After Being Discharged

for Contumacy Desires to be Heard. WASHINGTON, May 17 .- Mr. Jacob R. missed by the House committee on foreign affairs this morning because he refused to answer the questions asked him, has written a long explanatory letter to Mr. Williams, chairman of the committee, in which he expresses a willingness to furnish in effect all the evidence called for, although it may not be in the form proposed by the committee. He is very anxious to reply to Mr. Blaine, and also to clear up matters referred to by Senator Blair. He says that he has additional correspondence, including recently discovered letters from the President of the United States, which he is ready to submit to the committee, although he prudently refrains from expressing any opinion as to the value or pertinency of the testimony which he thus volunteers to give, all of which he leaves to the judgment of the committee. He also makes this promise: "In answering Mr. Blaine and in correcting Senator Blair I shall confine myself within the same limits as if addressing a court of judicature No limitation so narrow as this has been used by the committee heretofore. wait only to know whether I am to be heard at all."

and to advise him of its decision.
